EIGHTEENTH REPORT OF THE INSPECTORS OF PRISONS.

II.—NORTHERN AND EASTERN DISTRICT.

TO THE RIGHT HON. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE HOME DEPARTMENT.

Uffington, Stamford,

SIR, 13th September 1855.

I HAVE the honour to present the Eighteenth Annual Report of the Inspector of Prisons for the Northern and Eastern District.

During the year I have visited the several prisons reported upon,—some of them more than once,—and have been in communication with many of the Visiting Justices, with a view to introduce improvements either in the discipline or construction of the prisons under their superintendence.

I feel grateful to the Visiting Justices generally for the readiness with which they have acted upon any suggestions I have been able to make, and regret that in some instances their desire to introduce improvements has not been responded to by the Town Council, who have been unwilling to grant the funds necessary to carry out the proposed alterations.

Some of the prisoners continue to pass far too much time in bed,—a practice in every way most injurious. The prisons in which this system is permitted are generally those in which a large majority of the prisoners are associated throughout the day, without supervision or employment. Much valuable time for moral and industrial training is lost to the prisoners, and the establishment is deprived of the profit which should arise from useful labour or employment.

As compared with the preceding year, there has been a great decrease in the number of male prisoners committed. The number of females has increased. There has also been an increase in the number of debtors.

Where the prisoners are confined separately I have invariably found a decrease, more especially in the vagrant class.

The general health of the prisoners throughout the district appears to have been good. In many localities where diarrhœa and English cholera had been prevalent in the neighbourhood, the prison had been quite free from any epidemic. This immunity can only be ascribed to the attention which is paid to the ventilation and drainage, and to the diet of the prisoners.

The diet known as the official dietary has been adopted (though in some cases with slight alterations) in most of the prisons in this district; there are, however, a few prisons where all convicted prisoners, whether sentenced for two months or two years, receive the same quantity of food. The attention of the Visiting Justices has been called to this inconsistency, and I hope that diet tables, framed on the same principle as the official dietaries, proportioned to the periods for which the prisoners may be sentenced, and to their employment, will shortly be submitted for your approval.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your very obedient Servant,

HERBERT P. VOULES.

[Inspected 14th December 1852.]

NUMBER of prisoners in confinement:—

|---|---|
| Criminals | 75 |
| Debtors | 13 |
| | 88 |

All female prisoners are sent to the Town Gaol under a contract with the borough magistrates.

The number of commitments was 418 (63 below that of the preceding year. Of this number 28 only were from other counties.

The decrease was principally in the number of assaults, and offences against the Poor Laws. The facilities afforded for the disposal of stolen property in the town of Cambridge prevents any great decrease in the number of felonies.

The buildings were in good repair. Six more cells have been fitted for separate confinement for short periods, but have not yet been certified.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The daily cost per head for food was $2\frac{3}{4}d.$ The provisions were of good quality. Two prisoners complained that they had not sufficient food; but, on inquiry, I could see no reason to recommend any addition.

The general health of the prisoners was good; there had been no death, and no removal on account of illness during the year. Two prisoners were under medical treatment for trifling ailments on the day of inspection.

The usual daily and weekly services are performed by the chaplain. He also examines and instructs the prisoners in class, some, he states, "pay only a reluctant attention; but many "are evidently anxious to improve themselves, and the progress "made is as satisfactory as can be expected."

The number of punishments was 90. Of this number, one prisoner was punished 3 times, one 4 times, three 3 times, 11 twice, and 55 once. The ordinary punishments awarded by the governor were found sufficient to check misconduct without the intervention of a visiting justice. The chief offences were, "disobedience of orders," "defacing and injuring prison property," "refusing to work," "irreverent behaviour at chapel," and "practising deception in endeavouring to procure double rations."

Useful employment has been provided to a certain extent, but prisoners employed in the general work-room are still left without constant supervision, though I was happy to find some improvement in this respect. The clear profit on work done for sale last year was 2*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.* The estimated value of work done by prisoners was 168*l.* 17*s.* 3½*d.* The prisoners being principally agricultural labourers, and committed, in most ceass, for short periods only, it is difficult to provide them with profitable employment. The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 19*l.* 15*s.* 5*d.*

CAMBRIDGE.—TOWN GAOL.

[Inspected 13th December 1852.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals - - - | 35 | 10 | 45 |
| Debtors - - - | 1 | 1 | 2 |
| | | | 47 |

There was a decrease of one in the daily average number of prisoners as compared with the average of the preceding year. The number of commitments was 320, or 20 below the numbers committed in 1851 : this decrease has been principally in the more serious cases. On inquiry, I found that a great number from the class that usually furnish the prison population had emigrated ; this may in some measure account for the decrease ; but I am willing to believe that the introduction of the separate system into this prison has had a deterring effect. The alterations on the male side have been completed, and gas introduced into all the cells as recommended in my last Report. The buildings were in good repair, and the wards and cells clean and in good order.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were good and wholesome The daily cost for food was 3¼*d.*

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "very satisfactory." There had been no death, and no removal on medical grounds during the year. The surgeon considers that the prisoners "for the most part improve, and in many instances considerably so" during their confinement; in cases of long imprisonment, he recommends a little change in the diet, rather than any increase in the quantity.

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain, which were fully detailed in my last Report. He states:—

"The prisoners as a body are very anxious to receive instruction. Their progress in writing is far greater than their progress in reading; but as regards reading, their improvement is more rapid than might be expected from such a class of persons."

There is no regular schoolmaster, but one of the turnkeys continues to instruct the prisoners. He receives much assistance from the chaplain and Governor. In his last report to the magistrates, the chaplain says:—

"I have much pleasure in being able to bear testimony to the beneficial effects resulting from the separate system. Under its influence I have found the prisoners, almost without exception, both orderly and tractable; and, while they have gladly received the religious instruction I have endeavoured to impart to them in private, its fruits have been apparent in the propriety of their demeanour at all times during divine service."

"The prisoners have been uniformly anxious to enjoy the privilege of secular instruction. The more ignorant among them have displayed an ability and quickness of apprehension beyond their station in life; whereas those from whom more might have been expected have proved comparatively less intelligent."

The punishments awarded during the year were 24, which is much below the number in the preceding year. Misconduct was confined to a very few; principally neglect of work, or attempts to communicate.

The prisoner "John Newitts," acquitted on the plea of insanity of murdering his infant child in 1841, has been very troublesome again. The Governor in his report says:—

"His behaviour to me and the other officers of the prison has been most gross and outrageous; he sets all rules at defiance, and I fear I must call upon the magistrates to abridge some of the comforts he now enjoys, as the only means likely to subdue his violent and ungovernable temper."

The surgeon refers to his conduct as "frequently violent and abusive, and causing considerable trouble."

This prisoner complained that the Governor did all in his power to injure him. I inquired into the case, and cannot but think that the prisoner is not now insane. He is extremely irritable, and presumes on the leniency and consideration shown to him.

In addition to the labour on the treadwheel, and the several employments enumerated in my last Report, prisoners have been employed in making the alterations within the prison. The estimated value of the work done for the prison was 45*l.* The clear profit on work done for sale was 42*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* There is much difficulty in disposing of mats and other things made by prisoners, which prevents the extension of useful employment. The books and accounts were all properly entered up to the time of my visit. The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 18*l.* 12*s.* 4*d.* The provisions, fuel, and other stores are all supplied by contract.

The ventilation of the separate wing has been improved by throwing down the wall which divided the passages. I recommend, that the wall dividing the passages in the female prison should also be taken down; this may be done by prisoners at a very trifling expense. The contract with the county for the charge and maintenance in this prison of all female prisoners from the county gaol has now been two years in operation, and works well.

Number in confinement :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 27 | 1 | 28 |
| Sick - - | 1 | 0 | 1 |
| | | | 29 |

The average number during the year was 28.

The average in the preceding year 37½.

The number committed during the year was 219, which is 20 below that of the preceding year.

The buildings were in good repair. The ventilation improved.

The cells were clean, and altogether in better order than they were on the occasion of my former inspection.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. I examined the provisions and found them of good quality. The daily average cost of the food was 3¼*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "good."

There had been no death during the year.

The chaplain states:—

"The separate system as here enforced deters people from the commission of a certain class of offences. Notorious characters, who under the old system were continually in gaol, are now more careful in their conduct, fearing the consequences."

The turnkeys act as schoolmasters, instructing the prisoners in their cells twice a-day. The time with each prisoner varies according to the number under instruction. The chaplain says:—

"I have every reason to be satisfied with the way in which these duties are performed. In many cases the prisoners make satisfactory progress, and after their discharge, personally or by letter, frequently express their gratitude for the advantages afforded to them while in prison."

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be good. The number of punishments during the year was 42 ordinary prison punishments. Two prisoners effected their escape on the 17th November last. A special report of the circumstance was made to the Secretary of State by the magistrates. The Governor and one of the turnkeys were suspended from their office. The Governor was subsequently dismissed.

The prisoners are in separate confinement, but they are not all furnished with employment; a few were employed knitting stockings, mat making, and repairing the prison clothes. The treadwheel is only used to pump up the water for the prison. The clear profit on work done by prisoners for sale was 9*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*, and the estimated value of work done for the prison 10*l.*

The cells are still without any artificial light. Much valuable time, therefore, is lost, and the prisoners continue to pass too much time in bed. When I called attention to the subject, on the occasion of my former inspection, I was informed that it was under the consideration of the magistrates, and I had hoped to find that the gas-fittings which are already fixed in the corridors had been extended to the cells. The Act 2 & 3 Vict. c. 56, provides that all cells used for separate confinement shall be "lighted," as well as "warmed" and "ventilated." The cells are certainly not complete without some means of affording light in the winter.

WISBEACH.—COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 20th November 1852.]

|---|---|
| Males | 25 |
| Females | 7 |
| Total | 32 |

The daily average number was the same as the previous year, but there was a decrease of 43 in the number of commitments.

The buildings were in good repair ; the prison clean, and in good order throughout.

There has been no change in the diet, which the surgeon considers sufficient ; the provisions were of good quality ; the cost was 2½*d.* per head daily.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good ; no death had occurred during the year. There were 2 males and 1 female prisoner under treatment at the time of my visit, but there was nothing in either case to call for any special remark.

The late chaplain having resigned, he has been succeeded by the Rev. George Thompson, who visits the prisoners in their own cells, and keeps a record of each prisoner in the character book, as required by the rules. The Governor continues to afford instruction to the prisoners ; their progress is satisfactory.

The punishments awarded during the year were,—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 312 |
| Females | 12 |
| Total | 312 |

They were all for ordinary prison offences,—principally idleness, and attempting to communicate with other prisoners.

Some of the prisoners are still employed "sorting oats," but this employment is now generally confined to prisoners under summary conviction, or to the first portion of the imprisonment of those sentenced for long period. The prison clothing and shoes are now all made and repaired by the prisoners.

The estimated value of work done last year was 25*l.* 5*s.* 7*d.*

The books and accounts are properly kept, and all provisions and stores, except potatoes, are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 19*l.* 7*s.* 9¾*d.*

Here, as at Ely, much valuable time is lost, the cells not being provided with light. The gas, already laid on to the corridor, might be extended to the cells at a very trifling expense, and at least four hours daily for industrial training and improvement would be gained to the prisoners in the depth of winter.

|---|---|
| The number committed was,— | |
| Criminals | 951 |
| Debtors | 185 |
| Total | 1,136 |

Showing a decrease of 94 in the number of criminals, and an increase of 45 in the debtors.

The buildings were in good repair, the wards and cells clean and in order. There has been no alteration either in the building or in the discipline of the prison since my last inspection. The clothing and bedding are sufficient. The diet is the same as mentioned in my last Report. I am still of opinion that the quantity of meat is insufficient for prisoners sentenced for long periods. If a prisoner loses weight he receives extra diet, but the general diet of the prison should be sufficient without the aid of anything extra. Extra diet being issued in special cases only, under the direction of the medical officer should be confined to those who are sick or convalescent.

The daily cost per head for food was $3\frac{1}{2}d.$; the provisions were of good quality.

The prisoners generally improve in health; there were seven sick at the time of my visit. One death had occurred during the year, and one prisoner had been removed on medical grounds. The surgeon considers the ventilation and drainage of the prison "excellent." English cholera had been prevalent in the neighbourhood, but not in the prison.

The duties performed by the chaplain and schoolmaster have been already mentioned in my former Report. There has been no change in these duties, but a new schoolmaster has been appointed. The chaplain says, "The schoolmaster "has been recently appointed, and I trust, in time, will pro- "perly perform his duties." Of the schoolmistress, he says, "She is well qualified and gives me perfect satisfaction."

The number of punishments was greater than in the previous year, principally for irregularities while at labour and in the airing yards; there was one case of corporal punishment; the others were ordinary prison punishments, in number as follows:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 268 |
| Female - - - - - | 65 |
| Total - - - | 333 |

In addition to the treadwheel and breaking stones by task-work, the following employments are carried on within the prison:—Matmaking, weaving linen and hearth rugs, joiners, and coopers, smiths, tailors, shoemakers, picking oakum. The clear profit of work done for sale was 582*l.* 1*s.* 4½*d.* All the painters' and masons' work is also done by prisoners. The estimated value of work done for the prison was 486*l.* 18*s.* 7*d.* The workshops are lighted with gas, and the prisoners are employed, under the supervision of an officer, until 8 P.M.

The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 15*l.* 19*s.* 2*d.* All the provisions and stores are supplied by contract.

Since my last inspection, the Governor has retired, and is succeeded by his son, who has been for some years an officer of the prison.

The prisoner, J. H., under sentence of two years' imprisonment, referred to in my former Report as having made unfounded complaints against the Governor and surgeon, continued to threaten the officers, but when called upon by me to state any complaint he desired to make, he had nothing to say. He has since been discharged, but at a later period I found him in the City Gaol, at Manchester, under another sentence of two years' imprisonment, and using the same threats to the officers of Manchester prison: when called upon, he had no complaint to make. On inquiry, I find that he was formerly a convict on board the hulks. Another prisoner charge done of the officers with embezzlement. This case was fully investigated at the time, and I made a special Report on the subject to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State.

HUNTINGDONSHIRE.

HUNTINGDON PRISON AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Visited 20th September 1852.]

Number in confinement:—

| | Males | Fem. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 40 | 2 | 42 |
| Debtors | 1 | — | 1 |
| | | | 43 |

The daily average number was 61½; the average during the preceding year was 68.

There was a decrease of 60 in the number of commitments during the year; this decrease was in the number of summary convictions, particularly those under the Game Laws.

I found the buildings in good repair, and the prison clean and in good order throughout.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient; the daily cost per head for food was 3¼*d.*

Health.—The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "good."

There had been 9 cases of nervous debility during the first few months the separate system was adopted in this prison, which was attributed to the defective ventilation. This defect has now been remedied, and I found the ventilation and drainage very good at the time of my visit. There was one death during the year, a prisoner who died from constitutional disease. Of 281 male criminals committed, it was found 66 increased in weight, 195 decreased; with the remaining 20 there was no change.

Moral and Religious Instruction.—The usual daily and weekly services are performed by the chaplain, who also visits the prisoners frequently in their cells. There is no regularly appointed schoolmaster, but the warders, under the directions of the chaplain, instruct the prisoners in their cells; they do not appear to make much progress.

The chaplain says,—

"I have no hesitation in stating that in every case where a prisoner remains sufficient time in the prison, (say five or six months,) and there exists a disposition to profit by the opportunity, he may learn to read and write."

Labour and Employment.—Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work occasionally on the treadwheel and at crank labour, but they are generally employed in their own cells sorting corn (separating white and black oats). This employment has been introduced in consequence of the difficulty of finding profitable employment in an agricultural district. It is very monotonous and distasteful to the prisoners, who would much prefer the hard labour on the treadwheel; I do not find either here or in Wisbeach Prison (where it is also carried on) that any ill effects have arisen from the practice, while on the other hand it is represented to have a deterring effect. Some prisoners are also employed making and mending shoes and knitting stockings for the use of the prison, and in cleaning, whitewashing, and other prison occupations. I recommended that mat and sack making, &c. should be introduced, and that the well-conducted prisoners should from time to time be removed from sorting oats to some industrial employment; but the magistrates generally are averse to teaching the prisoners any trade or profitable labour.

The estimated value of work done for the prison last year was only 4*l.* 8*s.* The Governor stated in answer to my inquiries, that "more industrial employment could not be advantageously introduced without considerable expense;" and he adds, "the present system of employment seems to be of a decidedly deterring character."

Books, &c.—I examined the journals and prison books; they were properly kept and entered up to the time of my visit. The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 19*l.* 7*s.* 9¾*d.*

Observations.—The separate system which has been enforced in this prison from the month of May 1850 since the ventilation has been properly attended to has been carried out with much success. The principal difficulty appears to be the want of employment for prisoners in their cells, a large proportion being agricultural labourers, who are not easily taught the use of their fingers or any sedentary occupation. Sorting oats has therefore been introduced. The only thing that can be said for such employment is, that it is better than idleness, and that it enables the authorities to test the diligence of the prisoners. A very large proportion of the punishments awarded are for not performing the task assigned. The ordinary punishment for such offence is the stoppage of a portion of a meal. I find the number of recommittals to this prison has decreased by 79 since the separate system was introduced, the numbers being 126 in 1849 and 47 in 1852. This may, I think, in a great measure be attributed to the improved discipline. The Governor in his Report says:—

"The system of separate confinements under proper management cannot, I believe, be too highly appreciated, both in reference to its penal and moral results."

The chaplain says:—

"Our present system of discipline is decidedly a deterring system. In proof of this I may mention the reduction in the number of recommittals."

LANCASHIRE.

LANCASTER CASTLE.

[Visited 13th October 1852.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals - - - - | *3 | 58 | 61 |
| Debtors - - - - | 78 | 5 | 83 |
| | | | 144 |

The number committed during the year was, criminals 553; debtors, 587; showing a decrease of 26 in the number of criminals, and an increase of 36 on the debtors side.

The buildings were in good repair. No alterations have been made since my last inspection; but the Committee of county magistrates, in their Report, recommend that 48 additional separate cells (30 on the male and 18 on the female side) may be provided by alterations in the old cells, in order that all prisoners may be placed in separate confinement. This it is calculated may be done at a cost something less than 800*l.*

At present the Castle is not used as a house of correction for male prisoners, but it is proposed in future that all male prisoners from the hundred of Lonsdale, not under sentence from Lancaster assizes or sessions, may be sent here; and it is intended that the 30 separate cells above referred to may be occupied by these prisoners and by prisoners committed for trial.

The provisions were of good quality; the daily cost of food was 4*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good.

*One awaiting trial; two under sentence of transportation, who were removed to Wakefield on the 2d November.

There had been one death during the year—a poor woman who destroyed herself two days after her admission. She was committed to the prison for trial on a charge of felony, having been twice in the prison before. It was ascertained that she had been living in a constant state of drunkenness and dissipation. The jury returned a verdict of temporary insanity.

Two prisoners were liberated on medical grounds.

The Rev. J. Rowley, now nearly 80 years of age, continues to perform his duties as chaplain with his accustomed zeal and regularity, in addition to the daily services in the chapel. He visits prisoners in their cells, and also visits the schools and the sick daily. He sees and admonishes all prisoners on admission and discharge, and visits the debtors occasionally.

The following tables furnish a statistical summary of the ages, former convictions, and state of learning on admission, of 401 females sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.

AGES.

| Under 15 years of age. | 15 to 25. | 25 and upwards. | TOTAL. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 11 | 136 | 254 | 401 |

FORMER CONVICTIONS.

| 1st Offence. | 2d. | 3d. | 4th. | 5th. | 6th and upwards. | TOTAL. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 196 | 79 | 42 | 24 | 13 | 47 | 401 |

STATE OF LEARNING.

| Not read. | Read imperfectly. | Read and write. | TOTAL. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 162 | 170 | 69 | 401 |

Thus, of 401 convicted prisoners, it may be seen that the large proportion of 332 could either not read at all or only read imperfectly when admitted. The chaplain states that he "examined these prisoners both in their own cells and in class, "and felt much gratified, and, in some cases, surprised, with "the progress made." "This alone," he adds, "is ample "testimony of the zeal and assiduity with which the school-"mistress performs her duties."

Of 87 prisoners committed for trial (not included in the above) only 14 could read and write; 37 could read imperfectly; and 36 could not read.

In answer to my inquiry, the chaplain states:—

"I know several cases of discharged prisoners, who were formerly addicted to habits of crime, and are now living honestly and respectably; and we have heard nothing to the discredit of many others."

The matron gives the following cases which occurred during the last year:—

"M. A. N., restored to her friends, after a probation in the house of refuge at Liverpool.

"M. G., living with her children and working steadily for her living.

"A. L., in service, after having been for a time in the house of refuge at Liverpool.

"R. S., S. F., and S. M. N., in the house of refuge, and conducting themselves well.

"M. B., living with her husband and family.

"There are several others whom I have every reason to believe are doing well."

The conduct of the prisoners is reported satisfactory; there were very few punishments awarded (only 22) during the year, and they were confined to stoppage of diet, and solitary confinement not exceeding 3 days. This being at present a house of correction for females only, there is no hard labour. The prisoners are employed "knitting," "sewing," "picking cotton," "teazing hair," and the ordinary prison employments in the laundry, cooking, cleaning prison, &c. The profit on work done in the prison last year and sold was 33*l.* 12*s.* 5*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 143*l.* 3*s.*

The net cost for each prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 20*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.*

All the provisions and stores are supplied by contract.

The rules for debtors are now more strictly enforced; there were no complaints, and I found everything clean and orderly in the debtors wards.

SALFORD NEW BAILEY.

[Visited 12th July 1852.]

Number in confinement :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals - - - | 351 | 105 | 456 |
| Debtors - - - | 21 | 1 | 22 |
| | | | 478 |
| Sick - - - - | 7 | 7 | 14 |

The daily average number was 488 (Criminals 458, Debtors 30) which is 70 above the average of the preceding year. The number of committals during the year was (criminals 3,795, debtors 694) total 4,489. The number in 1851 was 3,780. The increase in the number of criminals is fully accounted for, 676 prisoners (principally vagrants) having been committed to this prison during the last year under contract with the borough of Manchester, the accommodation in their new gaol being found insufficient, so that there was really a decrease of 80 criminals from the hundred of Salford as compared with the commitments in the preceding year. One half the number committed belong to the county or the neighbouring towns in Cheshire, the other half were strangers. The increase in the number of debtors was confined to County Court debtors.

The buildings though old were in good repair, the wards and cells clean and in good order, and the prison is well drained and ventilated. The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The daily cost per head for food was $2\frac{5}{8}d.$ I examined the provisions, and found them of good quality.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good. There had been no epidemic or other prevailing disease. Prisoners sentenced for long periods improve in health.

The usual weekly and daily services are performed by the chaplain, who superintends the schools, and sees prisoners in private. The schoolmaster instructs the prisoners in class daily. There are occasionally a few Roman Catholics who decline to receive instruction, but the progress made by prisoners who remain for any time under instruction is satisfactory. The conduct of the Prisoners generally is represented to be "good;" notwithstanding, the punishments have been numerous,—males, 7,133; females, 1136.

A large proportion of these punishments were for non-performance of task; the punishments awarded in such cases are, stoppage of a portion of the usual daily allowance of food.

The Governor states:—

"The use of the treadwheel and crank machines lead to much corporal punishment, but there has only been one instance in which it has been necessary to flog a prisoner a second time for determined idleness and obstinacy in refusing to perform his task."

Labour and Employment.—All the prisoners are kept fully employed, and every description of useful labour that can be applied is now in full operation. Most of the prisoners sentenced to and fit for hard labour are worked at the treadwheel or crank machine for a short period, and if found deserving are removed to some industrial employment.

Prisoners are employed at the following trades or occupations:—Weaving, matmaking, shoemaking, tailoring, brushmaking, tin-plate working, smith's work, wool, hair, oakum, cotton, and cocoanut fibre picking, cleaning, washing, cooking, and general domestic employments. The clear profit on work done for the manufactory last year was £1,184 3*s*. The estimated value of work done for the prisonwas £961 2*s*. 10*d*.

I examined the books, which were all properly kept and entered up to the day. There was nothing to call for any special remark.

Prisoners from the Bolton sessions are committed to this prison. I find that the singing saloon is a prolific source of corruption with the juvenile population at Bolton; The following statement is taken from notes furnished to me by the chaplain:—

Of eight boys committed for trial, charged with felony, at the Bolton Sessions, all had been in the habit of frequenting a notorious singing saloon in that town; the price of an admission ticket was 2*d*., which also entitled the holder to some refreshment. At this place all the thieves and bad characters of the town are to be found, and it is here that the first lessons in crime are taught, and the seed sown which yields an abundant crop. The eight boys above referred to went direct from the saloon to the commission of the crime with which they were charged. Six of the eight were convicted and sentenced for various periods. One of the two acquitted (though he admitted his guilt in prison) went to the saloon on the night of his acquittal (Saturday), and was again committed on the following Monday for a felony, for which he is now serving a long term of imprisonment. The other acquitted boy has been again tried at the sessions and again acquitted. To show the feeling of those who had been frequenters of one of these saloons, and witnessed its destruction by fire, some said, "they were fain to see it in a blaze, as it had destroyed thousands;" another said,

"if he could put the fire out by spitting on it he would not do it." In that saloon, open every night of the week, might be found, on Saturday night, not fewer than 500 boys under or about the age of fifteen years. There is a back way from the house to a number of common brothels in Oliver Lane; and these boys, flattered by the notice of showily dressed females a little older than themselves, are easily induced to commit almost any crime that may be suggested to them. The chaplain of the prison, in speaking on this subject, says:—

"I regret to state that there is not a large town in this neighbourhood which has not similar snares open for the seduction of the young. The proprietors have set at nought the remonstrances of the local clergy, and most of the remonstrances and threats that have been hitherto employed against them by the authorities; and it is said that the powers of the bench to restrain them are insufficient."

MANCHESTER BOROUGH GAOL.

[Visited 13th July 1852.]

Number of prisoners in confinement:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals - - - | 319 | 96 | 415 |
| Debtors - - - | 2 | — | 2 |

The daily average number during the year was 438.

There has been a decrease of 1,216 commitments to this gaol as compared with the committals of the preceding year; but of this number 676 prisoners, summarily convicted in the borough, were committed to the New Bailey Prison at Salford under contract with the authorities of that prison; the actual decrease in the whole number committed within the borough is therefore 540, principally amongst the "vagrants," "reputed thieves," and for offences against the police acts. There are very few strangers; the prisoners generally belong to the district, and as the number of committals have decreased each year since the new prison on the separate system was opened, (in March 1850) it may be inferred that the deterring effect of this system has operated favourably on the criminal population of Manchester.

The prison buildings were in good repair. A new ward has been recently constructed for debtors in the basement of D wing, that part of the prison in which they were formerly confined being found very inconvenient for the purpose.

The cells and all parts of the prison were clean and in good order; the clothing, bedding, and diet were sufficient; the provisions of good quality; the daily cost per head for food was 3*d.*

The surgeon states:—

"The health of the prisoners has been uniformly good and satisfactory. No form of epidemic has been prevalent, nor have there been any cases of sickness traceable to the locality.

"Male prisoners imprisoned for a short period generally lose weight, whilst those who have a longer sentence maintain their weight or gain slightly. Of 800 male prisoners taken promiscuously and weighed on admission, and on discharge it was found that the aggregate increase of weight amounted to 20lbs."

The surgeon adds:—

"Male prisoners sentenced to hard labour and employed at the crank machine lose strength and weight considerably; so much so, as to render it undesirable or impossible to continue such work for more than limited periods during their sentence.

"The women and boys usually gain flesh and strength."

There was only one death from disease during the year,—a convict who died of phthisis. He was unhealthy on admission, suffering from scrofulous sores, and had been 16 months in the prison at the time of his death.

One prisoner committed suicide. The verdict of the jury was:—

"The prisoner had destroyed himself, but that sufficient evidence was not before them to judge of the state of his mind when the act was committed."

The act does not appear to have been caused by the discipline or treatment within the gaol.

One prisoner was liberated on medical grounds; two prisoners were removed to a lunatic asylum, one of whom has since been sent back to the gaol quite well, and has continued so.

There has been no change in the chaplain's duties; he devotes much of his time to the prisoners individually, and expresses himself well satisfied with the zeal and qualifications of the schoolmasters, and the progress made by the prisoners in school instruction. Many of the prisoners show a great desire to gain knowledge, and not only evince a willingness to learn, but manifest considerable ability.

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be "tolerably good." The misconduct is for the most part confined to a few prisoners, of whom the chief are vagrants. The punishments awarded were—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 2,171 |
| Female | 292 |
| Total | 2,463 |

The ordinary punishments are—reduction of food, and confinement in solitary cell for various periods not exceeding three days.

There were 19 cases of corporal punishment.

Labour and Employment.—There are 50 cranks, on which some prisoners are always employed; the others are employed as matmakers, shoemakers, tailors, weavers, joiners, mechanics, picking oakum, wool, and cotton, plaiting and teazing coir yarn, sewing, washing, and cleaning.

The returns from the manufactory, including the cost of material, amounted to 1,270*l.* 11*s.* 6*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 223*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* I examined the journals, registers, and other books; there was nothing to call for any special remark.

The number of debtors was only 18 during the year; they have been removed into the new debtors' ward under D wing, and have now the means of taking exercise unrestricted in the airing yard. No debtor made any complaint.

General Observations.—Although there are always a large number of juvenile offenders in this prison there is no ward set apart for them. They are placed in separate confinement and under the same discipline as the adults. The crank machines are still in general use. I communicated with the magistrates, and recommended prisoners should only be worked at these machines for a short period of their imprisonment, and they should be informed that they would be removed to industrial employment sooner or later according to their conduct. I also recommended that the principal warder or engineer should be required daily to examine and regulate the cranks; and that the attention of the surgeon should be particularly directed to all prisoners employed at this labour.

PRESTON.—COUNTY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Visited 12th October 1852.]

Number of prisoners in confinement:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 254 | 30 | 284 |
| Debtors | 12 | — | 12 |
| | | | 296 |

The daily average number of criminals was—

|---|---|
| Males - - - - - - | 298 |
| Females - - - - - - | 17 |

which is 52 below the average of the preceding year.

There was a decrease of 318 in the number of male prisoners committed during the year, while there had been an increase of 10 on the female side; the decrease was principally in the vagrant class. The offences are represented as being generally of a less serious character. Ten prisoners only were sentenced to transportation, whereas, ten years ago, in the years 1841, 1842, and 1843, the number of males alone sentenced to transportation from this division of the county were—65, 72, and 77 respectively.

The reduction has also been great as compared with the numbers transported of late years, for in the years 1847, 1848, 1849, 1850, and 1851 the numbers were 43, 24, 24, 20, and 28 respectively. Of the 10 prisoners transported last year, four are represented as being entire strangers in the northern division of the county, and received their sentences on account of previous convictions in other parts of the kingdom.

The recommittals to the sessions amounted to ten, and consisted entirely of females. The recommittals amongst those who were summarily convicted amounted to 80 male, though the persons so recommitted were only 66; of these

|---|---|---|---|
| 58 | were recommitted once - | 58 | recommittals. |
| 5 | „ twice - | 10 | „ |
| 2 | „ three times | 6 | „ |
| 1 | „ six times - | 6 | „ |
| 66 persons | | 80 | „ |

The distinguishing characteristics of these men were gross ignorance and incurable drunkenness.

|---|---|
| 14 | of them had been 4 or 5 times in prison. |
| 6 | „ 6 or 7 times in prison. |
| 5 | „ from 8 to 11 times in prison. |
| 3 | „ 16, 22, and 29 times respectively. |

The recommittals, however, show a considerable reduction as compared with those of the previous year, when they amounted to 102, or 96 persons. In respect to the ages of offenders, the records show a diminished proportion of the younger classes. Offenders under 21 were 22; 4 per cent. on the whole number —2 per cent. less than in the previous year.

No alterations or additions have been made since my last inspection; but the committee of magistrates appointed to inquire into the prison accommodation and discipline within the county, in their report, state:—

"There are here (at Preston)—

168 certified cells.

34, in a block, non-certified cells, dilapidated.

75 other cells, not certified.

33 non-certified cells, used at present by females only.

"With a view of obtaining accurate information as to the cost of alterations and additions to this prison, we instructed Mr. Holme to furnish us with an estimate of the expense.

"1st. Of a new range of cells, three stories high, containing 90 cells:

"2d. Of a new range, four stories high, containing 120 cells:

"3d. Of making the present block of 34 cells fit for occupation as sleeping cells:

"4th. Of converting into cells, capable of being certified, the whole 142 cells not now certified, or such of them as are capable of being so certified.

"After a consideration of Mr. Holme's report, we are of opinion that whenever there should be occasion for further extension of the separate system in this prison, the accommodation required should be provided by new buildings, and not by an alteration of the old ones."

I suggested to the committee that it was desirable at once to extend the separate system, and recommended that the new buildings referred to in their report should be proceeded with without delay.

The diet table is divided into three classes:—

1st. Juveniles (under 13 years of age);

2d. Middle class (above 13 and under 17 years of age);

3d. Adults (above 17 years of age).

The diet is the same in the respective classes for any period not exceeding one month, and is more than sufficient for those who are only sentenced for short terms. The Governor and surgeon have discretionary power to issue an extra allowance of bread, not exceeding 10 oz. per day, to any adult prisoner after three months' imprisonment.

The following is a summary of the ordinary diet per week:—

| | 1st Class, Juveniles. lbs. oz. | 2d Class, Middle Class. lbs. oz. | 3d Class, Adults. lbs. oz. |
| Bread | 4 4 | 8 12 | 8 12 |
| Meat | 0 12 | 0 12 | 0 12 |
| Potatoes | 2 0 | 2 0 | 4 0 |
| Cheese | 0 2 | 0 2 | 0 4 |
| Gruel | 14 pints | 14 pints | 28 pints |
| Soup | 3 pints | 3 pints | 6 pints |

The female adults in the 3d Class have only half the quantity of gruel, soup, and cheese.

During the year there had been two cases of smallpox, and dysentery had been very prevalent, especially during the months of July, August, and September. There were five deaths (one a Government convict), but in neither case from any cause arising within the prison. The prisoners generally improve in health, and though they may fall off a little during the first month, they afterwards increase in weight.

In addition to the prisoners from the northern division of Lancashire, 90 Government convicts passed through the prison during the year.

The duties of the chaplain, as performed by Mr. Clay, are incessant, and I fear his health has suffered from being overtasked. He says :—

"My daily attendance in the prison averages about six hours. I cannot accomplish all I desire in that time ; but I have no longer the health and strength necessary for what I wish to do."

The schoolmasters are well qualified for their duties. The chaplain states :—

"I consider myself greatly indebted to them for the hearty attention and interest which they give to every plan calculated to increase the effect of their teaching."

The progress made by the prisoners is described as most satisfactory, and in reply to my inquiries the chaplain says:—

"I have had favourable reports for five or six successive years of very many assize and session prisoners, who, after the expiration of their sentences, have returned to their homes, and showing that more than 50 per cent. are living honestly and respectably."

I make the following extract from the chaplain's annual report :—

"The Holy Sacrament has been administered four times during the year, the number of communicants varying from 76 to 96. I have had good reason to hope that on all these occasions the motives which brought the prisoners to the holy table were unobjectionable, and there are circumstances in respect to the proportion of communicants furnished by the different classes which tend very much to strengthen confidence in these motives. The most numerous class in the prison is formed by persons under summary conviction, who being subjected to our discipline for a comparatively short time (imprisonment for seven or fourteen days, being the sentence passed on a very large portion of them), receive proportionately little benefit from it. Communicants belonging to this class have consequently been very few, never exceeding 6 per cent. of its entire number. Altogether differing from these 'short timers' are the Government convicts. These men under sentence of transportation for graver offences have had, in the solemnities of their trials and in their subsequent treatment, in separate confinement, many more incentives to reflection, self-examination, and penitence. Out of about fifty of this class whom we have generally had under our care, from thirty-one to thirty-five have been communicants. Intermediate between the two classes I have mentioned is one consisting of prisoners who have been convicted of felony or misdemeanor at our own sessions and assizes. These prisoners also received, from the anxieties and grave accompaniments of their trials, an impressive lesson which a summary conviction would not have given, though at the same time their more immediate prospects of returning to old habits and companions tends to discourage the serious thought which the Government convict, having no such prospect, can scarcely resist. The proportion of communicants, therefore, offering themselves from this class, is nearly the mean between the other two divisions, viz., about 23 per cent. The proportions I have mentioned continue almost unchanged on every occasion of administering the Sacrament ; a fact which indicates, I trust, something in the nature of a satisfactory law in the operation of reformatory prison discipline."

The number of punishments last year were 3,980. A large proportion of the offences committed were "attempts to communicate in the work-room." The ordinary punishments were "stoppage of a single meal," "bread and water diet," and "solitary confinement in ordinary cell."

Prisoners not in separate confinements are associated in a large work-room, where the silent system is most strictly enforced. In such a system I have no faith—there is nothing in it humanizing or reformatory. The fear of punishment alone seldom stops an evil-disposed person in his career; while the burden of the punishment is upon him it may act as a check; but unless his heart is touched, and some more lasting impression made, this is soon forgotten in the excitement of restored liberty and communication with his old associates. It is not on this ground alone that I desire to see the recommendations of the County Committee on Prison Accommodation carried out. The old cells are badly drained, ill-ventilated, and out of repair. The Governor strongly recommends their removal, and in answer to my inquiry, "whether he knew anything in "the prison tending to cause illness," says, "Nothing, except "the horrid old cells." The chaplain, speaking of the removal of the old cells, and the erection of another range of separate cells, says, "Were that improvement effected, we "should be able to place all our prisoners under the operation "of that true reformatory discipline, which at present can "only be applied to 168."

LINCOLNSHIRE.

GRANTHAM.—BOROUGH GAOL.

[Inspected 20th October 1852.]

Since my last inspection, the practice of leaving to females (the wives of the policemen) the duty of overlooking the male prisoners, during the absence of the policemen on other duty in the town, has been discontinued; beyond this there has been no alteration, either in the discipline or construction of this prison.

I met several of the magistrates by appointment at the gaol, and impressed on them the insufficiency of the present arrangements, and the necessity for some improvements; and I recommended that a further application should be made to the county magistrates to enter into a contract for the charge and maintenance of the borough prisoners in the County House of Correction at Falkingham, the alterations in that prison being now completed.

At the time of my visit there were only two prisoners in confinement. One of them, T. G., under sentence of two years' imprisonment, was a very troublesome and insubordinate character. His conduct called for special reports both from the magistrates and myself.

The whole number of prisoners committed during the year was:—

|---|---|
| Males | 23 |
| Females | 3 |
| Total | 26 |

They were generally employed cleaning, or some other trifling occupation about the prison. There is a treadwheel, but in the absence of proper supervision hard labour cannot be enforced.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good.

There is at present no regular diet-table, but the policemen receive 5d. per day for each prisoner, to supply them with food.

The chaplain, in his report to the magistrates, states that he is not able to discharge the duties of his office in an efficient manner, owing to the great inconvenience and want of proper accommodation in the prison; he also complains of the inadequacy of the remuneration for the duties required by the Inspector to be performed.

The chaplain does not superintend the schools, or in any way co-operate with the schoolmaster for the instruction of the prisoners. The attention of the magistrates was called to these irregularities, and they undertook to provide some immediate remedy, pending the application to the county magistrates.

KIRTON LINDSEY COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Visited 19th February 1852.]

There were 60 male and 8 female prisoners confined in this prison on the day of inspection.

The daily average number during the year was 74, which is one above the average of the preceding year. The commitments had decreased the numbers in 1851, being 402, and in 1852, 354.

The prison buildings were in good repair, but they are very confined, and there is not sufficient room either for the employment of the prisoners, or to enable the Governor to carry out any good system of discipline.

The prisoners are associated, and are seldom under the supervision of an officer except at the wheel. Some few are employed in making shoes, weaving, &c., but the want of space must prevent any more extended employment.

The estimated value of work done for the prison by prisoners last year was 69*l.* 15*s.* 8½*d.*

The average daily cost for diet per head 4*d.*

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to have been good. The punishments during the year were—

|---|---|
| Males | 166 |
| Females | 27 |
| Total | 193 |

The surgeon states that—

"The general health of the prisoners is good. When the neighbourhood was visited by an epidemic the prison was comparatively free from the prevailing sickness. Prisoners frequently decline in health when they have been 8 or 9 months in confinement; but those sentenced for long periods improve again."

There had been no death in the prison, and no prisoner had been liberated on medical grounds during the year. The drainage is good, and the food sufficient and of good quality.

The chaplain says:—

"Instruction in the school has been thankfully received by many of the inmates, and their progress has been satisfactory; whilst some few have refused to avail themselves of its benefits."

Of the 354 prisoners committed to this gaol during the year, the greater number were very ignorant; a large proportion could neither read nor write, but a still greater proportion, 298, acknowledged themselves to be wholly ignorant of the Bible.

Two thirds of the number committed belong to the district.

General Remarks.—This prison does not afford the means of carrying out any good system of discipline. The prison is old and the space too confined to admit of any improvement; with two other prisons for this division of the county, and half the cells in the Castle at Lincoln unoccupied, it is not desirable to expend money here. It would be better that all prisoners sentenced for long periods should be sent to the Castle.

LINCOLN CASTLE.

[Inspected 6th May and 23d November 1852.]

Number of prisoners in confinement, May 6th :—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals - - | 8 | 4 | 12 |
| Debtors - - - | 12 | 1 | 13 |
| | | | 25 |

The average daily number during the year was 27, which is 13 below the average of the preceding year.

The number of commitments was 239 in the year 1851, and 201 in 1852, showing a decrease of 38 (22 criminals and 16 debtors).

I found the prison clean and in good order throughout.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of maintenance was $3\frac{3}{4}d.$ per head.

The general health of the prisoners was represented by the surgeon to be "very variable." He adds—"There has been a continuance of the endemic complaint which has so long existed in this prison." This he attributes to "imperfect drainage and ventilation." I directed my particular attention to these points, and found that the subject had already engaged the attention of Mr. Grainger and others, who had made a report on the subject to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State. The alterations recommended had been carried out, and the surgeon admitted that "sickness had decreased since the alterations were made." He formerly considered "defective drainage the principal cause of the evil, but now imperfect ventilation is, in his opinion, the cause."

Accompanied by the surgeon, I tested the ventilation both during the day and at a late hour at night. We visited the cells after the prisoners had been some time in bed, but could not discover anything amiss. The extracting flues acted freely, and there was an abundant supply of fresh air from the air flues; added to this the cell windows have been made to open at will, by which means the cells are thoroughly purified, without the aid of artificial ventilation, on all occasions when the prisoner is absent from his cell. When I visited the prison at night the prisoners had been some time in bed, and the windows were all closed, but no stagnation of air was observable in any of the cells.

The Governor states, he considers that "the prisoners generally improve in health, and that the drainage and ventilation of the prison are now both perfectly good." I found only two prisoners sick, and in neither case was the sickness of a serious nature. The principal warder, a very valuable officer, died the day previous to my first visit to the prison, but no prisoner had died during the year. One prisoner had been liberated on medical grounds.

Moral and Religious Instruction.—The usual daily and weekly services are performed by the chaplain, who also sees each prisoner, in private, at least once a month. The schoolmaster resigned in the month of March last, and in consequence of the small number of prisoners (the Castle being only used for the detention of prisoners before trial) the magistrates have not yet appointed another. The chaplain attends to those prisoners who cannot read, and the matron teaches the female prisoners.

Punishments.—The conduct of the prisoners is represented to be good. There were 11 punishments during the year.

Employment.—Some prisoners are employed as shoemakers and tailors, and in knitting stockings, but there is very little work done by the prisoners before trial.

The books and journals are properly kept, and were entered up to the time of my visit. Provisions and stores are supplied by contract. The accounts are audited and paid the usual manner.

Debtors.—The old prison, which is appropriated for debtors, affords ample accommodation, with distinct airing-yards for each class. It was quite free from the epidemic which prevailed in the new prison in 1848-49. There were 13 debtors in confinement on the day of my visit, but none of them were employed in any way.

General Observations.—Lincoln Castle, maintained at an annual cost to the county of upwards of 1,400*l.*, is at present only used for the detention of prisoners for trial, and for debtors; and, taking the average number of the criminal prisoners during the past year, more than one half of the cells would be unoccupied, while the debtors' prison affords ample accommodation for double the number confined therein. There are five other prisons in this county, viz., Kirton Lindsey, Louth, and Spilsby for the division of Lindsey, Falkingham Prison for the division of Kesteven, and Spalding for the division of Holland, besides the City Prison at Lincoln, and the Borough Gaols at Stamford and Grantham. The old prison at Kirton Lindsey is too confined to admit of much improvement. The want of space interferes both with the employment of the prisoners and the discipline of the prison. It appears to me that some better arrangement might be made, and the country saved the expense of maintaining so many different establishments.

LINCOLN CITY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Visited 3d November 1852.]

Number of prisoners in confinement:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 12 | 4 | 16 |
| Debtors | 1 | 0 | 1 |
| | | | 17 |

There was a decrease of 17 male and 20 female felons as compared with the number committed during the previous year.

The buildings were in good repair. The wards and cells were clean, as also were the prisoners.

The clothing, bedding, and diet were sufficient. The daily cost per head for food was 4*d.*

The prisoners are very healthy; they generally improve in health and increase in weight during their imprisonment.

Moral and Religious Instruction.—The chaplain performs divine service in the prison once on Sunday, and reads the morning prayers on Wednesday; he visits each prisoner in his separate call once a week, visits the sick, and superintends the instruction of the prisoners. He expresses himself well satisfied with the schoolmasters, and with the progress made by the prisoners generally.

Punishments.—The number of punishments awarded during the year was 20. These punishments were confined to a few prisoners, principally for talking at the treadwheel. The conduct of the prisoners generally was represented to be satisfactory.

Labour.—Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work on the treadwheel; some few are also employed as tailors and shoemakers, but very little work is done except for the use of the prison. The clear profit of work done for sale was 1*l.* 16*s.* 1*d.* The work done for the prison was not estimated. The females wash and repair the linen.

Books.—I examined the books and journals; they are properly kept; there was nothing in them to call for any special remark.

General Remarks.—There is a day-room for the debtors, but there are no sleeping cells for their exclusive accommodation; they sleep in any of the ordinary cells that may be available. During the year 12 debtors had been received but none of them were detained for any lengthened period.

The net cost for each prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 36*l.* 1*s.* 0½*d.*, which is very high. This may be attributed to the small number of prisoners; the daily average number did not exceed 12. The following was the expenditure for the year:—

|---|---|---|---|
| Salaries | 260 | 0 | 0 |
| Prison diet | 79 | 7 | 8 |
| Clothing and bedding | 18 | 8 | 7½ |
| Allowances to sick | 0 | 13 | 5 |
| Fuel and light | 80 | 3 | 6 |
| Soap, stationery, &c. | 4 | 11 | 3 |
| Repairs and alterations | 25 | 0 | 11½ |
| Sundries | 24 | 16 | 10 |
| | 493 | 2 | 3 |
| Deduct profits of prisoners' labour | 1 | 16 | 1 |
| | £491 | 6 | 2 |

The lock-up or police station for the city is in the basement story of the prison, and communicates by a passage with the magistrates' room in the court house. There are two cells, clean, well ventilated, and well adapted for the purpose.

Number of prisoners :—

| Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|
| 37 | 12 | 49 |

There had been an increase in the daily average number, but a decrease of 47 males, and an increase of 23 females in the whole number committed during the year; the increase was principally in cases of felony.

The works in progress at the time of my former visit have been completed; viz., a "male infirmary," "work-rooms for tailors and shoemakers," "bath house," and other minor alterations. The buildings were in good repair. The wards and cells clean and in order.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient; the provisions were of good quality; the daily cost per head for food was a fraction less than 4*d*.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. One prisoner had died from bronchitis; his constitution was much impaired by excesses previous to his imprisonment. The drainage and ventilation are good in all parts of the prison. There had been no diarrhœa or prevailing epidemic.

The whole number of sick cases during the year was 201.

The greatest number sick at one time was 8

" " at the time of my visit 4

The surgeon says—

"Prisoners generally fall off in weight during the first month or six weeks of their imprisonment, especially in the hot weather; they gain in weight after two months."

The chaplain performs the usual weekly and daily services, visits the sick daily, and sees every prisoner apart from all others at least once a-week. The schoolmaster is on duty from 6 A.M. to 8 P.M. He is engaged in school instruction four hours daily. The rest of his time he is employed in the office, or superintending the weighing and issuing provisions, or in the shoemakers' shop. The chaplain considers him to be well qualified for his duties, and says,—

" The progress made by the prisoners in secular knowledge has " been most satisfactory, but I am sorry I cannot report so favour- " ably of their progress in religious knowledge."

The punishments awarded during the year were,—males, 351; females, 23; total, 374. The ordinary punishment is, reduced diet; the most severe, three days dark cell. The offences committed were generally attempts by prisoners to evade work at the commencement of their imprisonment.

The labour at the wheel is used to grind corn. The amount received for grinding during the year was 55*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.*, which leaves very little profit after deducting the miller's salary, 52*l.* One of the conditions under which the contract for bread is accepted is, that the contractor shall supply grist for the mill when required. This clause no doubt operates unfavourably for the prison.

The shoemaker's, tailor's, and other work done, is principally for the use of the prison, and was estimated at 101*l.* 1*s.* Shoemaking and tailoring might be extended with advantage.

Prisoners go to bed at 7 o'clock in summer, and at half-past 6 in winter; much time is therefore wasted in which they might be usefully employed at work, or improving themselves, reading, &c.

The books and accounts are properly kept. I called the Governor's attention to his Journal and Misconduct Book, which were not entered up to the time of my visit. The provisions and stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 13*l.* 17*s.* 10*d.*

Most of the prisoners committed to this gaol belong to the district, where there is employment for all who are willing to work. Drunkenness here, as elsewhere, appears to be the principal cause of crime. Referring to the discipline of the prison, the chaplain says,—

"I think the separate system which has lately been adopted in "this prison to be most admirably adapted to the great purposes of "correction and reformation."

The Governor called my attention to the case of a man who, for good conduct in prison, received a small gratuity on his discharge; he immediately returned to his home, took his wife and three children out of the union, and is now supporting them by honest labour.

SPILSBY HOUSE OF CORRECTION FOR PART OF LINDSEY.

[Visited 6th November 1852.]

|---|---|
| Males | 49 |
| Females | 5 |
| Total | 54 |

The daily average number was 5 above that of the preceding year, but there was a decrease of 97 in the number committed. The decrease was principally in the committals for vagrancy and assaults, as follows:—

| | 1851. | 1852. | Decrease. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Felony | 78 | 73 | 5 |
| Misdemeanors | 62 | 53 | 9 |
| Vagrancy | 99 | 46 | 53 |
| Poaching | 31 | 26 | 5 |
| Assaults | 33 | 8 | 25 |
| Total | 303 | 206 | 97 |

It appears from the prison books that the number of commitments has been smaller than in any previous year since the erection of the prison. The buildings were in good repair. A school-room and a workshop have been built, where the prisoners are assembled for instruction and work, under the supervision of an officer, and strict silence is enforced.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient; the provisions were of good quality; the daily cost per head for food was $3\frac{1}{2}d$.

The surgeon says,—

"The general health of the prisoners has been good. Taking an "average, there is a slight decrease in weight. The ventilation "and drainage are good in all parts of the prison. There had been "no death or removal on medical grounds during the year."

At the time of my visit there was one prisoner sick—in a hopeless state from disease of long standing. He expressed himself very grateful for all the care and attention he had received during his illness.

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain. The schoolmaster, who is appointed on probation, is engaged in school instruction two hours daily; the rest of his time is at the disposal of the Governor for the general duties of the prison. The chaplain says:—

"He has not at present been long enough for me to form an accurate judgment as to his capability and aptitude for teaching."

The "state of education" of the 206 prisoners when received was as follows:—

|---|---|
| Well educated | 8 |
| Read and write well | 6 |
| „ imperfectly | 92 |
| „ only | 26 |
| Neither read nor write | 67 |
| | 206 |

Referring to the improved arrangements in the prison, the chaplain says:—

"The state and discipline of the prison have been considerably improved during the year by the erection of a large and commodious room, which is used as a dining-room and school-room. Ere long, it is to be hoped, the silent system will be fully carried out. By these improved regulations the novice in crime, instead of being by evil communication matured in his progress, in the crowded and noisy day-rooms, may be reclaimed to honesty and restored to his friends The prisoners now sit down to their meals as civilized beings, and 40 of them are receiving instruction two hours daily in the new school-room."

The number of punishments was 59 (all ordinary prison punishments). One man, a convicted felon and a deserter from the Royal Artillery, cut off his finger to disqualify himself for the service. Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work on the treadwheel. Some prisoners are employed making clothes and shoes for the use of the prison; but there is no work done for sale, and no account is kept by which the value of the work done for the prison may be estimated. The Governor thinks the mill power might be applied to grinding corn, but I cannot recommend it.

The books and accounts are properly kept. Provisions and stores are all supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 18*l*.

Observations.—The discipline of the prison has much improved since the prisoners have been employed under proper supervision; under the old arrangement most of the punishments awarded were for quarrelling and disorderly conduct in the day-rooms.

A female prisoner made several complaints, all of which on inquiry proved to be without foundation; she is a very bad character, the keeper of a brothel, and is much annoyed because she is not permitted to associate with the younger females.

Prisoners continue to pass too many hours in bed. In midwinter the supper is distributed at 3.30 P.M., when the prisoners are locked up for the night, without any employment or light. They retire to bed at 4 P.M., and are left undisturbed until 7 A.M. next morning.

STAMFORD BOROUGH GAOL.

[Visited 2d October 1852.]

Number of prisoners in confinement,—Males 6; females 0.
The number of commitments during the year was males 28;

females 7; showing a decrease of 11 in the number of males, and an increase of 4 in the females. The committals are principally for felonies and assaults. I was informed that there was plenty of employment to be had in the neighbourhood, but no inclination on the part of those who frequent the prison to obtain it.

The buildings were in good repair. The prison clean and in good order. The gas has been laid on to the six cells fitted for separate confinement, and the wheel divided into compartments, as recommended on my last visit.

There does not appear to have been any other alteration either in the construction or discipline of the prison. At the time of my visit three of the prisoners were at work on the wheel. One was in hospital and the other two were employed cleaning the passages. The turnkey exercises a general superintendence over the prisoners, but they must have abundant opportunity for communicating with each other.

The general health of the prisoners is good. The prison is well drained and ventilated. The provisions were good and wholesome. The daily cost of food was $3\frac{1}{4}d.$ per head.

The number of punishments during the year was 5. There had been no serious case of misconduct.

The chaplain says:—

"Those prisoners who remain here for any length of time make considerable progress in religious knowledge, and also in arithmetic, reading, and history."

He adds—

"I think, if separate confinement were strictly carried out, it would be beneficial; as far as I can judge, the prison is sufficiently large to admit of the plan being generally adopted."

I recommend the six cells above referred to may be completed, to be certified for separate confinement, and that some employment may be provided for prisoners before trial, and those not sentenced to or who may be unfit for hard labour.

| Summarily convicted - - | 96 | 17 | 113 |

which is 52 below that of the preceding year.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour for 3 months and upwards are now sent to Norwich Castle, but the prison affords no means of classifying or employing the prisoners sentenced even for short periods.

The Governor reported the repeated misconduct of a prisoner committed for two months for disorderly conduct in the union; he had been repeatedly in prison, and the Governor states that he had no means of controlling or separating the prisoners, and was at a loss what to do with him. I recommended that he should be placed by himself in the ward formerly occupied by debtors, and furnished with some employment.

Notwithstanding the above Report, I found there had been no punishments awarded for a prison offence since my last inspection—a period of twelve months; it may therefore be supposed that discipline is not very strictly enforced.

The buildings were in good repair, and the prison clean. The diet was sufficient, and was of good quality. The daily cost for food was $4\frac{1}{2}d.$ per head.

The general health was good. One prisoner had been removed on medical grounds.

There has been no change in the chaplain's duties. The keeper continues to afford occasional instruction to the male prisoners, and his daughter to the females; but these services are gratuitous.

There are no means of enforcing a sentence of hard labour in this prison; the prisoners are idle, in association, and under little or no supervision. The recommendation made by the late inspector,—"That this prison should be discontinued "and a contract entered into with the county justices for the "care and maintenance of the prisoners," has been only partially acted upon. Prisoners sentenced for periods not exceeding 3 months are still kept here. I recommend that all convicted prisoners sentenced for periods exceeding 7 days may be sent to the house of correction at Swaffham or to Norwich Castle.

| Number of prisoners :— | |
| Criminals | 102 |
| Debtors | 9 |
| Total | 111 |
| Average number during the year | 123 |

which is 9 below the average of the preceding year.

The number of commitments was,—Criminals 672, debtors 72, showing a decrease of 102 criminals and 17 debtors compared with the numbers in the previous year. There was a decrease of 80 in the vagrant class alone.

The buildings were in good repair; two more of the day-rooms have been divided and converted into cells, which are now being fitted for separate confinements. All parts of the prison were clean and in good order; the clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient; the daily cost for food was 3*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "exceedingly good." The surgeon states,—

"There has been no case of fever arising within the prison since the present mode of warming the cells with gas has been in operation."

He considers the ventilation improved.

The chaplain resigned last Christmas, having held the office 27 years. He has been succeeded by his son, who has the opportunity of frequent communication with his father in all matters connected with the prison, in which the late chaplain continues to take much interest.

There has been no change in his duties. He reports the schoolmaster well qualified for his office, and states that the progress made by the prisoners in school is satisfactory.

The general conduct of the prisoners has been good. The punishments awarded for prison offences, 94 in number, were of the ordinary character.

In addition to the treadwheel and crank labour the following employments are carried on within the prison:—"Matmaking," "shoemaking," "tailoring," "basketmaking," "knitting stockings and mitts," and "sorting hair." The clear profit on work done for sale was 72*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* The repairs and alterations in the buildings are also made by prisoners.

The value of work done by them was estimated at 127*l.* 15*s.* 7*d.*

I have never heard a complaint from any person in this gaol; all the prisoners are kept fully employed; strict discipline is maintained; and every department of the prison bears evidence of the untiring zeal and ability of the Governor, Mr. Pinson.

He is ably supported by the visiting justices, who, in turn, make a regular inspection of the prison weekly, seeing every prisoner and visiting every part of the prison on each occasion.

NORWICH CITY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Visited 16th November 1852.]

|---|---|
| Criminals:— | |
| Males | 50 |
| Females | 12 |
| Debtors:— | |
| Males | 1 |

which is about the average during the year. The number of commitments was,—Criminals, 429, debtors, 39; or 31 criminals and 9 debtors below the number committed in the preceding year.

Most of the prisoners are natives of the city of Norwich. The recommittals are numerous.

The Governor, Mr. Yarrington, who had been recently appointed at the time of my last inspection, died in the month of July last. He was a zealous and intelligent officer, and I have no doubt, had he been longer spared, would have done much to improve the discipline of this gaol. I found his father in temporary charge of the prison until another Governor shall be appointed, He afforded me all the information and assistance in his power. The chaplain and surgeon were both absent on the day of inspection. The buildings were in good repair; the clothing, bedding, and diet, are sufficient, and the provisions were of good quality. The daily cost for food was about 3*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. There were no prisoners sick at the time of my visit.

The schoolmaster stated that the conduct of the prisoners was much improved. The punishments awarded were,—Males, 150; females, 7; total, 157. There had been three cases of corporal punishment during the year.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work on the treadwheel. If there happen to be any tailors or shoemakers they are employed making and repairing the prison clothes and shoes, but all other prisoners continue to be associated in the day-rooms without any control or supervision; they are classified or divided into the different day-rooms according to the term of imprisonment. The prisoners also, when relieved from the wheel, are associated in the same manner. There is nothing in the discipline to deter a prisoner from crime; and I much fear that a person, young in crime, once admitted into this prison, stands very little chance of escape from the contaminating influence to which he is exposed.

SWAFFHAM HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Visited 18th November 1852.]

|---|---|
| Number of prisoners | 58 |
| The average number during the year was | 71¼ |

14 below the average of the preceding year.

The number of commitments was 481, showing a decrease of 174 as compared with the year 1851.

The decrease has been principally in the number committed for felony, and vagrants.

The buildings were in good repair. On the occasion of my former inspection of this gaol, I recommended that windows should be opened in the passages for the better lighting and ventilating the prison; this has been done, and the ventilation is much improved.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost for food was 3¼*d.* per head.

The health of the prisoners since the last inspection has been good. There had been no death or removal on medical grounds. The surgeon says:—

"I consider, with very few exceptions, that the prisoners retain a very fair state of health even in long periods of confinement."

The usual weekly and daily services are performed by the chaplain; he also superintends the school, and sees the prisoners separately.

In addition to the hours of instruction in the morning and afternoon, an evening school has been established from 6 to 8. With very few exceptions the progress made by the prisoners is satisfactory. I was particularly struck with one lad from Cambridge, who had been under three months in prison, and was represented to be quite ignorant when received. The knowledge he had acquired of the Scriptures, and the progress he had made in reading and writing, was very creditable both to the schoolmaster and to the lad himself.

The conduct of the prisoners has been generally good. The punishments awarded were, with two exceptions, the ordinary prison punishments. They were as follows :—

|---|---|
| Confined to solitary cell - - - | 22 |
| Portion of diet stopped - - - | 76 |
| Whipped (one 18 the other 12 lashes) - | 2 |
| | 100 |

The number of punishments has decreased with the additional instruction afforded in school.

In addition to the treadmill and crank labour, some few prisoners are employed as shoemakers, tailors, matmakers, and in knitting stockings ; but no account has been kept by which the value of the prison labour may be estimated.

The provisions and stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 14*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.*

The arrangement referred to in my last Report, by which prisoners are assembled in the infirmary for school instruction 3 times daily, is attended with many advantages ; it affords the means of separating the prisoners more effectually, and classifying them for instruction ; they are also kept more fully employed, and misconduct has decreased in proportion.

The number committed for poaching is still very great ; the decrease has been principally in the number committed for felony, or as vagrants. The prisoners were principally agricultural labourers.

WALSINGHAM.—HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

| Males - - - - - | 43 |
| Females - - - - - - | 18 |
| | 61 |

The average number during the year was 46½.

Number of commitments :—

|---|---|
| Criminals - - - - - | 388 |
| Debtors - - - - - - | 12 |
| | 400 |

which is 75 below that of the preceding year. The decrease has been principally in the number of committals for felony. There has been no alteration either in the discipline or construction of the prison since the last inspection.

The provisions were good and wholesome, and sufficient in quantity; the daily cost for food was $3\frac{1}{2}d.$ per head. The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. No death had occurred during the year, but one female prisoner was removed to a lunatic asylum; her mind does not appear to have been affected by the discipline or by any treatment within the prison.

The duties performed by the chaplain were detailed in my last Report. The schoolmaster attends at the prison at 6 A.M., and remains, with little intermission, till 9 P.M. The class hours of instruction are from 6 to $8\frac{1}{2}$ P.M. The prisoners for trial, and the juveniles who are not in class, receive instruction during the day. The schoolmaster also assists in the general duties of the prison. The chaplain considers him a zealous and efficient officer, and states—

"The prisoners generally make satisfactory progress in proportion to their abilities and duration of imprisonment. I believe great good is obtained in the prison, and is carried out by prisoners on discharge."

The chaplain adds—

"I do not think we live in a neighbourhood where persons live professedly by crime. I should say, insufficient employment and low wages are the principal causes of the felonies committed—the game laws and frequenting public-houses of the misdemeanors."

Of the 400 prisoners committed, only 226 could read when admitted; 124 could write, The schoolmaster instructed 80 prisoners in reading, 32 in writing, and 7 in arithmetic during the year. Six prisoners were admitted to be partakers of the Holy Communion.

Those prisoners who can read sufficiently well are supplied with books, for the use of which they are always thankful.

The number of punishments during the year was,—

|---|---|
| Males | 158 |
| Females | 33 |
| Total | 191 |

They were, with two exceptions, of the ordinary character, principally for talking or wilfully damaging the prison property. The exceptions referred to were, two prisoners under a sentence of two years imprisonment. It appears they had formed some expectation that the period of their imprisonment would be shortened, and, being disappointed, they became irritable and very disorderly. They were stated to be very bad characters; both had been previously convicted and sentenced to long periods of imprisonment.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work on the treadwheel; the other employments carried on are matmaking, tailoring shoemaking, and knitting, besides the usual work of the prison. The clear profit on work done for sale during the year was 38*l.* 15*s.* 9*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison, 83*l.* 1*s.* 6*d.*

The books and accounts are properly kept; the provisions and stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 30*l.* 4*s.* 8$\frac{1}{2}$d.

One of the prisoners, under sentence of 2 years imprisonment, complained that he felt weak from long confinement. On inquiry, I found that 20 months of his sentence had expired, and he was receiving extra diet, which the surgeon considered quite sufficient to meet the case. I found the prison clean and in good order throughout, and the Governor most zealous and attentive to his duties.

WYMONDHAM COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION FOR FEMALES.

[Visited 17th November 1852.]

Number of prisoners, 26, which is considerably above the average.

The commitments during the year were 151; 21 above the number committed in the preceding year. A large proportion of those committed for felony are servants for robbing their employers; a crime which appears to be on the increase in this country. The matron, speaking of this class, says—

"It is the great love of dress that leads to crime; they dress far above their situation in life. Some few follow crime as a profession, and some through poverty."

I found the buildings in good repair; the prison clean and in order. The ventilation is better than it was, but some of the cells were still very close. The pipes for the escape of the smoke and unconsumed gas is merely carried through the window, consequently, on the side exposed to the wind, the noxious air is forced back into the cell when the window is opened. These pipes should be carried to the roof of the building, as at Norwich Castle, where the system of warming the cells with gas has been very successful.

I examined the provisions, they were of good quality. The daily cost for food was 4*d.* per head. The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. There were none sick, but one prisoner died suddenly a few days prior to my visit; her sister had died in the same manner about three years before.

There has been no change in the chaplain's duties; he is assisted by the matron, who instructs the prisoners in reading and writing. The progress made by the prisoners is satisfactory. The number of punishments was 43, generally for attempts to communicate, for which the usual punishment is, stoppage of a portion of the allowance of food.

The estimated value of work done for Norwich Castle alone, viz., making, repairing, and washing linen, was 69*l.* 9*s.* 9*d.* Picking oakum and matmaking have lately been introduced, and the prisoners are at all times kept fully employed; they are also constantly supplied with books.

One prisoner complained to me that the bread was so bad she could not eat it. I tasted it, and found it very good. The surgeon and visiting justices pay much attention to the quality of the provisions, which are excellent.

I communicated with one of the visiting justices, and called his attention to the ventilation of the cells and the arrangements for carrying off the noxious air from the gas-burners. The cells are used for separate confinement, but have not yet been certified.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

NOTTINGHAM.—COUNTY GAOL.

[Inspected 20th October 1852.]

or 4 above the average of the preceding year. The commitments were 14 less than in the preceding year; the numbers being 412, compared with 426.

There were no prisoners sick on the day of inspection.

The buildings were in good repair.

Since my last inspection, 22 cells have been fitted for separate confinement, gas has been introduced into the chapel and passages, the prison warmed, and the lower part of the old prison, which was formerly very damp, has now been made fit for occupation. The wards and cells were clean, and in good order.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The daily cost per head for food was $4\frac{1}{4}d$. I examined the provisions, and found them of good quality.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good; there had been no epidemic or prevailing disease since the last inspection. Two deaths had occurred: one from disease, under which the prisoner was labouring when admitted; the other was received in a state of great exhaustion, suffering from severe injuries in the head, and died four days after admission.

There had been no liberations or removals on account of illness. The surgeon considers that the prisoners improve in health during their confinement.

There is no regular schoolmaster, but one of the turnkeys is employed during part of the day hearing the men read in classes; and in addition to the regular church services, the prisoners are assembled in the chapel, a person having been engaged to read to them from 5 to 7 P.M.

The chaplain, in answer to my inquiries, says:—

"It is difficult to test the religious progress of the prisoners, especially where, as in this prison, they are chiefly for trial, and remain very unequal periods. Many have learned to read, or to read letters, and to write, and several have improved in arithmetic during their imprisonment, while it is to be presumed that the evening readings have communicated much general knowledge to all capable of it."

The chaplain visits daily all prisoners in separate confinement, and sees the other prisoners in private when occasion requires.

In speaking of the conduct of the prisoners, the chaplain says:—

"The opportunities for misconduct have been greatly diminished of late by various improvements in the prison arrangements, viz., 'partial separation,' 'work,' 'school,' and 'evening reading.' The general conduct, especially of the convicts before they were separated and set to work, was troublesome, and occasionally refractory; but since the change, even the worst seem reclaimed to peace and orderly behaviour and disposition. When at chapel the conduct of all, with scarcely an occasional brief exception, has been uniformly attentive, orderly, and satisfactory."

He adds:—

"I think the system of separation and work lately introduced much more calculated than the old system to deter prisoners from future crime, and, so far as it is made known to them, to deter their friends and companions from following them hither."

The Governor says:—

"There has been a great improvement in the conduct of the prisoners, arising, I think, from the improved arrangements for their instruction."

Misconduct has been confined to only a few prisoners. The number of punishments during the year was 65.

There is still very little employment provided for prisoners before trial; a few are employed as shoemakers, tailors, &c., but no account is kept of the work done for the prison. Convicts awaiting their removal to a Government prison are generally employed picking oakum in their own cells.

The provisions and stores are not supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year was 24*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*

The discipline and arrangements of this prison are much improved since my last inspection; a number of cells have been fitted for separate confinement, gas has been introduced into the chapel and the passages, an evening reader has been engaged, who reads to the prisoners and instructs them in the chapel during the week-day evenings, and on Sunday evening a second service is performed, instead of sending the prisoners to bed at dusk during the winter months, as was formerly the practice.

The opportunity for corrupting communications in the day-rooms have been greatly diminished, and I have much hope that the association of prisoners in the day-rooms may shortly be discontinued altogether.

which is 36 more than the committals in the preceding year.

The increase has been principally in prisoners for malicious trespass, assaults, and under the bastardy laws ; there has been a decrease in the number of vagrants and boys committed under the Juvenile Offenders Act.

A large proportion of the prisoners are natives of the town. The recommittals are very numerous.

The buildings were in good repair. There has been no alteration either in the construction or discipline of the prison since my last report. The wards and cells were clean and in order.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality ; the daily cost per head for food was $3\frac{3}{4}d.$

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good ; there had been one death during the year, and one prisoner was pardoned on medical grounds, but in neither case was the disease created in any way by the discipline of the prison. Diarrhœa and dysentery had been very prevalent in the neighbourhood, but the prison was free from these diseases.

The usual weekly and daily services are performed in the chapel ; the chaplain sees each prisoner separately once a month, but he does not make any record in the character book. He says :—

" Generally I can put no confidence in the statements of prisoners. I find that anything like a correct knowledge must be chiefly obtained through the Governor and other officers, and therefore have not recorded any remarks in the way of a regular character book."

One of the turnkeys acts as schoolmaster ; he was seriously ill at the time of my visit, so I did not see him. The chaplain says, " I believe the schoolmaster to be qualified," but the prisoners do not make satisfactory progress.

The Governor furnished me with a list of 15 persons recently discharged from the prison who are now living respectably and earning an honest livelihood, and says :—

" I might have named several others who, I am aware, are doing well, but of the whole of the 15 I have a direct personal knowledge in each case."

The punishments awarded for prison offences were confined to a few prisoners, principally juveniles.

The numbers were :—

|---|---|
| Males | 97 |
| Females | 14 |
| Total | 111 |

Of these, three prisoners had been placed in irons for an attempt to escape from prison. I make the following extract from the Governor's journal:—

"About 2 o'clock this afternoon, J. C., R. W., and S. N., 3 prisoners for trial at the assizes, scaled the pallisades of No. 13 yard while the prisoners selected for the work were cleaning the dining-rooms—they joined the other prisoners cleaning. The officer on duty with the party was not aware that they had scaled the pallisades; he therefore allowed them to continue cleaning with the rest. When they commenced cleaning the front yard they rushed through the spring gate, closing it after them, and in an instant attacked the officer in the entrance lodge who had charge of the front door. One of the prisoners struck him with the head of a scrubbing brush, and another seized him by the throat; they then threw him down, and endeavoured to take the key of the entrance door from his pocket, but could not succeed."

The Governor and another officer soon went to his assistance, when the prisoners were secured and placed in irons.

The occurrence was reported as soon as possible to a visiting justice, who immediately attended and investigated the case, and ordered the prisoners to be placed in close confinement, and in irons.

In addition to the treadwheel, crank labour, and stone breaking, prisoners are employed as tailors, shoemakers, joiners, painters, &c., but the work done is only for the use of the prison. There is no work done for sale, neither has any account been kept by which the work done for the prison may be estimated. The prisoners are all in association; those at labour on the wheel alone are under close supervision, the others are only under such general supervision as may prevent escape.

I examined the books and accounts; they are properly kept. The principal provisions and stores, except milk and oatmeal, are supplied by contract.

The prisoners continue to pass upwards of 14 hours in bed during the winter. This and the want of proper supervision are the principal defects in the prison. A prisoner for trial charged with petty larceny was removed to the Lunatic Asylum at Derby. It appears that he was evidently of weak mind when he was committed for trial on the 4th August; he gradually became worse, until removed on the 23d September, by order of the Secretary of State.

| Number of prisoners in confinement:— | |
| Males | 95 |
| Females | 4 |
| Total | 99 |
| Average number of prisoners in 1851 | 108 |
| Number of commitments in 1851 | 607 |
| Average number in 1852 | 116 |
| Number of commitments in 1852 | 562 |

Although the number of commitments in 1851 exceeds by 45 the number committed in 1852, the daily average number in the former year was 8 less than in 1852; this arises from the longer sentences inflicted in the latter year.

The proportion of prisoners belonging to the district to those who are strangers is six to one.

Since my last inspection two new day-rooms have been built—the old day-room being converted into cells for separate confinement. A new cooking apparatus, a new warming and a new drying apparatus, have also been erected. The prison was clean and in good order throughout. The official dietary is in use. The daily cost per head for food was $3\frac{3}{8}d.$ The general health of the prisoners is good. Extra diet is issued on the recommendation of the surgeon to some of the prisoners under long sentences. There had been no death during the year. One prisoner was liberated on medical grounds.

Moral and Religious Instruction.—The chaplain's duties continue to be performed in the same satisfactory manner as noticed in my former Report. A schoolmaster has been appointed on probation to succeed the late schoolmaster, who resigned in May last; he teaches the prisoners daily from nine A.M. to twelve, and from one till half-past four in winter, and five in summer; during the remainder of his time his services are at the disposal of the Governor for the general duties of the prison. The progress made by the prisoners is, under the circumstances, satisfactory. The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be good. The number of punishments awarded was—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 137 |
| Female ditto | 8 |
| Total | 145 |

The misconduct was for the most part confined to a few prisoners, and was fully met by the ordinary prison punishments.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work on the treadwheel or at the crank machine. The following trades and employments are also carried on within the prison:—Tailoring, shoemaking, plaiting cocoa fibre for mats, knitting, and the ordinary occupations of a prison—repairing clothes, cleaning, washing, &c. The county magistrates object to the introduction of work as a means of profit to the prison. No account has been kept by which the value of the work done may be estimated.

The books and accounts are properly kept. The provisions are supplied by contract. The clothing, bedding, &c. are purchased at a public establishment under the instructions of the visiting justices.

The cost last year for the charge, maintenance, and clothing, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 18*l.* 6*s.* 10*d.* per prisoner.

One prisoner, committed for 14 days, complained that he had been kept in prison beyond the period of his sentence. I examined the commitment warrants and found he was committed on the 24th July, and that his time would therefore not expire before the 6th August.

The daily average number was 145.

The number of commitments during the year was 855, showing an increase of 9 in the average number, and 64 in the number committed as compared with the preceding year.

Most of the prisoners belong to the district, where, owing to the great scarcity of labour, there have been a great many persons out of employment.

The buildings were in good repair, clean, and in good order. The chapel accommodation is insufficient. In addition to the morning and afternoon services in the chapel on Sunday the chaplain performs a third service in the female prison. He mentioned many objections both to the situation and arrangements of the present chapel.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient; the provisions good and wholesome. The daily cost for food was 3*d.* per head. The general health of the prisoners is represented to be remarkably good. Diarrhœa had been prevalent in the neighbourhood, but there had been very few cases within the prison,

The surgeon is of opinion that the prisoners generally improve in health, and many increase in weight, during their imprisonment.

The chaplain reads prayers in the chapel daily, the male prisoners only attend. On Sunday he performs three full services (twice in the chapel and once in the female prison). He visits and superintends the schools, and sees all the prisoners frequently.

The schoolmaster attends to instruct the prisoners 6 hours daily, and appears to be well qualified for his duties. Those prisoners who remain any length of time make satisfactory progress, but those who are summarily convicted are seldom desirous of improvement.

The chaplain says :—

"I consider the system of discipline as carried out in this prison very defective, and ill calculated to deter people from the commission of crime, in that the confined space of the prison will not admit of more separation of the prisoners ; the want of greater separation has an evident tendency to produce misconduct."

The punishments awarded for prison offences were few Male 40, female 1, total 41. The misconduct generally proceeds from the unrestricted association of prisoners, the chief offences are "talking, and making a noise after the prisoners are locked up," "quarrelling," "fighting," &c. The punishments awarded were "deprivation of dinner" or "solitary confinement on reduced diet, not exceeding three days ;" with the younger prisoners "sorting oats" and picking oakum were the ordinary punishments.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work generally on the treadwheel, but the wheel was under repair at the time of my visit, and I found only 8 prisoners employed as follows:—3 basketmakers, 1 carpenter, 1 shoemaker, and 3 tailors The estimated value of work done in and for the prison last year was 68*l.* Baskets alone are made for sale; the shoemakers and tailors only make and repair the prison clothing and shoes.

I examined the books, which are properly kept; there was nothing in them to call for any special remark.

The provisions and stores are supplied by contract. The net cost for each prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 16*l.* 14*s.* 7*d.*

There were 16 prisoners in separate confinement. The rest of the prisoners were associated in the yards and day-rooms, under no regular supervision; most of them were unemployed.

The building now used as a female prison joins the boundary wall of the male prison; it is very old and apparently insecure, but I am informed no attempt to escape has ever been made.

The matron appears to be a very zealous and intelligent person. Under the management of a less efficient matron I fear much inconvenience would arise from the defective arrangements of this old building.

The chaplain complains of the exclusion of the females from the daily prayers, and the necessity for a third service on Sunday, when the females are assembled in a small room in the female prison for divine service, owing to the insufficient accommodation, and the situation of the chapel. It is most desirable that some better arrangement should be made, whereby the female prisoners may be able to attend the daily prayers and the regular services in the chapel; a third service would then be unnecessary, leaving the chaplain more time for intercourse with individual prisoners.

|---|---|
| Criminals:— | |
| Males | 69 |

| Total | 83 |

The number of commitments during the year was,—Criminals, 618; debtors, 47; showing a decrease of 29 criminals, and an increase of 10 debtors, as compared with the preceding year, when the numbers were 647 and 37 respectively.

The prisoners, with a few exceptions, are natives of the county of Suffolk.

I found the buildings in good repair, the prison clean, and the prisoners clean and orderly.

Cells are used for the separate confinement of prisoners, which have not been certified as required by the Act 2 & 3 Vict. The windows in many of the cells are very large, and so constructed that they must either be closed altogether or entirely open; they are consequently closed in bad weather, and during the night, leaving no opening whatever by which to ventilate the cells.

The prisoners rise at 7 in the winter, and are locked up for the night at 5 P.M., without any employment; and the cells not being either warmed or lighted, they are compelled to pass 14 hours in bed.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient; the provisions were of good quality. The daily cost for food was 4*d.*

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. There were no sick at the time of my visit. There had been one death during the year from natural causes. The prisoners generally improve in health and increase in weight.

The usual daily and weekly services are performed by the chaplain; he also sees all the prisoners frequently, and catechizes and examines some of the prisoners in school almost every day. The schoolmaster and mistress are well qualified for their duties. The chaplain says:—

"I examine the prisoners repeatedly, both individually and in class; their progress is satisfactory, and their conduct at chapel and in school, and at all times while under my observation, has been remarkably good."

There are in the prison 16 crank machines for hard labour, which are in constant use. Some few prisoners are also employed picking oakum; beyond this there is little or no employment. A great number of the prisoners are idle.

The books and accounts were all left in great confusion by the late Governor. No record was kept by him of the punishments, or of the receipt and issue of provisions. Some idea may be formed of the gross mismanagement when I state that the daily cost for food was more than 8*d.* per head. The Governor, schoolmaster, and three turnkeys were dismissed, and the present Governor appointed in April last: he has already done much to introduce order and regularity into the prison.

The books and accounts are now properly kept, and the daily cost for food has been reduced from upwards of 8*d.* to 4*d.* per head. The prisoners made no complaints.

I communicated with the visiting justices, and recommended that the prison should be lighted with gas, and industrial employment provided for the prisoners, who, when in association, should be under the constant supervision of an officer.

I also recommended that certain cells should be warmed, ventilated, and fitted for separate confinement.

IPSWICH BOROUGH GAOL.

[Visited 22d September 1852.]

There were 24 prisoners at the time of my visit. The number of commitments during the year was 205, which is 28 more than the previous year. This increase has been principally in the number committed for felony.

The buildings were in good repair. Alterations have been made in the female cells to fit them for separate confinements, but they have not yet been certified.

The prison was clean, and the prisoners were clean in their persons, and orderly. The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The daily cost for food was 3¾*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good; there had been no death during the year, and there were no sick at the time of my visit. One prisoner under sentence of two years' imprisonment had become insane; his case had been reported to the Secretary of State, and an order for his removal was daily expected.

The chaplain was absent on leave. The schoolmaster, who also acts as assistant turnkey, instructs the prisoners in school two hours daily. Their progress is satisfactory. The general conduct of the prisoners is good. The punishments during the year were, males 21, female 1, and were confined to the ordinary prison punishments.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour are worked on the wheel or crank; there is, at present, no other employment. I inspected the books, which are properly kept, and examined regularly by the visiting justices. The bread and meat alone are supplied by contract; all other stores are purchased when required, under the instructions of the visiting justices.

The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was 26*l.* 12*s.* 3½*d.*

There was one debtor in confinement upwards of 70 years of age; he complained of the cold, and applied to me to be allowed a fire, which I recommended should be granted, as there is no other means of warming the room he occupies.

The Governor, who was appointed in April, was formerly a cabinetmaker in the town; he had had no experience in prison discipline at the time of his appointment. I instructed him generally as to the nature of his duties. Prisoners are kept in separate confinement in cells which have not been certified, and are not in any way fitted as required by the Act 2 & 3 Vict. cap. 56.

The number of commitments was,—

|---|---|
| In 1852 | 810 |
| In 1851 | 862 |

The decrease in the year 1852 was in the vagrant class, which forms a large proportion of the number committed. It is stated that only one fourth of the prisoners belong to the district.

The drying-house, which was destroyed by fire in October last, has been rebuilt; there have been no other alterations since my last inspection. The buildings were in good repair, and the prison clean and in good order.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost per head for diet was $3\frac{1}{2}d.$

Health.—The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good. There were no deaths or removals on medical grounds during the year. I saw a prisoner subject to epileptic fits; he was very violent at times, and there was some suspicion that he was insane, proper precautions were taken, and he passed through his period of imprisonment without injury to his health.

There has been no change in the mode of imparting instruction to the prisoners, and the chaplain expresses himself well satisfied with the efficiency of the schoolmasters and the progress made by the prisoners.

The general conduct of the prisoners has been good. The punishments awarded were—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 115 | 28 | 143 |
| Debtors | 6 | — | 6 |
| | | | 149 |

The average of the preceding year was 147.

There was a decrease of 74 males, and an increase of 27 females, compared with the number of commitments in the previous year.

The decrease was principally amongst the vagrants, the increase in cases of felony.

Of 1,036 criminals, 661 were summary convictions. About one third of the number belong to the district.

The buildings were in good repair. Some of the additions recommended in my last Report have been completed. A doorway has also been made in the boundary wall, communicating with the river, for the convenience of bringing coals and whiting direct from the boats. The door is made perfectly secure, and proper precautions are taken to prevent escape when it is opened.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality. The average daily cost was less than 3*d.* per head.

The prison has been free from any epidemic disease. The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good. Those worked on the wheel fall off in weight a little, but the others improve. There was one death during the year, and two prisoners were liberated on account of illness; there was also one lunatic prisoner. But in neither of the above cases could the diseases from which they severally suffered be traced either to the locality or to the discipline of the prison. The surgeon says :—"I have never seen a disease in the prison which could be attributed to any such cause."

Moral and Religious Instruction.—A schoolmaster was appointed on the 1st November. He attends the school four days weekly for two hours on each day. When not engaged in school he is employed in the Governor's office. Previous to the appointment of the schoolmaster, the prisoners were instructed by the chaplain for nearly three years, and the progress made by those who attended regularly was very satisfactory. The prisoners are frequently visited by the chaplain.

Of 186 males and 64 females committed during the quarter ending Michaelmas last—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Could neither read nor write | 54 | 28 | 82 |
| Read and write imperfectly | 86 | 22 | 108 |
| Read and write well | 46 | 14 | 60 |
| Total | | | 250 |

Of this last class two males had received a superior education.

Of the above number 34 males and 36 females were committed for drunkenness. The youngest prisoner committed was a little girl of 11 years of age, who, like many others, was sent into the street by her parents ostensibly to beg, but really to steal. Numbers of children between 10 and 13 years of age are to be seen every morning, generally in parties of three and four, sent into the streets by their parents; they gain access to the house under some pretence, and seize the opportunity to steal anything that may come in their way.

Hull being a seaport town, there is a great variety of religious denominations amongst the prisoners committed; but the chaplain says:—

"I believe that many of those who remain some months in prison are deeply impressed with the truths of religion, and when they leave the prison it is with a firm resolution never again to subject themselves to the penalty of the law, but to lead a virtuous life. I have heard at various times of prisoners, both male and female, who, after leaving the gaol have become sober and religious characters, and are gaining a living by honest industry."

The number of punishments awarded were:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 501 |
| Female | 43 |
| Total | 544 |

The punishments were "stoppage of a portion of food," "crank labour," "or confinement in the refractory cells." The misconduct was generally confined to a very few of the prisoners. One prisoner was tried at the quarter sessions, and sentenced to 12 months further imprisonment for an assault on the head turnkey. Another prisoner, a lunatic, struck the taskmaster a violent blow on the head with an iron bar. With the assistance of some other prisoners he was fortunately secured before he could repeat the blow. Being certified by the surgeon to be insane he escaped punishment, and proper precautions were taken to prevent him from committing further violence.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour are worked on the treadwheel; the power is used to grind and make whiting. Prisoners are also employed making rugs, mats, and matting, as shoemakers, tailors, and carpenters, teasing oakum, and knitting. The clear profit to the manufactory last year was 425*l.* 2*s.* The estimated value of work done for the prison, 110*l.*

Some of these employments might be extended with advantage, provided all the prisoners in association were under the constant supervision of an officer while so employed.

I examined the journals and books; they were properly kept, and were entered up to the time of my visit. The provisions are supplied by contract.

The debtors confined in this gaol stated that the grievances complained of in the petition forwarded by them to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State, in the month of August 1851, still existed, and one debtor stated that his health had been injured by the dampness of the cells during the winter. I reported these circumstances to the Secretary of State, and some of the alterations recommended in my Report have since been carried out.

General Remarks.—Two prisoners made complaints, which, on inquiry, proved to be without foundation.

Several of the prisoners appeared to be badly disposed and dissatisfied without making any complaint; but I could discover no reasonable grounds for such a spirit, and have no doubt it was caused by the evil influence exercised by some of the old offenders who were inmates of the prison during the long illness of the late Governor. They find abundant opportunity to spread disaffection, not only at the wheel and in the whiting-sheds, but also in the sleeping-cells, as three prisoners are frequently placed together in many of the sleeping-cells. The prison only affords proper accommodation for 90 male, and 15 female criminals,—total 105; while the daily average number of prisoners during each of the last two years was 143. The Governor considers association the principal cause of misconduct, and both the Governor and chaplain speak most favourably of the effects of the separate system, so far as it has been tried in this gaol.

LEEDS.—BOROUGH GAOL.

[Visited 4th June and 19th August 1852.]

Number in confinement 19th August:—

|---|---|
| Borough prisoners:— | |
| Males | 147 |
| Females | 49 |
| Government convicts:— | |
| Males | 46 |
| Total | 242 |

The average number of borough prisoners during the year was 226 ; the average for the preceding year 232.

The number of commitments to the borough gaol was 1,333, which is 11 more than the commitments of the preceding year.

Government convicts received during the year 55.

About three fourths of the prisoners committed belong to the district.

The prison buildings were in good order. The angles of the boundary wall near the Governor's and chaplain's houses, affording facilities for escape, have been made more secure, and 75 of the cell doors have been lined with iron. There has been no further alteration in the building since my last inspection.

The general health of the prisoners has been good ; there have been 4 deaths, but in neither case could the disease be traced to any local cause. The prison has not been visited by any epidemic or contagious disease.

The duties of the chaplain are the same as described in my last Report, and continue to be performed with great regularity.

The Government convicts are instructed in their cells, the schoolmaster visiting them from cell to cell. The borough prisoners receive instruction both in their cells and in class ; the most ignorant are taught in class two days a week, for about two hours at the time, and juvenile prisoners three days a week. The other prisoners are assembled in class for catechetical instruction by the chaplain. Every prisoner who is able to read is furnished with a book from the prison library ; the books are exchanged once a week. The progress of the male prisoners is represented to be very satisfactory, that of the females not so much so ; they do not appear to take the same interest in learning as the males, but the chaplain considers this may be in some measure accounted for, the females being necessarily more employed out of their cells, in the washhouse and laundry. He says :—

" I find where there is least relaxation of the discipline the advantages of instruction are most appreciated."

The punishments awarded were as follows :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - | 364 |
| Female „ - - - - | 54 |
| Total - - - - | 418 |

These punishments were confined to 240 prisoners ; 1,148 prisoners, therefore, passed through this prison during the year who were not brought under punishment for any prison offence. The punishments awarded were, close confinement to cell on bread and water, or confinement in refractory or dark cell. Two boys were whipped with the birch rod, by order of the visiting justices.

Speaking of the conduct of the prisoners while at school and in chapel, the chaplain says:—

"It is all that could be desired; it is most pleasing to observe their extraordinary attention."

And referring to the case of a prisoner who attempted or feigned an attempt to destroy himself a few days after he was committed for trial on a charge of felony, the chaplain says:—

"He had imbibed infidel principles, and, if he really meditated self-destruction, he was, I believe, prompted thereto by a sense of shame, feeling chagrined that his conduct should have furnished such a commentary on his principles."

His mind could not have been affected by the discipline, for he had been in the prison but a few days. He was tried and sentenced to six months' imprisonment; and although he was subjected to very stringent discipline, so far was his mind from being injuriously affected, that the chaplain further says, in speaking of this prisoner:—

"Few instances have come under my observation where more beneficial mental or moral results have been produced."

Prisoners are employed at the cranks to pump water for the use of the prison; matmaking, cotton and canvas weaving, carpentering, shoemakering, tailoring, and picking wool and oakum. The clear profit of the work done by prisoners for the manufactory during the year was 863*l.* 16*s.* 11*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 262*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*, which is less than the profit in the preceding year; but the system of separate confinement is now more strictly enforced, which may satisfactorily account for the decrease.

I examined the journals, books, and accounts, which appear to be regularly kept, and there was nothing in them to call for any special remark.

Observations.—In consequence of an increased number of female prisoners, the upper range of cells in the wing usually appropriated for juvenile prisoners was occupied by females. On inquiry, I found the increase had been gradual, and was likely to continue. I therefore communicated with the magistrates, and recommended that sufficient accommodation should be provided for females distinct from the male prisoners. It was proposed by the magistrates to build some additional cells, but this proposition has been overruled by the town council.

With regard to the juvenile prisoners, I find that of 163 juveniles committed during the year, 87 (more than one half) had lost either one or both parents.

The following Tables show the number who were orphans, the opportunities for school instruction, the degree of education, and the number of recommittals :—

NORTHALLERTON HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Visited 16th April 1852.]

Present in confinement:—

|---|---|
| Males | 78 |
| Females | 19 |
| Total | 97 |

Average number during the year, 157; which is 20 below the average of the preceding year.

In the number of committals there was a decrease of 433; the numbers being in 1851, 1,843; in 1852, 1,410. The decrease was principally in the vagrant class, and may be attributed to the deterring effect of the separate system; but there is still a large proportion of vagrants, seven-eighths of the prisoners being strangers not belonging to the district.

The buildings were in good order. The alterations on the female side were progressing rapidly. When completed, the female as well as the male prisoners will all be placed in separate confinement. The drainage has been improved I called attention to the ventilation of the cells; some of them appeared to be close and confined.

The clothing and bedding were sufficient; the food of good quality; the cells clean, and the prisoners neat and cleanly in their persons.

The daily cost for maintenance, including the cost of extras for the sick, averaged 4¼*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners has been good; there has been no return of the diarrhœa or fever so prevalent before the prisoners were removed into the new buildings.

The ordinary duties of the chaplain are the same as those described in my former Report. The contemplated arrangements for extending the instruction in school have been carried out, and the chaplain expresses himself satisfied with the progress made by those prisoners who remain any time under his charge. The average attendance at school has been 25 males and 8 females, and the behaviour of the prisoners in both schools has been praiseworthy. Those prisoners who are attentive to their duties in school are in general obedient to their officers, and most cheerfully conform to the rules and regulations of the prison.

The punishments during the year were few, considering the number of vagrants subjected to the discipline. The ordinary prison punishments have been found sufficient to check all misconduct within the prison.

The punishments awarded were—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 245 |
| Female do. - - | 87 |
| Total - - - - | 332 |

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour work on the treadwheel, each in a separate stall or compartment. Prisoners for trial or not sentenced to hard labour are in separate confinement and are employed as tailors, making clogs, teasing cocoa-fibre, knitting, &c. In the early part of the year prisoners were employed as labourers on the works within the prison walls, but no return was kept to enable the Governor to estimate the value of the work done by them for the prison.

SHEFFIELD BOROUGH LOCK-UP OR POLICE STATION.

[Visited 22d May 1852.]

The cells are dark, badly ventilated, and wholly insufficient for the requirements of a large town like Sheffield. I cannot suggest any alterations in the present building, but recommend, that a new police station, with the necessary offices and cells, may be built.

There were 24 prisoners confined in these cells at the time of my visit, as follows:—Adults, 16; juveniles, 5; females, 3; and on the Monday morning preceding my visit, 55 cases (a large proportion for being drunk and disorderly in the street) were brought before the magistrates by the police.

The number apprehended for offences of a grave character has decreased since the detective police force has been established at Sheffield, but the number of drunk and disorderly have increased, especially at this time, trade being very good, they have more money to spend in drinking and dissipation.

The monthly average number confined in these cells is 350.

The cells appropriated for prisoners remanded for further examination are a little better than the others, and open into a yard where the inmates are allowed to take exercise.

SHEFFIELD DEBTORS GAOL.

[Visited 22d May 1852.]

This gaol is the property of the Duke of Norfolk. There was only one debtor confined here at the time of my visit; there had only been three during the last twelve months.

It is very desirable that debtors committed from the Sheffield County Court should be committed to this gaol instead of being sent, as at present, to York. The cost of conveying the debtor to York is charged against the creditor; many creditors are induced to forego a just claim rather than incur this expense; the badly disposed often presume on the disinclination of their creditors to proceed against them, and refuse to pay; but if there was a prison in the town to which county court debtors could be committed without an additional charge to the creditor, they would be willing to satisfy just claims without going to the court.

The assistant bailiff of the county court has charge of the prison; he receives no salary from the debtors prison, the occupation of the house being considered sufficient compensation for the charge.

WAKEFIELD HOUSE OF CORRECTION FOR THE WEST RIDING OF YORKSHIRE.

[Visited 14th and 15th October 1852.]

Number in confinement this day:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| West Riding prisoners. | 483 | 91 | 574 |
| Government convicts. | 414 | 0 | 414 |
| | | | 988 |

The number of commitments to the West Riding prison was,—Males 3,098, females 679; total 3,777, showing a decrease of 154 males and an increase of 81 females as compared with the commitments in the preceding year.

The daily average number was,—Males 503·5, females 93·8, total 597·3, besides the 400 Government convicts.

The commitments for vagrancy and assaults had increased, while there was a decrease in the number committed for felony.

About $\frac{6}{10}$ of the prisoners committed belong to the district.

There have been no alterations either in the construction or discipline of the prison since my last inspection.

The buildings were in good order.

The drainage of the separate prison is good, but I consider the ventilation of some of the cells insufficient, especially where the prisoners are working at any laborious employment. There was much dust in some of the cells where prisoners were employed separating and preparing the cocoanut fibre for the matmakers. The Governor undertook to remedy the evil.

The drainage and ventilation of the old prison and of the dark cells is defective.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "satisfactory." In the latter end of the month of July, "English cholera" and "diarrhœa" were prevalent in the neighbourhood, and the prison did not escape; several prisoners were attacked with the disease, but the epidemic did not continue long.

The surgeon of the West Riding prison says:—

"The majority of diseases that have prevailed have been various forms of scrofula, slight feverish colds, chest affections, boils and carbuncles, syphilis, and infectious cutaneous complaints; the two latter always adding materially to the aggregate number of hospital cases.

"320 prisoners were admitted into the infirmary during the year, the daily average being 20·8. The proportion of sick to the daily average number of prisoners has been 3·5 per cent. The number of deaths (five during the year) has been less than usual, showing the proportion of mortality as rather less than 1 per cent.

"Two cases of insanity have occurred which were removed to an asylum by order of the Secretary of State. In both cases I had reason to believe from their previous history that there was some mental peculiarity previous to their committal."

There were six deaths on the convict side of the prison, and four convicts were removed before the expiration of the usual period in separate confinement.

The surgeon says:—

"I consider the moistening of the air admitted into the cells and the ventilation of the gas-burners (by means of a funnel to carry the air from the burners directly into the extraction flues) to be very necessary."

He adds:—

"I some time since made certain suggestions with reference to this subject, which I believe met with the approval of the Secretary of State; and I should be glad to see them carried into effect."

At the time of my visit there were 24 prisoners sick on the West Riding side, and 18 in the convict prison.

The chaplain's duties continue to be conducted in the same satisfactory manner. The chaplain of the West Riding prison spends from five to seven hours a day in the prison. He sees the prisoners frequently both in class and in private, and superintends the schools.

He says:—

"The schoolmasters are well qualified for their office, and discharge their duties with efficiency and diligence. Many of the prisoners are not so attentive as might be desired, but upon the whole it may be said that their progress is satisfactory, and some improve very well and are thankful for the instruction given."

The chaplain of the convict department says:—

"In general the prisoners make the very best use of their privileges, but I consider the time at their disposal for mental and moral improvement too short, considering that the system is one of moral reformation, and that the chief means recognized as effectual is, moral instruction."

He states that the schoolmasters are well qualified, and that they discharge their duties to his satisfaction. The duties performed by the schoolmasters of the convict prison are as follows:—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, seven hours cellular instruction to the prisoners. On Wednesday four hours are set apart for additional instruction to the prisoners who cannot read, or who read imperfectly. The remainder of Wednesday is spent by the schoolmasters in writing up the journal and character book, and other office duties. On Saturday the chaplain catechizes the prisoners in class, the prisoners books are exchanged, and other occasional duties discharged.

During the year there were, on the convict side, 216 candidates for the Holy Communion, of whom—

|---|---|
| Withdrew after lectures | 75 |
| Deferred by chaplain | 31 |
| Admitted | 110 |
| | 216 |

The chaplain states that he has received a very interesting account from a friend (who made inquiries on the spot) respecting 109 convicts from Wakefield prison, who were embarked on board the "Hashemy," "Mount Stewart Elphinstone," and "Adelaide," all of whom were landed (those by the first-named ship at Sydney, the others at Port Phillip) in the year 1849. These prisoners had all been three years in the colony, and the report of their conduct was as follows:—

|---|---|
| Very good | 77 |
| Good | 11 |
| Conditionally pardoned | 1 |
| Indifferent | 6 |
| Bad | 6 |
| Very bad | 6 |
| Reconvicted | 2 |
| Total | 109 |

The general conduct of the prisoners in prison is represented to be good. The number of punishments with the West Riding prisoners was 784; with the Government convicts, 194. Misconduct was confined, for the most part, to a few prisoners only. The chief offences were neglect of work and attempts to communicate.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour are worked on the tread-wheel; they are also employed matmaking, weaving, tailoring, shoemaking, joiners' work, and in the ordinary labour of the prison. The profit on work done for sale during the year was—

| | £ | s. | d. |
|---|---|---|---|
| In the West Riding prison | 2,703 | 11 | 5¼ |
| In the convict prison | 1,967 | 9 | 6 |

The estimated value of work done for the former prison was, 208*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*, for the latter, 26*l.* 6*s.* 3*d.* The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for rent or repairs, was, county prisoners, 11*l.* 19*s.* 7*d.*, Government convicts, 14*l.* 8*s.* 2*d.*

NINETEENTH REPORT ON PRISONS FOR THE HOME DISTRICT.

TO THE RIGHT HONORABLE SIR GEORGE GREY,
Secretary of State for the Home Department.

General Statistics of Crime, 1853.

The Statistics for this year exhibit an improvement almost equal to that observable in the the year 1852 over the previous year. The principal decrease being found likewise in the Summary Convictions.

The numbers "for trial or tried at Assizes and Sessions" in 1852 were 27,350, in 1853, 26,804, being a decrease of 546 or 2· per cent. The Convictions as compared with the Committals are identical in their relative proportions, being in the year 1852 77·3, and in 1853 77·0 per cent.

The Summary Convictions numbered in 1852 76,547, in 1853 71,850, showing a decrease of 4,967 or 6·5 per cent., distributed as follows.

Decrease.—Game Laws, 1852 3,525, 1853 2,671 or −24·2 per cent.; Revenue Laws, 1852 987, 1853 768 or − 22·2 per cent.; Bastardy Laws, 1852 1,097, 1853 835 or − 23·9 per cent.; Vagrant Act, 1852 20,314, 1853 15,685 or − 22·8 per cent.; Malicious Trespass Act, 1852 3,499, 1853 2,938 or − 16·0 per cent.; Assaults, 1852 13,273, 1853 12,988 or − 2·1 per cent.; Want of Sureties 1852 3,818, 1853 3,390 or − 11·2 per cent.; Reputed Thieves, 1852 3,993, 1853 3,852 or − 3·5 per cent.

Increase.—Military Prisoners, 1852 42, 1853 208 or + 395·2 per cent.; Larceny Act, 1852 1,586, 1853 1,604 or + 1·1 per cent.; Police Act, 1852 6,646, 1853 8,627 or + 29·8 per cent. All not before included 1852 17,767, 1853 18,014; in this class the convictions under the Militia Acts are included amounting to 244, which, when deducted reduce the numbers to 17,780, exhibiting a very trifling increase upon the preceding year.

Juvenile Offenders.—The prisoners under 17 years of age for trial or tried at Assizes and Sessions in 1852 were 2,222, in 1853 2,105, being a decrease of 117 or 5·2 per cent.; the summary convictions were in 1852 9,599, and in 1853 9,348, showing a decrease of 251 or 2·6 per cent.

Recommittals.—The number of recommittals in 1852 were 34,596, in 1853 33,565, showing a decrease of 3·0 per cent. The juvenile prisoners recommitted stand thus, 1852 4,140, 1853 3,821, being a decrease of 319 or 7·7 per cent.

Pardons on Medical Grounds.—The pardons on medical grounds in 1852 were 73, in 1853 77, an increase of 4 or 5·4 per cent.; their ages were as follows:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 12 Years and under | 17 | - | 2 |
| 17 „ | 21 | - | 15 |
| 21 „ | 30 | - | 31 |
| 30 „ | 45 | - | 19 |
| 45 „ | 60 | - | 7 |
| 60 and upwards | | - | 3 |
| | Total | - | 77 |

Deaths.—The number of deaths among the prison population in England and Wales were respectively 1852 184, and 1853 216, exhibiting a much higher rate of mortality in the latter year. Upon reference to Table No. 50. of the analysis, it will be seen that this increase arises principally from deaths by Cholera, 10 under the head of "diseases of the brain and nervous system," and by 6 under that of "diseases of the lungs and heart." Their ages at the time of decease were,—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 12 Years and under | 17 | - | 21 |
| 17 „ | 21 | - | 32 |
| 21 „ | 30 | - | 64 |
| 30 „ | 45 | - | 61 |
| 45 „ | 60 | - | 26 |
| 60 and upwards | | - | 21 |
| | Total | - | 216 |

Cases of Lunacy.—The number of lunatics in 1852 was 108, in 1853 132, being an increase of 24 or 22·2 per cent.

State of Instruction.—It will be seen by the following Table from 1850 to 1853 inclusive, giving the proportions which the uneducated Criminals bear to the total numbers, how trifling a progress, if any, can be said to be made in this important branch. The calculations are based upon the total numbers for trial, or tried at the assizes and sessions, and the summary convictions together for the four enumerated years.

First Class diet is given to convicted prisoners confined for any term not exceeding 10 days;—Second Class diet to convicted prisoners for any term exceeding 10 days and not exceeding 1 month;—Third Class diet to convicted prisoners employed at hard labour for terms exceeding one month, but not more than 6 weeks; and convicted prisoners not employed at hard labour for terms exceeding 1 month but not more than 4 months. Fourth Class diet to convicted prisoners employed at hard labour for terms exceeding 6 weeks, but not more than 4 months, and convicted prisoners not employed at hard labour for terms exceeding 4 months. Fifth Class diet to convicted prisoners employed at hard labour for terms exceeding 4 months Sixth Class,—Prisoners sentenced by court to solitary confinement, the ordinary diet of their class. Seventh Class;—Prisoners for examination before trial, and misdemeanants of the 1st division, who do not maintain themselves, the same as Class 4. Eighth Class,—Destitute debtors, the same as Class 4. Ninth Class,—Prisoners under punishment for prison offences, for terms not exceeding 3 days, 1 lb. of bread per diem. Prisoners in close confinement for prison offences under the provisions of the 42d section of the Gaol Act are allowed the same diet as Class 2.

Note.—When potatoes cannot be obtained, or become deteriorated or scarce, rice to be substituted. 4 oz. of uncooked rice are equivalent to 1 lb. of potatoes. Where the males have 4 oz. of rice the females will have 3 oz. Boys under 14 years of age to be placed on the same diet as females. The gruel to contain 2 oz. of oatmeal per pint, seasoned with salt. For supper on Sundays, 1 oz. of cheese for males, and ¾ of an oz. for females and boys, in lieu of gruel (as it is only by this arrangement that the cooks at the county prison can attend divine service.)

The male prisoners receive 2 pounds 2½ oz. of good bread, and the females the same quantity of bread per day and 1 penny after committal for trial per day, after trial they are taken charge of by the governor of the city gaol.

The male prisoners sentenced to hard labour are allowed 2 pounds of bread per day after the first week, 1 pint of soup and 1 pint of gruel, females 1½ pounds of bread per day, and 1 pint of soup, and one pint of gruel. Male and female prisoners, employment not being hard labour, are allowed 2 pounds of bread per day and 1 pint of soup 4 days in the week, and 1 pint of gruel each day. Those not employed, the same quantity of bread per day, but only 1 pint of soup 4 days in the week.

Note.—The soup to be made with meat and vegetables; 18 lbs of meat to make 30 quarts, thickened with peas.

There is no regular dietary, but each prisoner is allowed 6*d*. per day.

NINETEENTH REPORT OF THE INSPECTORS OF PRISONS.

II.—NORTHERN AND EASTERN DISTRICT.

TO THE RIGHT HON. THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE HOME DEPARTMENT.

Uffington, Stamford,
21st April 1856.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to present the Nineteenth Annual Report of the Inspector of Prisons for the Northern and Eastern District.

There is still a great want of uniformity both in the construction and discipline of the prisons in this district, prisoners under the same sentence are, in consequence, frequently subjected to very unequal punishment—not only in the same county—but in many instances even in the same prison.

The magistrates for the county of Lancaster some time since appointed a committee of their body, to report on the prison accommodation and discipline within the county; in their Report the committee state, "After a full consideration "of the subject referred to us, we have come to an unanimous "opinion that the separate system of confinement is worthy "of adoption, as the best and most improved plan of prison "discipline." Upon the recommendation of this committee, new wings were built to the Houses of Correction at Preston and Kirkdale, the former comprising 168 and the latter 162 cells, which have been certified under the provisions of the Act 2 & 3 Vict. cap. 56.

In both these prisons the separate system of confinement is carried out to the extent of the accommodation thus afforded, but there are also 142 cells at Preston, and 199 at Kirkdale, which are wholly unfit for separate confinement, the prisoners who occupy these cells are therefore exposed to the corrupting influence of the associated system.

The magistrates for the county observing the evils of a mixed system of discipline, appointed another committee, who made their report to the Quarter Sessions in April 1853, recommending an extension of the separate system by the construction of a new range of cells at Preston and Kirkdale, and by alterations in the old cells in Lancaster Castle.

The sum of 900*l.* has been voted to carry out the recommendation of the committee in Lancaster Castle, but no further steps have been taken to improve the prisons at Preston or Kirkdale.

A new range of cells on the separate system has been built for female prisoners both at Knutsford and Northallerton, and additional cells have been fitted and certified for separate confinements, for limited periods, in Cambridge County Gaol, Chester Castle, Norwich Castle, and in Yarmouth Borough Gaol. At Louth and Spilsby, new workrooms have been built in which prisoners may be employed under supervision; and of the district generally I may say, a progressive improvement has been observable, except in the city prisons at York and Norwich, and in the County House of Correction at Kirton Lindsay.

There has been a general increase in the number of female prisoners, but the number of male prisoners has continued to decrease in all the prisons in the district, except the four Borough Gaols of Cambridge, Chester, Lincoln, and Yarmouth.

In the neighbourhood of Norwich, five gentlemen (magistrates for the county) have built a farm school capable of accommodating 40 inmates, and with about 32 acres of land attached to the farm, which it is proposed to cultivate by spade labour.

The original object was to provide moral and industrial training and employment for young men and boys under 21 years of age, on their discharge from prison; but it has since been determined to bring the institution within the provisions of the Act 17 & 18 Vict. cap. 86. The building is admirably adapted for such a purpose; it is built in the form of a quadrangle, the general day-rooms and dormitories all look inwards into a court-yard, which is closed in at night by a large double door, the apartments of the head master and labour master being on either side of the entrance.

The institution is built on the property of Mr. Wright, one of the gentlemen above referred to, and being within half a mile of his house has the advantage of his constant superintendence.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
HERBERT P. VOULES,
Inspector of Prisons.

REPORTS ON SEPARATE PRISONS.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE.

CAMBRIDGE.—COUNTY GAOL.

[Visited 14th January and 1st November 1853.]

|---|---|
| Criminals - - - - - - - | 42 |
| Debtors - - - - - - - | 9 |
| | 51 |

The female prisoners continued to be sent to the Town Gaol.

There has been a considerable decrease in the number of prisoners committed during the year, the numbers being 418 in the year 1852, and 305 last year. The returns are further satisfactory, as showing an almost total absence of grave offences ; there was one case of arson, the other offences were all of a comparatively light character ; a large proportion were summary convictions, and more than one half the number so convicted were sentenced for periods not exceeding 21 days. There was no decrease in the number of boys committed ; they amounted to one eighth of the whole number of commitments.

The decrease may, in a great measure, be attributed to emigration, which has been considerable, leaving ample employment for those who remain.

I found the buildings in good order ; the ventilation and drainage good. Alterations in the infirmary had been made, and the sinks for washing removed from the day rooms, as recommended on my last inspection ; six cells have been fitted and certified for separate confinement for limited periods ; eight other cells are being altered for the same purpose.

There has been no alteration in the diet, clothing, or bedding. The provisions were of good quality ; the daily cost for food was $3\frac{1}{2}d.$ per head.

The general health of the prisoners has been good ; there had been one death (from epilepsy), and three prisoners had been liberated on medical grounds, all three consumptive patients, under sentence for long periods. In neither case was the disease apparent when the prisoners were admitted.

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain. The hours for instruction in school are the same, and the schoolmaster continues to assist in the general duties of the prison. The chaplain considers the progress made by the prisoners to be equal to what may be "reasonably expected." Of the whole number (305) committed during the year,—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Could neither read nor write when admitted | - | - | 113 |
| „ read only „ | - | - | 120 |
| „ read or write imperfectly „ | - | - | 70 |
| „ read and write well „ | - | - | 2 |
| Total | - | - | 305 |

Of 287 prisoners who were brought more particularly under the notice of the chaplain, he states 172 were never in gaol before, 63 were in gaol once before, 16 twice, 12 three times, 11 four times, 3 five times, 3 six times, 3 seven times, 2 eight times, 1 ten times, and 1 fourteen times.

The conduct of the prisoners was "generally good." The number of punishments for prison offences was 56; the most severe punishment, confinement in a light cell for three days on bread and water.

The treadwheel was not at work when I inspected the prison, but all the prisoners were fully employed. Most of the prisoners received in this gaol are agricultural labourers, and being committed for short periods there is little or no work done for sale. The estimated value of work done by prisoners for the prison was 154*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.*

I examined the journals and other books; they were all entered up to the day of my visit, and the accounts appear to be properly kept.

Both the Governor and the chaplain of the gaol report favourably of the separate system, so far as it is carried out in this prison. The chaplain recommends that it may be extended as far as practicable; and in his report to the magistrates he says:—"Separate confinement is in reality the only regu-"lation in this prison that deserves the name of discipline." The Governor says:—"It is desirable, on account of its deter-"ring effect, that as many cells as the nature of the building "will admit of should be adapted for carrying out the sepa-"rate system. Out of the 305 criminals committed during "the year, 250 were placed in separate confinement in the "22 cells already certified."

The cells are small, and have therefore only been certified for periods not exceeding one month. In no case has any prisoner been kept in separate confinement for a period exceeding 28 days. The ventilation of the cells is good. The thermometer stood at 60° when I inspected the prison, and it was not lower than 55° during the preceding winter.

CAMBRIDGE.—TOWN GAOL.

[Inspected 2d November 1853.]

Number of prisoners in confinement on the day of inspection:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals - - - | 34 | 12 | 46 |
| Debtors - - - | 6 | 0 | 6 |
| | | | 52 |

There was a slight increase in the number of commitments, principally, I am sorry to observe, in the number of prisoners committed for trial for serious offences.

The buildings were in good order. The ventilation and drainage have been considerably improved. The division wall in the corridor of the female ward has been removed, as noticed on the male side, in my last report.

There has been no alteration in the clothing, bedding, or the diet; the provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of the food was 4*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners has been good. No prisoner was sick on the day of inspection; neither had there been any death, or removal on medical grounds, during the year. The surgeon in his annual report says:—

"Some cases of unimportant illness have appeared, but none "contagious or requiring especial notice. The cleanliness, ventila- "tion, drainage, and general state of the gaol are good, and might "be submitted to the nicest inspection; nor are there any points "to which I have occasion to call the attention of the magistrates."

The late chaplain having resigned, the Rev. Mr. Barham has been appointed to succeed him. He has been twelve months in office, and states:—

"I have great satisfaction in stating that, notwithstanding the "lamentable ignorance which prevailed amongst the majority of the "prisoners, I have found them almost without exception willing to "receive instruction, and apparently grateful for the means I em- "ployed for their reformation. I have never had any difficulty in "forming a class; on the contrary, the prisoners have come forward

"spontaneously to solicit instruction, and have made a progress "quite commensurate with my expectations."

The general conduct of the prisoners has been satisfactory. The punishments awarded for prison offences were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 19 |
| Females | 1 |
| Total | 20 |

There were no offences of a grave character.

All the repairs and alterations within the prison have been executed by prisoners; they are also employed mat making, picking coir and oakum, and in making and mending the prison clothing and shoes. The clear profit on work done for sale during the year was 32*l.* 9*s.* 4*d.*, and the estimated value of work done for the prison was 83*l.* 1*s.* 3*d.*

I examined the books, which were entered up to the day of inspection. The accounts are properly kept and audited. The provisions, fuel, and stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for repairs, was 20*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.*

The separate system has now been two years in operation in this prison, and has produced a great change in the conduct of the prisoners, not only while under restraint within the walls, but the Governor refers to one or two cases of prisoners who, having been subjected to the discipline for a period of one year, are living honestly and respectably since their discharge, giving satisfaction to their employers. The chaplain also speaks with much confidence of the effect of the discipline. The prisoner "John Newitts," referred to in my last report, and who has now been 11 years confined in the prison, has conducted himself better during the past year, but is still subject to occasional fits of excitement.

CAMBRIDGE BOROUGH POLICE STATION.

[Inspected 3d November 1853.]

The police station has been removed to the buildings adjoining the spinning house; these buildings afford ample accommodation for the police, and cells for the prisoners. I suggested some alterations with a view to give more light and ventilation in the passages.

The number of prisoners confined during the year was 402, which is 72 below that of the preceding year; of these 48 were committed for trial; 187 were summarily convicted, and 167 were discharged.

The cells were clean and in good order.

ELY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 13th December 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| Males. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|
| 13 | 1 | 14 |

The daily average number was 18; 10 below the average of the preceding year. The number of committals was—showing a decrease of 27 males, and an increase of 4 females. The low average in the early part of the year may be accounted for, the late Governor being at that time under suspension, the prisoners for trial at the April sessions were sent to Wisbeach. The present Governor was appointed on the 23d of May.

| Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|

There have been no alterations in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection. The window at the west end of the corridor, through which the two prisoners effected their escape in November 1852, had not been made secure at the time of my visit; but the Governor assured me that it had been determined to fix some iron bars outside immediately, to effect that object.

The Governor appointed to succeed Mr. Lipscomb was formerly a superintendent of the county police; he appears to be well qualified for the office.

The wards, cells, and all parts of the prison were clean and in good order; the provisions were of good quality; the daily cost of the food was 3¼*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners has been good; there was one male prisoner under medical treatment at the time of my visit to the prison,

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain. He expresses himself well satisfied with the turnkeys, who continue to instruct the prisoners in their cells; the progress made by the prisoners is satisfactory. The chief turnkey instructs the more advanced prisoners, while the under turnkey attends to those who are just learning to read and write. They receive 7*l.* 10*s.* per annum each, for this additional duty.

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be orderly and submissive; they made no complaints. The number of punishments for prison offences was 26. Mat making has been extended, and some prisoners were mending the prison clothes, but they are not all kept fully employed, and having no light in their cells they continue to pass too much time in bed during the winter.

The clear profit on work done by the prisoners was 10*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*; the estimated value on work done for the prison was 16*l.* 5*s.*

The net cost per prisoner last year was unusually high, 35*l.* 17*s.* 10¼*d.*, including the charge for repairs, rates, and taxes, &c., and without deducting the profit on the labour of the prisoners. The following statement shows the net cost under each distinct head :—

Total Expenditure for the Year ending Michaelmas 1853.

| | Total cost. | | | Cost Per Prisoner. | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | £ | s. | d. | £ | s. | d. |
| Total cost of prison diet, including extra allowances | 89 | 11 | 4¼ | 4 | 19 | 6¼ |
| Clothing and bedding | 16 | 8 | 6½ | 0 | 18 | 3 |
| Fuel, gas, candles, and oil | 40 | 4 | 7 | 2 | 4 | 8¼ |

WISBEACH.—HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 6th December 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

|---|---|
| Male | 26 |
| Female | 9 |
| Total | 35 |

There was a decrease of 113 in the number of committals during the year. This may be attributed chiefly to emigration, a great number having emigrated from the district.

No alterations have been made either in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection; but the drainage was about to be improved. The ventilation is good. There had been one death; a prisoner who died from abscess on the side. The general health of the prisoners was represented to be good. There was one prisoner, a female, sick at the time of my visit.

There is still no regular schoolmaster; but the Governor instructs the male prisoners, and last year received a gratuity of 15*l.* for this extra duty. In reply to my inquiry, whether the prisoners make satisfactory progress in religious and secular knowledge, the chaplain states, "I am satisfied they do to "an extraordinay degree."

The number of punishments for prison offences was :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 299 |
| Females | 14 |
| Total | 313 |

They were generally for talking, idleness, or want of cleanliness. Some prisoners are still employed sorting oats; but in addition to the making and repairing the prison clothes and shoes, sack making has been introduced. The clear profit on receipts for this kind of work was 8*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 27*l.* 14*s.* 9*d.* All the provisions, fuel, and other stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for repairs, &c., was 26*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.*; showing an increase of 7*l.* 2*s.* 6¼*d.* on the cost of the preceding year.

I again called the attention of the visiting justices to the absence of any artificial light in the cells; the prisoners are locked up at dusk, and continue to pass too much time in bed.

The practice of eating opium is indulged to a great extent in this district. One woman, who had been accustomed to take extraordinary quantities before she came to prison, felt the deprivation so keenly that she made an attempt to destroy herself. She had been some time in the prison when I saw her, and expressed herself as feeling very thankful for having been broken of the habit, though she represented the deprivation as having, at first, "almost made her mad." The prisoners generally are of a very low standard, both as regards morals and intellect, this is in some measure attributed to the free use of this drug. I found one prisoner who had been 27 times in this gaol. He is represented to be a quiet well-disposed man, until he is either drunk or under the influence of opium.

CHESHIRE.

CHESTER CASTLE.

[Inspected 28th June 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals - - - | 76 | 21 | 97 |
| Debtors - - - | 17 | — | 17 |
| | | | 114 |

The daily average number was 110 criminals and 14 debtors.

The commitments were, 327 criminals and 145 debtors; showing a decrease of 101 criminals, and an increase of 6 debtors.

Since the last inspection 12 cells have been fitted for separate confinement, and 5 cells have been ventilated and made fit to be occupied as punishment cells.

The prison was in good order and repair throughout. The provisions were of good quality; the daily cost of the food was 4¾*d.* per head. The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "good;" there were 5 deaths during the year, one of which was a cripple of weak intellect, who committed suicide. I found 4 prisoners under medical treatment on the day of inspection. No prisoner made any complaint.

The usual weekly and daily services are performed by the chaplain; who in addition to the visits to the prisoners in their cells, sees and converses with them in private, in his office, seeing six prisoners daily. The progress made by the prisoners is satisfactory.

The punishments awarded for prison offences were :—

| Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|
| 200 | 16 | 216 |

principally for neglect of work, talking, and other minor prison offences.

All convicted prisoners are fully employed. The clear profit on work done by prisoners for sale was, 209*l.* 9*s.* 3*d.*; the estimated value of work done for the prison was 460*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.*

The provisions are all supplied by contract. Most of the clothing is made, and the shirting, &c. is manufactured, in the prison. The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for repairs, &c., was 18*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*

Both the Governor and the chaplain refer to several discharged prisoners for whom situations have been obtained by the authorities, they continue to give satisfaction, and are doing well.

CHESTER.—CITY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 27th June 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| | Males | Fem. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 55 | 19 | 74 |
| Debtors | 4 | — | 4 |
| | | | 78 |

The number of committals during the year was :—

|---|---|
| Males | 340 |
| Females | 185 |

showing an increase of 34 males and 25 females compared with the preceding year; the number of debtors was the same. The prison was unusually full at this time, a number of persons having been committed for gambling at the races.

The ventilation is defective, especially in the cells occupied by female prisoners, and there appears to be much difficulty in making any improvement, without opening a communication into the wards occupied by male prisoners. The woodwork in the cells of the female prison is old, and harbours bugs. I called the attention of the visiting justices to these defects; and I also pointed out to the surveyor defects in the drainage, and the want of proper traps to the drains. The surgeon represents the general health of the prisoners to be "very satisfactory." There had been no death or removal on medical grounds. The provisions were of good quality; the daily cost of the food was 6*d.* per head. Two prisoners complained that they had not been supplied with flannel shirts to wear while their own were washing. I wrote to the visiting justices, recommending that flannel shirts should be issued weekly, with the clean linen, to those prisoners who had been in the habit of wearing them.

The usual weekly and daily services are performed by the chaplain, who also superintends the schools, and instructs the prisoners in class once a week, examining them from time to time as to their progress. He states:—

"I do believe several have made considerable progress in religious knowledge, and numbers have been discharged from the gaol who could read and write very well, but knew nothing at the time of their admission."

The number of punishments awarded for prison offences was 240, to male prisoners only; the offences were chiefly negligence and idleness at work, and insolence to the officers.

Prisoners are employed breaking stones, mat making, and picking oakum. When breaking stones they are associated in a shed, under the supervision of an officer; but he is not able to prevent all communication between them. No account is kept at the prison by which the value of the work done by prisoners, either for sale or for the use of the prison, may be estimated.

The bread and meat are supplied by contract. The stores are purchased from time to time as required, under the direction of the visiting justices. Cells are used for separate confinement, which have not been certified; and the cells not being lighted, the prisoners pass too much time in bed.

KNUTSFORD.—COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 29th June 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 206 |
| Female | 78 |
| Total | 284 |
| The daily average number was | 303 |
| The number of committals | 2037 |

an increase of 5 on the whole number compared with the preceding year; but there was a decrease of 79 in the number of male prisoners committed, while the female commitments had increased by 84.

The number of juveniles committed during the year was 252, of which number 85 were committed for trial, and 167 were summarily convicted.

In this neighbourhood, boys who are disposed to work have no difficulty in obtaining employment. They may earn 5*s.*, and some even 8*s.* or 9*s.* per week; but many are tempted to run away from their parents by women of bad character, who soon lead them into crime.

The new Female Prison has been completed, and occupied by prisoners; considerable progress has also been made with the Debtors' Gaol. I found the prison in good order throughout. The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "exceedingly good." There had been one death during the year, and two cases of insanity; one a prisoner for trial, the other under summary conviction. There was nothing in either of these cases to lead to the belief that the minds or health of the prisoners had been in any way affected by the discipline of the prison. The ventilation and drainage are good. The provisions were of good quality; the daily cost of the food was $3\frac{1}{8}d.$ per head. Of 818 prisoners weighed, both on admission and discharge from prison,

406 lost weight (but the loss was seldom more than 4 or 5 lbs.),
300 gained in weight, and
92 weighed the same as when admitted.

In addition to the duties detailed in my former Reports, the chaplain sees all prisoners, frequently, in private, superintends the schools, and catechizes and examines the prisoners. The schoolmaster and schoolmistress are qualified for their duties, and perform them satisfactorily.

The number of punishments for prison offences was:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 1,437 |
| Female - - - - | 229 |
| Total - - - | 1,666 |

Misconduct was for the most part confined to juveniles and vagrants. There had been one case of corporal punishment.

Prisoners sentenced to hard labour, work on the treadmill and crank machine, and in weaving, joinering, smiths' work, and mat making. Prisoners are also employed woolpicking, woolsorting, picking oakum, shoemaking, and tailoring. The clear profit on work done by the prisoners for sale was 473*l.* 9*s.* $4\frac{1}{2}d.$; the estimated value of work done for the prison was 520*l.* 1*s.* 2½*d.* The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for the alterations and repairs, and after deducting the prisoner's labour, was 11*l.* 12*s.* 0½*d.*, which is considerably below the average of the prisons in England.

DERBYSHIRE.

DERBY.—COUNTY AND BOROUGH GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 23d May 1853.]

Number of Prisoners in confinement on the day of Inspection:

| | Criminals. | Debtors. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Males | 146 | 16 | 162 |
| Females | 16 | 2 | 18 |
| | | | 180 |
| Sick :— | | | |
| Males | 12 | 0 | |
| Females | 0 | 3 | |
| | | | 15 |

There was a decrease of 43 in the number of criminals, and an increase of 90 in the number of debtors committed during the year. The decrease was principally in the vagrant class. There have been no alterations in the prison since my last Report. The prison was clean and in good order.

I examined the provisions, and found them of good quality. The daily cost for food was 4½*d.* per head. The surgeon says, "The food is very good, and generally sufficient. In some cases "extra food is allowed; when a prisoner loses weight or "is ill." The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. No prisoner had died, or been liberated on medical grounds, during the year.

The chaplain states, that the schoolmaster, who had been only recently appointed when I last visited the prison, discharges the duties of the office to his satisfaction, and the progress made by the prisoners both in religious and secular knowledge is satisfactory. Two prisoners complained to me that they were not allowed to attend school. I inquired into the particulars, and consider they were properly excluded; but I recommended the chaplain to admit them to the Sunday class.

Prisoners continue to be fully employed. The clear profit on work done for sale was 650*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 620*l.* 14*s.* 3¼*d.* The workshops are well arranged, and all the prisoners are under constant supervision while at labour, but are not so in the yards and day rooms. The net cost per prisoner, exclusive of any charge for repairs, was 22*l.* 15*s.* 5¾*d.*

Misconduct in the prison was for the most part confined to juvenile prisoners. The punishments awarded were:—

There had been two cases of corporal punishment.

A young girl, who has been constantly in this prison, was re-committed by the magistrates for a month, for wilfully destroying the prison property. She was very violent, breaking all the windows of her cell and everything that came in her way. She had been sent home to her friends, and subsequently to a female penitentiary, but ran away from both, returning to her old haunts on the streets of Derby, and soon found her way back to prison. Her case appears to be almost hopeless.

A prisoner, T. G., complained that he had been struck by one of the officers. On inquiry, it appeared that the prisoner refused to leave his cell, and attacked with great violence an officer who was sent to bring him out. The chief turnkey came to the officer's assistance, and struck the prisoner with his staff. I recommended that on all occasions when it became necessary to remove a refractory prisoner, two officers at least should be ordered for the duty, in order to prevent any violence.

|---|---|
| Males | 216 |
| Females | 46 |
| Total | 262 |

A decrease of 65 males and an increase of 14 female prisoners compared with the preceding year. The decrease was in the number committed for trial, and for malicious trespass and assaults. There was a slight increase in the number of vagrants.

There has been no alteration in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection. There is still very little industrial employment, and the prisoners continue to pass far too much time in bed. The ventilation and drainage are both very good. There had been no death, or removal on medical grounds.

The following is a summary of cases of sickness for the last ten years:—

| Year. | No. of Prisoners. | On Sick List during the Year. | Infirmary Cases. | Extra Diet. | Deaths. | Certified Insane. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1844 | 300 | 223 | 7 | 68 | — | 2*a* |

| 1853 | 273 | 47 | 8 | 18 | — | — |

a All cases of insanity have either been relapses or insane when admitted.
b At this time the diet was increased.
c Sixty-one of these were admitted cases of syphilis.
d During this year the separate system was introduced. In 1848 scurvy disappeared from the gaol.

There is still no regularly appointed schoolmaster, but the prisoners are instructed by one of the turnkeys.

The chaplain states: —

"The person who is engaged to instruct the prisoners is fully competent to the undertaking; his duties are discharged to my satisfaction. The progress made by the prisoners is an evidence of his fitness for the office."

One prisoner made a complaint. I communicated with a visiting justice, and on inquiry found it to be groundless.

I find the practice of sorting oats still carried on in this prison, though it is now generally confined to those prisoners who misconduct themselves. The Governor in a great measure attributes the decrease in the number of re-committals to this employment, as prisoners re-committed were formerly so employed. I expressed my opinion that the decrease may rather be traced to "separate confinement;" and I strongly recommended that some industrial employment should be substituted both for sorting oats and crank labour. There are three cranks in the prison; two were in the female cells, and I found they had been occasionally used by female prisoners. On my recommendation they were at once removed.

The number of punishments was great; generally "supper stopped" for idleness in not performing the appointed task. The number was:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 667 |
| Female | 33 |
| Total | 700 |

I communicated with the visiting justices on the subject of the punishments, and recommended that the Governor should more frequently apply for their interference, especially in cases of repeated misconduct.

The books and accounts are properly kept. The estimated value of work done for the prison was 4*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.* There was no work done for sale. The daily cost of the food was 4*d.* per head; the net cost per prisoner last year was 24*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*

The number of boys under 15 years of age had increased from 71 in 1852 to 119 in 1853. There was a decrease in the number between 15 and 20 years; a considerable increase in those between 20 and 30, and a decrease in the number of all other ages.

The recommittals during the year amounted to 762. Of these 92 had been in separate confinement during their previous terms of imprisonment.

There has been no alteration either in the construction or the discipline of the prison since the last inspection. The provisions were of good quality and sufficient; the daily cost for food was nearly 3½*d.* per head. The general health of the prisoners was good; with the exception of scrofulous cases, they improve in health during their confinement.

Two deaths had occurred during the year, both from consumption, and one prisoner had been liberated on medical grounds. There had also been three cases of insanity, as follows:—

J. D., Insane when committed to the gaol for murder, on the 14th June 1847.
„ Removed to Lancaster Lunatic Asylum, 24th June 1847.
„ Returned to the gaol as sane, 29th May 1850.
„ Removed to the asylum, 14th December 1852.
G. S., Insane when committed to gaol for arson, 18th May 1853.
„ Removed to Rainhill Asylum, 22d August 1853.
S. B., Insane when committed to gaol for inflicting grievous bodily harm, 17th May 1853.
„ Removed to Lancaster Asylum, 10th September 1853.

The chaplain states:—

"There has been no change of any kind in the gaol during the past year. Every thing has gone on in the same uniform train of order and regularity. The same instruction, both secular and religious, has been given, and much progress has been made by many of the prisoners in both."

The chaplain adds:—

"I should wish the separate stalls in the chapel removed, as having quite failed of the object for which they were intended, and, I fear, rather favouring than preventing communication between the prisoners."

The punishments awarded were mostly to prisoners under summary conviction, for not completing the task of work assigned to them.

The number of punishments were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 4,771 |
| Females | 478 |
| Total | 5,249 |

Some of the prisoners sentenced to hard-labour are worked on the cranks, pumping up the water for the use of the prison. Prisoners are also employed weaving, mat-making, picking oakum; as smiths, tailors, shoemakers, joiners, tin-workers, making clogs, &c. Females are employed making shirts, knitting, washing, mending, &c. The clear profit on work done for sale was 728*l.* 10*s.* 5*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 992*l.* 2*s.* 2*d.*

All prisoners are kept fully employed, and those in association are under constant supervision.

The provisions and fuel are supplied by contract. The average cost was 17*l.* 15*s.* 11*d.* per head.

The committee of magistrates appointed to inquire into the prison accommodation and prison discipline in the county, in their report recommend that the separate system may be extended in this prison. There is at present accommodation in separate cells for 162 prisoners, while the prison affords further accommodation for 351 male prisoners and 151 females in association. It is to be hoped that the recommendations of the committee may shortly be carried out in this and in the other gaols in the county.

LANCASTER CASTLE.

[Inspected 18th August 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 11 | 60 | 71 |
| Debtors | 100 | 2 | 102 |
| | | | 173 |

The number of committals during the year was:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 66 | 235 | 301 |
| Debtors | 554 | 14 | 568 |
| | | | 869 |

The number in the preceding year was:—

|---|---|
| Criminals | 553 |
| Debtors | 587 |
| | 1,140 |

The decrease has been chiefly in the number of summary convictions.

In the above number of criminals are included several persons sent from the House of Correction at Preston to be tried at the assizes and sessions, and also some persons committed for want of sureties, who have remained in custody only a very few days. The number confined for different terms of imprisonment was :—

|---|---|
| Males - - - - - | 20 |
| Females - - - - - | 213 |
| Total - - - | 233 |

Of this number, 10 males and 129 females had never been in prison before.

There has been no alteration in the buildings, or in the discipline of the prison, since the last inspection; but at the last sessions a sum of 900*l.* was voted to carry out the alterations recommended by the committee of county magistrates.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. There had been one death (a debtor), and one female had been removed to a lunatic asylum She was tried at the Lent Assizes for attempting to drown her three children, but was acquitted on the ground of insanity, and removed by order of the Secretary of State to the Lancashire Lunatic Asylum.

The venerable chaplain continues to perform his duties with the same regularity and zeal. In addition to his ordinary duties, he this year had under his charge a prisoner who underwent the extreme penalty of the law for murdering his wife. The prisoner was confined in the Castle before trial, and was altogether four months under the instruction of the chaplain, who states, " I had considerable consolation in finding him on " his first admission to the gaol tractable and teachable ;" and he proceeds to point out the great advantage of committing immediately to the county gaol all persons charged with capital offences, that the chaplain may make himself well acquainted with their feelings.

The general conduct of the prisoners and debtors is represented to be satisafctory.

The punishments awarded were :—

|---|---|
| Male - - - - - | 1 |
| Females - - - - | 8 |
| Total - - - | 9 |

The average number of male criminals was less than 5, there was therefore very little employment for them beyond cleaning and other duties of the prison. The female prisoners were employed knitting, sewing, picking cotton, teazing hair, clogging, tailoring, and in the laundry and cook-house. The clear profit on work done for sale was 35*l.* 9*s.* 1*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 137*l.* 15*s.*

The provisions and stores are all supplied by contract; the net cost last year, exclusive of any charge for repairs, was 17*l.* 17*s.* 9¾*d.* per head.

I found the Debtors' Gaol in good order; no debtor made any complaint.

In the Governor's journal I observe four cases in which the friends of debtors had been detected endeavouring to bring spirits into the prison. A severe example was made in one case, the daughter of a debtor being convicted in a penalty of 10*l.*, or in default to be imprisoned two months, for an attempt to carry rum into the Debtors' Gaol; and it is to be hoped this may deter others from similar attempts. On this subject the Governor in his journal states:—

"I consider that great credit is due to the warders for their vigilance in detecting these cases, as well as for their exertions in preventing attempts of the kind being made. To this I attribute the marked sobriety and good order prevailing among the debtors for some time past, aided, no doubt, by the salutary rules, that no visitors are to enter the debtors' wards, and that debtors be visited only in rooms appropriated to that purpose and under supervision."

Notwithstanding all these precautions, I find occasional entries in the Governor's journal as follows:—

"Debtor M. C. locked up for smoking.

"Debtor W. A., ale stopped for two days for smoking."

I also observe the following entries in the same journal:—

"October 27.—About half-past midnight the gate warder on duty found P. C., a bailiff to the Liverpool County Court, lying helplessly drunk outside the castle gates, and with him a man who requested the warder to take charge of the said P. C. About 7 o'clock the next morning the same parties presented themselves at the castle gates, when the companion of P. C. turned out to be a debtor in his (P. C.'s) custody. I have reported C.'s shameful conduct to the High Bailiff of the Court."

Again, on the 22d April, I find:—

"J. H. brought to gaol this evening, very drunk, by W., the Sheriff's officer, who was as drunk as the debtor, and whom I have reported to the Under Sheriff."

LIVERPOOL BOROUGH GAOL.

[Inspected 15th August 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of Inspection:—

|---|---|
| Male | 424 |
| Female | 279 |
| Total | 703 |

Sick:—

|---|---|
| Male | 11 |
| Female | 4 |
| Total | 15 |

The daily average number was—

|---|---|
| Males | 431 |
| Females | 282 |
| Total | 713 |

The number of committals:—

|---|---|
| Male | 4,789 |
| Female | 3,631 |
| Total | 8,420 |

showing a decrease of 445 males and 42 females compared with the preceding year.

The decrease was more particularly in the number of felons and misdemeanants.

There was an increase in the number summarily committed for drunkenness and assaults.

The usual award for drunkenness is a fine of 5*s.* or three days' imprisonment. If, therefore, a person is committed for drunkenness on Friday he must be discharged on Saturday, and would not be 24 hours in the gaol, as the prisoners are not received at the gaol until a late hour in the afternoon.

The average daily number received and discharged during the year was 26 9-10ths.

The greatest number received on any one day was 79.

Of the whole number committed during the year a very large proportion (6,612) were committed for periods not exceeding one month, 589 of whom were under 16 years of age, as may be seen by the following table:

| Period of imprisonment. | Males. | | Females. | | Total. | | Grand Total. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Adults. | Juveniles. | Adults. | Juveniles. | Adults. | Juveniles. | |
| Not exceeding one month - | 3,162 | 439 | 2,861 | 150 | 6,023 | 589 | 6,612 |
| Above 1 and not exceeding 2 months - - - | 388 | 73 | 206 | 20 | 594 | 93 | 687 |
| Above 2 and not exceeding 3 months - - - | 343 | 118 | 188 | 24 | 531 | 142 | 673 |
| Above 3 and not exceeding 6 months - - - | 66 | 9 | 42 | 2 | 108 | 11 | 119 |
| Above 6 and not exceeding 12 months - - - | 44 | 4 | 35 | 1 | 79 | 5 | 84 |
| Above 12 and not exceeding 2 years - - - | 15 | 2 | 9 | 10 | 24 | 12 | 36 |

| Acquitted and not prosecuted - | 37 | 5 | 32 | 4 | 69 | 9 | 78 |
| | 4,123 | 666 | 3,416 | 215 | 7,539 | 881 | 8,420 |

Of this number 3,527 adults and 436 juveniles had never been in custody before.

About 45 per cent. were Irish.

I expected the new gaol at Walton-on-the-Hill would have been ready to be occupied by prisoners during the summer, but it is still far from being completed.

It is much to be desired that the new building should be proceeded with without delay, for the arrangements of the old gaol are most inconvenient, both as regards the discipline and the employment of prisoners; and I much doubt whether any of the 6,612 prisoners confined here for periods not exceeding one month during the last year, as shown in the above table, are likely to be deterred from returning to the prison by the discipline they were subjected to for that short time.

I found the wards and cells clean and in good order.

The general health of the prisoners was good. There had been ten deaths during the year, as follows:—

5 from pulmonary consumption.
2 from bronchitis.
3 from epilepsy.

The surgeon states—

"The number of deaths from epilepsy is remarkable, as I do not find one previously reported in the prison books, but that this disease should manifest itself is not at all a matter of surprise, as it is a common concomitant and termination of delirium tremens, a complaint of frequent occurrence in the prison.

Four prisoners were pardoned on medical grounds. One lunatic was removed to the asylum at Rainhill, there was reason to believe that she had been previously in a lunatic asylum in Ireland.

The chaplain states—

"I have no alteration to notice in the routine of my duties during the past year, neither has any taken place in the system of instruction pursued, or in the means at my disposal."

The Town Council of Liverpool gave 250*l.* towards the expense of providing for juveniles on their discharge from prison. The chaplain who had the apportionment of this sum says,—

"Little progress has been made in this way, not, I am sorry to say, for want of objects, but from want of suitable asylums to receive them. During the year the following juveniles have been removed :—

14 boys to Redhill under conditional pardons.
2 to Kingswood on discharge from prison.
6 girls to Kingswood (4 under conditional pardons).
1 to Dalston Refuge, London.
2 to County Refuge, Chester.
4 to County Refuge, Edge Hill, near Liverpool.

29

Of this number it appears—

7 have done well ;
11 are in the way of doing well ;
7 are still doubtful ;
2 have so far failed ;
2 are hopelessly lost.

29

With one solitary exception, all these, though young in years, were old in crime ; and the chaplain adds :—

"In my judgment no existing system of prison discipline could ever possibly reclaim them. It will therefore, I hope, be admitted that we have sufficient encouragement, not only to persevere in but if possible to extend these means."

The number of punishments for prison offences was very great. The Governor states:—

"The prisoners have behaved as well as could be expected under the present associated system. The misconduct is chiefly amongst the prisoners summarily convicted."

The punishments were:—

| Male prisoners. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|
| 3,944 | 693 | 4,637 |

There had been one case of corporal punishment, a prisoner who was flogged for feigning an attempt to hang himself. The remainder were the ordinary prison punishments.

The following Table will show how the prisoners were employed during the year, and the average weekly earnings at each employment:—

| Daily average number of prisoners, exclusive of Sundays. | | | Description of Employments. | Estimated value of work done for the gaol during the year. | Actual profit on goods sold and work done during the year. | Total. | Average earnings per head per week of 6 days. |

| 282 | 197 | 479 | Total at profitable labour | 396 2 7½ | 1,026 7 6 | 1,422 10 1½ | 1 1¾ |
| 63½ | 33½ | 96¾ | Employed in the gaol, viz.:—Painters, cleaners, laundry, cooks, nurses, attending boilers, &c. &c. | Value not estimated. | | | |
| 85 | 40½ | 134½ | Unemployed, viz.:—Sick, attending school, women with children, drunkenness, reception ward, &c. &c. | Unemployed. | | | |
| 430½ | 279¾ | 710¼ | Total - - | 396 2 7½ | 1,026 7 6 | 1,422 10 1½ | 0 9¼ |

Thus the average earnings of each prisoner, after deducting the number of prisoners the value of whose work is not estimated, and of those who are unemployed, amounts only to 1*s.* 1¾*d.* per week ; but when calculated upon the average number of prisoners in gaol every day except Sunday, whether employed or not, the weekly average earnings of each prisoner is reduced to 9¼*d.* This sum, though small, is an increase of one penny per head per week upon the average earnings of the prisoners during the previous year, and a considerable increase upon any former year.

The books and accounts are properly kept. The provisions and stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for repairs, and after deducting the earnings, was 12*l.* 14*s.* 0¾*d.*

Nothing can be worse than the system at present pursued in this gaol, crowding a large number of prisoners in a confined space, many of whom are only sentenced for very limited periods, and are frequently returning to the prison. I visited the reception cells, to see the prisoners just received from the police station. The number on that day was 46 (17 males and 29 females). It was a most painful and degrading sight, some of them scarcely yet recovered from the excess of the previous night, the gaudy clothes of many of the females torn and soiled with blood and dirt, the effects of drunkenness and quarrelling. When the prisoners are removed to the new gaol at Walton on the Hill, it will, I think, be desirable to provide some cells in the town in which prisoners sentenced for periods not exceeding three days may be confined, without sending them a distance of four or five miles to the gaol.

| Males | 1,432 |
| Females | 339 |
| Total | 1,771 |

Showing a decrease of 325 males, and an increase of 97 females, compared with the preceding year.

It is satisfactory to observe that the decrease in the number of male prisoners has continued, I am at a loss to account for the increase in the females.

There have been no alterations in the buildings or in the discipline of the gaol since my last report, and I fear there is little or no prospect of the recommendations made by the committee of county magistrates being carried out at present.

The old block of cells are defective in ventilation and drainage, as well as in all the means of carrying out any wholesome discipline. They are described by the committee above referred to as "dilapidated." It is much to be deplored that there should be such a want of uniformity of discipline in one gaol. The discipline in the separate cells (of which there are at present 168) is carried out with great success; and I find in the report of the committee that the 168 new cells, with the new buildings connected therewith, only cost the county 8,602*l.* 4*s.* 10½*d.* The two plans submitted to the committee, one three and the other four stories high, would provide accommodation, the first for 90, and the other for 120 prisoners in separate cells. Either of these plans could, I apprehend, be completed at a cost of about 20*l.* per cell.

The general health of the prisoners has been good. There have been eight deaths during the year. Six of the prisoners who died were unwell when admitted.

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain, who continues to pass from five to eight hours daily within the prison. He states :—"The general progress of the "prisoners, both in religious and secular knowledge, is ex-"tremely satisfactory;" and adds, "I cannot speak too highly "of the way in which the schoolmasters perform their "important duties."

The number of punishments for prison offences was :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 2,432 |
| Females | 42 |
| Total | 2,474 |

They were chiefly for talking or attempting to communicate. There has been no case of corporal punishment for the last twelve years.

A prisoner, who was employed as a carpenter, succeeded in effecting his escape from the prison on the 24th May, but was pursued, and recaptured in less than two hours.

The clear profit on work done for sale last year was 710*l.* 13*s.* 8*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 1,684*l.* 11*s.* 5*d.*

The net cost per prisoner last year was 17*l.* 3*s.* 9½*d.*

| Increase in females and debtors - - | — | 146 | — | 73 | 13 | 86 | — |

The decrease was principally in the number of vagrants and committals for assault.

The buildings were in good order and repair. There has been no material alteration in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection.

The provisions were good and wholesome. The daily cost of the food was $2\frac{3}{4}d.$ per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good, but there were 13 deaths and 4 pardons on medical grounds during the year. The surgeon states that there had been no illness in the prison which could in any way be traced either to the diet or the discipline, or to any local cause. He considered the drainage and ventilation good in all parts of the prison; the diet sufficient and of good quality; and that the prisoners get sufficient air and exercise.

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain. He again expresses himself very strongly with respect to the number of beershops and licensed singing saloons, which he says are "the chief incitements to crime, "especially with boys." These saloons have generally common brothels attached to them. The boys are led away, and readily commit any crime that may be suggested by females older than themselves. The females generally dispose of the property stolen, appropriating a large portion for their own share.

The chaplain states that the new schoolmaster appointed in April last "is well qualified for his office."

With regard to the progress made by the prisoners, he says:—

"The very short terms for which many prisoners are committed to the New Bailey does not admit of much instruction to them, but those who remain any length of time in the prison make satisfactory progress."

There has been a decrease in the number of punishments as compared with the previous year, but they are still numerous.

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| The number of punishments awarded last year were - - - | 4,375 | 852 | 5,227 |
| Ditto, in the previous year - - | 7,133 | 1,136 | 8,269 |
| Decrease - | 2,758 | 284 | 3,042 |

The Governor states that a large proportion of these punishments were mere stoppages of a portion of a single meal for idleness and neglect of work; but there were also 44 cases of corporal punishment or whippings, by order of a visiting justice. These were principally with boys for determined obstinacy in refusing to perform their task on the crank machine.

Prisoners are invariably removed from the crank labour machine to some less arduous employment when they have continued to perform their task for six consecutive days. The Governor says:—

"The treadwheel and cranks unquestionably produce obstinacy, and a determination to resist authority, and whipping is the result."

He adds:—

"Men do not often refuse to do the six days' work on the crank, and the boys generally work well after one of their number has been whipped."

In considering the number and character of the punishments for prison offences, it should be borne in mind that a large proportion of the prisoners confined in this gaol are summarily convicted, many of them boys or lads under twenty years of age, who have never before been subjected to any sort of discipline. They are generally disposed to resist all authority; and the ordinary punishment, deprivation of food, by the Governor, has little or no effect upon them.

The prisoners continue to be fully employed at the several occupations as stated in my former reports. The clear profit on work done for sale last year was 1,277*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.*

The estimated value of work done for the prison was 828*l.* 0*s.* 7*d.*

All the provisions and stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year was 12*l.* 15*s.* 7*d.*

LINCOLNSHIRE.

FALKINGHAM COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 10th May 1853.]

Number of prisoners in confinement on the day of inspection:—

|---|---|
| Males | 23 |
| Females | 4 |
| Total | 27 |

Sick none.

The daily average was 35, or 15 below the average of the preceding year.

There was a decrease of 73 in the committals, the numbers being 174 and 247.

The decrease was not confined to any particular class, and it may be attributed to the increase of employment, generally, in the neighbourhood.

The buildings were in good repair; the alterations have been completed, and the prisoners now all sleep in separate cells, and work in separate compartments, both on the tread-wheel and at the cranks for pumping up water for the use of the prison.

The prison was very clean and airy throughout.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost for food was 4*d.* per head.

The surgeon represented the prison to be in a very satisfactory state. The drainage he considers perfect, and the ventilation good.

There has been no alteration in the chaplain's duties. In addition to the duty on Sunday he attends twice a week, and is engaged from ten to one o'clock visiting and instructing the prisoners. There is no schoolmaster; the chaplain instructs those who are willing to learn; but it cannot be expected they should make much progress in the absence of any provision for regular instruction.

The hard labour in this prison is strictly enforced. Prisoners are occasionally employed shoe-making and tailoring but no account is kept by which the value of the work done for the prison may be estimated.

The punishments awarded for prison offences were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 39 |
| Females | 16 |
| Total | 55 |

There was one case of corporal punishment; the others were all ordinary prison punishments, for talking, idleness at work, &c. No prisoner made any complaint.

I examined the books and accounts, which are properly kept. The net cost per prisoner last year, exclusive of any charge for repairs, was 23*l.* 2*s.* 5*d.* The provisions and stores are supplied by contract.

I strongly recommend that another officer may be appointed to act as schoolmaster; his time, when not engaged instructing the prisoners, to be at the disposal of the Governor for the general duties of the prison.

I also think an addition to the prison library of a few books, not professedly of a religious character, would be found beneficial.

GRANTHAM.—BOROUGH GAOL.

[Inspected 20th July 1853.]

I also visited this prison on the 9th May, to investigate certain charges made by a discharged prisoner, and by one of the turnkeys who had been dismissed by the magistrates. A special report of the case was made at the time to the Right Honourable the Secretary of State; and on this occasion I again urged the magistrates to enter into a contract with the county for the charge and maintenance of the borough prisoners in the County House of Correction at Falkingham. An arrangement to this effect for all prisoners sentenced for periods exceeding one month has since been entered into.

The number of committals during the year was :—

|---|---|
| Males | 21 |
| Females | 2 |
| Total | 23 |

The offences were principally "disorderly conduct in the streets," punishable under the bye laws.

The prison was clean and the buildings in good repair.

The objectionable arrangements for providing the prisoners with food, "granting an allowance of 5*d.* for each prisoner to the turnkeys," is to be immediately discontinued, and the official dietary adopted.

The health of the prisoners has been good. The surgeon is appointed annually by the mayor for the time being, at a salary of 5*l.* 5*s.*

The chaplain states :—"No alteration has been made, so far "as the chaplain is concerned, since the last Report." He reads prayers to the prisoners once on Sunday, and visits the prison twice a week when there are any prisoners in confinement.

The schoolmaster also attends twice a week, but does not act under the direction of the chaplain.

The prisoners make little or no progress; and I am afraid very little can be said with regard to the improvement of prisoners subjected to the discipline of this prison.

The Borough police station joins the prison, and is under the charge of the gaoler, who is chief constable of the borough; the two constables or policemen act also as turnkeys. About 100 male prisoners pass through the station house annually.

KIRTON LINDSEY COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 8th April 1853.]

The quarter sessions were being held at the time of my visit, I therefore made only a cursory inspection. The buildings were in good repair, but, as noticed in former reports on this prison, the accommodation is insufficient for the number of prisoners; they are frequently much crowded in the day rooms; there is also a great want of store room.

There was a decrease of 18 in the average number, and 88 in the whole number of prisoners committed, as compared with the previous year. The decrease was principally in the number of vagrants.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good; there had been less sickness than usual during the year.

I found one prisoner (a boy, for trial) in rather an excited state. He was charged with having enlisted into the militia in two counties, taking the bounty in each. A sense of the disgrace he had brought on himself and his friends (who are represented to be highly respectable) appeared to be the cause of the excitement.

The prisoners continue to pass too much time in bed. The great difficulty in an agricultural district of finding employment for prisoners, and the want of better accommodation, are amongst the obstacles to any improvement in this respect. I recommended that the prisoners should be assembled in the schoolroom, under proper supervision, until 8 P.M., for instruction or employment.

Four prisoners for trial were detected endeavouring to remove the roof of the watercloset, with a view to effect their escape. They were reported to the magistrates, and the case was still under consideration at the time of my visit.

| Total - - - | | | 97 |
| Debtors, male - - - - - | | | 73 |

showing a decrease of 19 criminals and 14 debtors, compared with the preceding year.

The number of cases of infanticide from concealment of birth, and of rape, have increased. Of the former there were 6 cases; of rape, 7. Concealment of birth occurred principally with domestic servants.

The buildings were in good repair; the wards and cells clean and in good order.

The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost was $5\frac{1}{2}d.$ per head.

There was no prisoner sick at the time of my visit. Two prisoners died in the early part of April, but in neither case could death be attributed to the diet, discipline, or any local cause. One died from disease of long standing; the other, a few days after he was admitted, from "delirium tremens."

The late surgeon, Mr. Howitt, resigned in July last, and was succeeded by Mr. Hadwen, who represents the general health of the prisoners to be good. In reply to my inquiries, he stated that he considered the ventilation and drainage to be good in all parts of the prison, and that he knew nothing in the prison tending to cause illness. There had been no death or removal on medical grounds since his appointment.

From the strong impressions with respect to the ventilation and drainage entertained by the late surgeon, I carefully inspected the buildings, with reference to these particular points, and also read with much attention the surgeon's journal, but could not discover evidence of anything objectionable. I however recommended the Governor to cause the cesspools to be emptied and cleaned out more frequently.

In consequence of the small number of prisoners, no schoolmaster has been appointed to succeed the master who resigned last year. The chaplain instructs those prisoners who wish to learn; but prisoners before trial are generally restless, unsettled, and not disposed to receive instruction.

The chaplain urges most strongly the advantages of regular manual labour, and adds, "The justices are fully sensible of "this, but say they have no power to compel our prisoners "(chiefly for trial) to work." I referred the magistrates to the 37th section of the Gaol Act, and recommended that the means of employment should be provided for all prisoners.

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be "very good;" there had been no punishment for a prison offence during the year; and the chaplain says their conduct had been "invariably good," when at chapel or otherwise, under his observation.

The books were entered up to the time of my visit, and the accounts are regularly kept and audited.

Lincoln Castle affords accommodation for 31 males and 12 females in separate confinement, and 69 males and 19 females in association. The daily average number of criminals for each of the two last years was only 17. A number of cells therefore remain unoccupied, which might with great advantage be made available for long-sentenced prisoners from Kirton Lindsey, where the accommodation is insufficient, and the prison altogether too confined for the maintenance of any effective discipline.

which was about the daily average number.

The number of commitments during the year was 162,—nineteen more than in the preceding year; the increase was principally in juvenile offenders.

There has been no alteration in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison. The prisoners are confined in separate cells, but have little employment, except on the treadwheel, where the supervision is insufficient, and they are able to communicate freely with each other. I recommended that the labour on the treadwheel should be discontinued, and the prisoners employed in their own cells in some trade or remunerative work.

The ventilation and drainage of the prison are good. The provisions were of good quality; the daily cost of the food was 4½*d.* per head. One prisoner died during the year, and there were 5 prisoners under medical treatment on the day of inspection, but the general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. The surgeon considers they generally improve in health and gain in weight during their imprisonment.

The usual weekly and daily services are performed by the chaplain, who also superintends the instruction and visits the prisoners in their cells frequently. He states:—

"The schoolmaster is extremely well qualified for his duties, and is very zealous and indefatigable in the performance of them." "The progress made by the prisoners in secular knowledge is generally rapid."

Speaking of the effect of the discipline, the chaplain says:—

"With those who have been in a respectable position, and still desire to retrieve their character, I think it works well. It has also, I think, had considerable influence in diminishing the number of drunken brawls. Of its effect on professional thieves and strolling vagabonds I have no means of judging."

The punishments awarded for prison offences were:—

LOUTH.—COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 6th June 1852.]

Number of prisoners in confinement on the day of inspection:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 46 | 12 | 58 |
| Sick - - - | 2 | 1 | 3 |

The average daily number was 57, showing a decrease of 14 as compared with the year 1852, and 26 compared with the preceding year.

The number of commitments for the years 1851, 1852, and 1853 were 734, 539, and 427 respectively; showing a decrease of 307 last year, compared with the committals in the year 1851. The decrease was principally in the number of vagrants and poachers.

The buildings were in good repair. A new room 93 feet long has been built, in which all convicted prisoners take their meals and work under supervision; but no alterations have been made either at the treadwheel or in the old prisons, neither of which are secure.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality. The average daily cost was $3\frac{3}{4}d.$ per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "good." No prisoner had died during the year, but three prisoners were removed to the county lunatic asylum at Lincoln, as insane or imbecile. In neither case was the patient's mind in any way affected by the discipline of the prison. One of the above, a male vagrant, committed for one month, was removed to the asylum by the relieving officer of the parish at the expiration of his sentence.

The chaplain's duties continue to be performed with much regularity. He states:—

"The prisoners, with some few exceptions, appreciate the advantages of attending school, and make satisfactory progress. The school is found to be a quiet auxiliary to the discipline, working beneficially on the minds of prisoners, as affording engagement for that time which is not passed in prison labour, and yet for such limited hours daily (two hours to each class) as cannot but bring a healthy change. No prisoner is excluded from school whose term of imprisonment is deemed sufficiently long for acquiring even the elements of reading, and there are few prisoners who do not embrace the opportunity thus afforded of at least attempting in this respect to repair the defects of neglected childhood, or to improve what little knowledge may have been previously imparted to them. Reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, something of the History of England, geography, the catechism of the Church of England, are in rotation the subjects taught by the schoolmaster, who is a person competent to and assiduous in the discharge of his duties, with also a sufficient command of temper."

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be "good."

The punishments awarded for prison offences were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 43 |
| Females | 5 |
| Total | 48 |

In one instance it had been found necessary to place a prisoner in irons; the others were all ordinary prison punishments.

Prisoners sentenced to hard-labour work on the treadwheel or breaking stones; other prisoners are employed making and mending the prison clothes and shoes; the females in needlework, knitting, stockings, and washing; the value of the work done for the prison was only estimated at 30*l.*

In the year 1852 a bad spirit prevailed amongst the prisoners sentenced for long periods; there was much quarrelling amongst themselves, discontent, and frequent complaints, which were pronounced by the magistrates to be frivolous and vexatious. This has given place to a better feeling towards each other, and a marked improvement in their conduct generally. The change may, I think, be attributed to the improved discipline. Prisoners not at labour on the wheel are assembled in the large workroom under supervision, and silence is strictly enforced. Formerly they were left in the yards or dayrooms, without supervision or employment. Transports and long-sentenced prisoners were thus frequently left idle for weeks together, as the Governor did not consider it was safe to trust them on the wheel.

I addressed a letter to the visiting justices on this subject, as well as on the practice of allowing prisoners to pass too much time in bed, and respecting the cells occupied by the female prisoners, which are not sufficiently removed from those in which the male prisoners are confined. An alteration has already been made in the hours for prisoners to rise and retire to rest. It has also been determined to remove the female prisoners to Spilsby, as recommended, but the treadwheel still remains insecure.

LOUTH.—BOROUGH POLICE.

The following return shows the number of persons taken into custody within the Borough in each year, from 1845 to 1853, both years inclusive.

| Years. | Total taken into Custody. | Discharged by the Magistrates. | Summarily convicted or held to bail. | Committed for trial. | Convicted and sentenced. | Acquitted. | Not prosecuted. |

| | 3,263 | 1,250 | 1,744 | 269 | 205 | 28 | 36 |

Of the above number taken into castody 823 were vagrants, as follows:—

| | Number taken into Custody. | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Male. | Females. | Total. |
| 1845 | 54 | 11 | 65 |
| 1846 | 55 | 13 | 68 |

| 1852 | 19 | 4 | 23 |
| 1853 | 26 | 15 | 41 |
| | 639 | 184 | 823 |

Of the 260 persons taken into custody during the last year, 59 males and 18 females were under 20 years of age; two, a boy and a girl, were under 10 years of age.

Ninety-three males and 38 females could neither read nor write.

SPALDING HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 15th December 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 32 |
| Females | 5 |
| Total | 37 |

The daily average number was 50, or 16 below the average of the preceding year. The number of committals was 242, showing a decrease of 45 compared with the previous year. The decrease was in the number committed for felony and assaults. Work was plentiful in the neighbourdood, and the wages were from 12*s.* to 15*s.* per week.

There were no alterations in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection. Some defect in the drainage was observable on the day of inspection, but the cause was at once ascertained, and the defect removed.

The prisoners made no complaints. The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of the food was $4\frac{1}{4}$ per head.

The general health of the prisoners since the last inspection is represented by the surgeon to have been "unusually good." He adds :—

"Excepting where there is a tendency to organic disease, the prisoners generally improve in health during their confinement for short periods, and in hot weather they fall off in weight ; but for long periods of confinement they generally again increase in weight."

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain or schoolmaster. The chaplain again expresses himself well satisfied with the progress made by the prisoners in secular knowledge, but regrets his inability to speak so favourably of their progress in religious knowledge. The general conduct of the prisoners while under his observation he states "has been unusually good and orderly."

The number of punishments awarded for prison offences was :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 238 |
| Female | 18 |
| Total | 256 |

The misconduct generally arises with prisoners at the commencement of their imprisonment.

No additional labour or employment has been provided for the prisoners. The amount received for the labour of the tread-wheel (grinding corn) was 48*l.* 10*s.* 3*d.*, 7*l.* 7*s.* 5*d.* less than in the preceding year. Some prisoners, both male and female, are employed making and repairing the prisoners' clothes, shoes, and linen; but there is no market for the sale of articles made in the prison.

The estimated value of work done for the prison was 31*l.* 9*s.* 7*d.*

The provisions, fuel, and stores are all supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year was 19*l.* 9*s.* 6*d.*

The prisoners continue to pass too much time in bed; they rise in winter at 7.30, supper is served at 4.30., and they retire to bed at 6.30.

The Governor was absent on leave.

I found the prison in good order throughout. A stove has been placed in each wing of the prison, and seats have been fixed for the officers in the chapel, to command a better supervision during Divine Service. No other alterations have been made since the last inspection.

The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost for food was $3\frac{3}{4}$d. per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good.

The duties of the chaplain and surgeon have been regularly attended to; there was nothing in these departments to call for any special remark.

The schoolmaster, who was appointed on probation, has been confirmed in the office, and continues to discharge his duties satisfactorily.

Misconduct was confined to a few prisoners only. The punishments awarded for prison offences were :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 59 |
| Female - - - - - | 0 |
| Total | 59 |

Two prisoners were whipped for obscene and threatening language to the officers; the rest were ordinary prison punishments.

In addition to the labour on the treadwheel, prisoners are employed as tailors and shoemakers, and also performing masons' and carpenters' work in the repairs of the prison. No account was kept by which the value of the work may be estimated. The accounts are otherwise properly kept, and the books and journals were all properly entered up to the day of inspection.

The provisions, fuel, and other stores are supplied by contract.

One prisoner made a general complaint as to his treatment in the prison. On inquiry, I could find no grounds for any such complaint. He was a badly conducted prisoner, one of those who received corporal punishment.

The prisoners continue to pass too much time in bed; they are locked up in their sleeping cells without any light, or means of employment, at 4 P.M. in winter, and rise at 7 A.M. The attention of the visiting justices has been called to the injurious effects of such an arrangement, and the subject is to be brought before the magistrates assembled in Quarter Sessions.

NORWICH CASTLE.

[Inspected 10th December 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

|---|---|
| Criminals | 88 |
| Debtors | 12 |
| | 100 |

The number of committals was :—

| | Criminals. | Debtors. |
|---|---|---|
| In 1853 | 600 | 91 |
| In 1852 | 672 | 72 |

showing a decrease of 72 criminals and an increase of 19 debtors during the last year.

The decrease was principally in the number of vagrants.

The buildings were in good repair. Some additional cells have been fitted for separate confinement. The work was done principally by prisoners, under the superintendence of the Governor. The prison is well drained, warmed, and ventilated throughout. The prisoners are never associated, except at labour or taking exercise, when they are under the constant supervision of an officer.

The clear profit on work done by the prisoners last year was 103*l.* 1*s.* 9*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 124*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.* The daily cost of the food was 3½*d.* per head. Two prisoners had died in the early part of the year ; one from fever, the other from disease of the lungs ; and one prisoner had been removed to a lunatic asylum. He is represented to have been insane when he was committed to the prison. The surgeon states :—" Prisoners who remain a " long time in this prison improve in health, and, as a general " rule, they increase in weight."

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain. He continues to express himself well satisfied with the schoolmaster and the progress made by the prisoners, but states :—

" The prisoners are generally very ignorant when admitted. In the agricultural districts they are sent to labour at eight or nine years of age, and seldom attend any school except it is the Sunday School, where they do not remain long enough to learn much."

The number of punishments was 67. There had been no case of serious misconduct ; they were all minor prison offences.

I found one prisoner for trial for wilful murder on the highway. He was found guilty, and suffered the extreme penalty of the law shortly after I saw him. He appeared to be very ignorant and sullen, and altogether unmindful of the awful position in which he stood.

No prisoner made any complaint; they were all employed, and appeared generally cheerful and contented. Their whole demeanour was very different from the sullen discontent which I had observed on the previous day amongst the prisoners in the Norwich City Gaol.

The number of committals during the year was 271, showing a decrease of 28 compared with the preceding year. This decrease was chiefly in the number committed for picking pockets, and must be attributed to some other cause rather than the discipline of the prison, for there is little in the discipline, as at this time enforced, calculated either to improve the prisoners or to deter them from crime.

Prisoners are only under the supervision of an officer while on the treadwheel; all other prisoners are associated without supervision or employment. Amongst them are generally to be found a number of boys for picking pockets, many of whom (being under 14) may not be employed on the wheel, and are consequently under no control. The effect of this unrestricted association is most pernicious, and is shown, not only in the number of recommittals, but also in the conduct of these prisoners during their second imprisonments.

I communicated with the magistrates on the subject, calling their attention to the clauses in the Gaol Act relating to the classification and employment of prisoners; and I have reason to believe that immediate steps will be taken to establish a more effective discipline in this gaol.

The Governor, Mr. Campling, was appointed at Christmas 1852, to succeed the late Governor, who died in July. He states, there are a great number of improperly conducted public houses in the town, frequented by young thieves (orphans, or the sons of thieves and drunkards), who are systematically trained in picking pockets.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. There had been two deaths; one a female for trial aged 72, who committed suicide; the other, an old man, 64 years of age, who had been a very dissipated character. He died a fortnight after he was received in the prison.

The number of punishments for prison offences was :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 86 |
| Females | 11 |
| Total | 97 |

The offences recorded were principally for misconduct on the treadwheel, or talking to each other from cell to cell during the night. There is no check on the prisoners in the yards and dayrooms.

Two prisoners complained that the diet was insufficient, but there were no grounds for any such complaint. The official dietaries are in use, and the provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of the food was $4\frac{1}{2}d.$ per head.

SWAFFHAM COUNTY HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 7th December 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection - 74

The number of committals during the year was :—

|---|---|
| Males | 401 |
| Females | 20 |
| Total | 421 |

showing a decrease of 80 males and an increase of 7 females compared with the preceding year. The decrease has been in the number committed for felony, vagrancy, and poaching. About one-fifth of the prisoners committed were strangers in the district.

No alterations have been made either in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection. The drainage and ventilation are good. The provisions were of good quality, and sufficient. The daily cost of the food was $3\frac{1}{4}d.$ per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be satisfactory. There was no prisoner sick on the day of inspection, and there had been no removal or liberation on medical grounds

The Rev. Mr. Houchen has been appointed to succeed the late chaplain, who retired at the close of the year 1852. He has been nealy twelve months in the office, and appears to take much interest in his duties. He performs the usual daily and weekly services, superintends the school, and visits the prisoners frequently. He states :—" The schoolmaster dis-" charges his duties to my entire satisfaction, and the prisoners " make satisfactory progress both in religious and secular " knowledge."

I am indebted to the chaplain for the following particulars respecting 342 prisoners who came under his observation during the year. There were :—

|---|---|
| Under 12 years of age | 3 |
| 12 and under 15 years of age | 6 |
| 15 „ 18 „ | 36 |
| 18 „ 21 „ | 55 |
| 21 „ 30 „ | 112 |
| 30 and upwards | 127 |
| Total | 342 |

Of this number :—

|---|---|
| Could neither read nor write | 123 |
| „ read only | 83 |
| „ read or write, or both, imperfectly | 100 |
| „ read and write tolerably | 36 |
| Total | 342 |

21 had not the slightest knowledge of Scripture,
54 knew not the Lord's prayer, and 169 knew neither creed nor commandments.

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be good. Misconduct was confined for the most part to a few prisoners. The number of punishments awarded was 77. The chief offences were " disorderly conduct," " using obscene language," and " damaging county property."

There has been no addition to the labour and employment carried on in the prison, and no account has been kept of the work done by the prisoners, either for sale or for the use of the prison.

The provisions, fuel, and other stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year was stated to be 14*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.*, the same as the preceding year.

The prisoners generally of this district are of a very low standard both in morals and intellect. I found ten prisoners for trial at the assizes as follows:—2 charged with sodomy, 2 with bestiality with a mare, and 6 (poachers) with wounding with intent to murder. There was also one prisoner under sentence of transportation for life for ill-treating and starving his own mother, with a view, it was supposed, to get possession of some property.

I examined the books and accounts, which were properly kept and entered up to the day of my visit.

WALSINGHAM HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 8th December 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection:

| | |
|---|---|
| Males - - - - - | 38 |
| Females - - - - - | 8 |
| Total - - - | 46 |

The number of committals was 383, nearly the same as the preceding year, when the number was 388. The number of felons had increased, while the misdemeanors decreased.

Employment was scarce, and the price of provisions very high.

The buildings were in good repair; the wards, cells, and all parts of the prison clean and in good order. There has been no alteration since the last inspection.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient, and the provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of the food was 4*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good, although fever had been prevalent in the town of Walsingham.

The surgeon in his annual report says:—

"It affords me great satisfaction to state that no increase of sickness has occurred within the prison since my last report, although, in the interval, the town of Walsingham and its neighbourhood has suffered from epidemic fever. The escape of the inmates of the gaol is to be attributed, in my opinion, to the thorough ventilation and perfect sanitary arrangements that exist therein."

He further states:—

"The employment of the bath during the winter months I consider fraught with many evils, and therefore strongly advise its discontinuance from November until March. In respect to the cleanliness of the prison, and the preparation and quality of the food supplied to the prisoners, I can speak most favourably."

No death had occurred during the year. One prisoner had been liberated on account of advanced phthisis, which existed some time previous to his committal.

The chaplain died in the month of May, and has been succeeded by the Rev. Henry Kitton, who was appointed in July. He gives the following detail of his duties:—

"The chaplain reads prayers and a portion of the Scriptures every morning, in the chapel, and lectures on the Scriptures read. He sees the prisoners privately in his own room and in their cells; assembles them also in the schoolrooms for religious instruction; superintends the distribution of books; reads prayers twice and preaches twice every Sunday, and devotes all his time in fact to the promotion of the welfare of his prison charge.

"The schoolmaster is not wholly employed in teaching, being assistant turnkey as well. He instructs any men awaiting their trial, and instructs the other prisoners, in reading during the morning, under the direction of the chaplain, from 6 to 8·45 p.m. in the schoolroom; the rest of his time is filled up with prison duties."

With reference to the progress made by the prisoners, he says:—

"Those who are under our care for any length of time generally get on very well, but most of our commitments are for such short periods as not to admit of any great improvement being effected."

And of the conduct of the prisoners at chapel or otherwise under his charge he says:—

"For the most part the attention paid to the chaplain's instruction has been most marked and exceedingly gratifying."

The punishments awarded for prison offences were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 293 |
| Females | 9 |
| Total | 302 |

generally for talking or damaging the prison property. No serious case of misconduct had occurred.

There has been no change in the labour and employment carried on within the prison. The clear profit on work done by sprioners was 43*l.* 4*s.* 9*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 80*l.* The provisions, fuel, and all stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner was very high:—32*l.* 2*s.*

YARMOUTH BOROUGH GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 11th December 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection—

| Male prisoners. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|
| 30 | 1 | 31 |
| The average daily number was | | 22 |

The number of committals was 220, showing an increase of 24 compared with the preceding year. The increase was principally in the number committed for assaults.

The late Governor resigned on the 5th November, on being appointed master of the union workhouse. He has been succeeded by a tailor in the town, who does not appear to possess any peculiar qualification for the office; but I have instructed him generally as to his duties, and trust he may qualify himself for the situation to which he has been appointed.

Three additional cells were fitted for separate confinement for limited periods by the late Governor before he left; there have been no other alterations in the prison. I strongly recommended the magistrates to contract with the county for the maintenance of their female prisoners at Wymondham. Not only are the cells occupied by the females most inconvenient, but they greatly interfere with the accommodation for male prisoners. The labour on the treadwheel falls very short of what it should be; it does not exceed four hours daily during the winter, and the prisoners in the yards and day rooms are under no supervision.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. There was one prisoner sick on the day of inspection.

In the autumn several of the prisoners were attacked with diarrhœa; but the substitution of boiled milk for gruel at breakfast put a stop to the disorder. No death occurred during the year, and no prisoner had been liberated on medical grounds.

The chaplain's duties remain the same. They have been already detailed in former reports. He states:—

"The schoolmaster is well qualified for his work, and does it to my satisfaction, and the progress made in secular knowledge is satisfactory." "So far as the separate system is concerned, I hope a reformatory as well as a deterring effect may be produced. Hitherto I must think the prison has not deterred from further crime, but the contrary."

The chaplain adds:—

"I would strongly recommend that the separate cell system be full carried out; that the present pernicious association in the wards be absolutely forbidden; that for the treadwheel some hard labour be substituted, which would promote habits of industry, and so be reformatory. The treadwheel retards reformation."

The effect of the unrestricted association is seen in the punishments, which are chiefly for quarrelling when in association in the day rooms.

The number of punishments awarded was 58.

The official dietaries have been adopted. The daily cost of the food was $3\frac{3}{4}d.$ per head. The provisions, as well as the other stores, are supplied by contract, and were of good quality.

NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

NOTTINGHAM TOWN GAOL.

[Inspected 19th July 1852.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| Males | 27 |
| Female | 16 |
| Debtors | 5 |

| Number of commitments during the year | 253 | 56 | 47 | 356 |
| Ditto the preceding year | 293 | 59 | 65 | 417 |
| Decrease | 40 | 3 | 18 | 61 |

The decrease was in the number for trial and for malicious trespass. There had been an increase in the commitments for assault and under the Juvenile Offenders Act.

There has been no alteration in the building, or in the discipline of the prison since the last Report.

The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of the food was $4\frac{1}{2}d.$ per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. There had been no death or liberation on medical grounds. One prisoner had been removed to a lunatic asylum: S. J., a vagrant committed under two indictments, and sentenced to three months imprisonment on each. On inquiry it was found that other members of his family had been insane, and that one of his sisters had been recently confined in a lunatic asylum in Lancashire. He was removed under the usual warrant on the 6th June, having been nearly five months in the prison.

There has been no change in the chaplain's duties. He considers the schoolmaster well qualified for his office, and adds :—

"Considering the general character of the prisoners, and the limited period for which they are under instruction, I think the progress may be said to be satisfactory."

The chaplain appears to think that the reformation of criminals, under any system of prison discipline, is almost hopeless; though he states :—

"Some prisoners have left the prison, during the last year, under hopeful circumstances; but I have not had the opportunity or means of knowing their subsequent character."

The Governor has furnished me with the following list of discharged prisoners who are to his knowledge living honestly and respectably :—

| No. | Name. | Age. | Trade or Profession. | Offence. | When tried, and Sentence. | Present Employment. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | C. M. | 20 | Lacemaker - - | Stealing a money till - | January Sessions 1851, 5 calendar months, hard labour. | Lacemaker. |
| 2 | E. A. | 18 | Domestic Servant | Stealing in a shop - - | Lent Assizes, 1851, 6 calendar months, hard labour. | Domestic Servant (with a good character). |
| 3 | B. K. | 22 | Domestic Servant | Stealing in a dwelling-house | Lent Assizes, 1851, 1 year, hard labour. | Domestic Servant (with a good character). |
| 4 | M. W. | 41 | Charwoman - | Stealing in the market - | Summer Sessions, 1851 | Charwoman and laundress. |
| 5 | J. W. S. | 21 | Pipe-maker - | Passing bad money - - | Summer Sessions, 1851, 6 calendar months, hard labour. | Pipe-maker. |
| 6 | G. T. | 22 | Ironmonger - | Stealing from his master - | Summer Sessions, 1851, 6 calendar months, hard labour. | Ironmonger. |
| 7 | W. B. | 27 | Baker - - | Stealing from his master - | Michaelmas Sessions, 1851 | Baker. |
| 8 | E. S. | 17 | Silk-throwster - | Stealing in a shop - - | Michaelmas Sessions, 1851, 4 calendar months, hard labour. | Silk-throwster at Derby (very steady). |
| 9 | M. T. | 23 | Milliner - - | Stealing from her master - | January Sessions, 1852, 1 year, hard labour. | Milliner and dressmaker. |
| 10 | C. T. | 17 | Laceworker - | Stealing in a dwelling-house | Lent Assizes, 1852, 4 calendar months, hard labour. | In a hosiery factory. |
| 11 | W. H. | 17 | Engine tenter - | Stealing in a factory - - | April Sessions, 1852, 4 calendar months, hard labour. | Engine tenter. |
| 12 | E. B. | 22 | Domestic Servant | Stealing from her master - | April Sessions, 1852, 1 calendar month, hard labour. | Domestic servant. |
| 13 | S. S. | 14 | Boiler maker - | Stealing from his master - | Summer Sessions, 1852, 4 calendar months, hard labour. | In an iron foundry. |
| 14 | T. P. | 14 | Errand boy - | Stealing from his master - | Summer Sessions, 1852, 4 calendar months, hard labour. | In a respectable shop in London. |

Of many others I have reasons to hope very favourably, but of the above I can speak accurately.

The punishments awarded for prison offences were :—

| Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|
| 52 | 22 | 74 |

The prisoners are not under constant supervision, except on the treadwheel. Within the last two months female prisoners have been employed "seaming stockings." Their earnings during that time were 6*l.* 0*s.* 9*d.* No other work has been done for sale, and no account has been kept of the work done for the prison.

The books and accounts are all kept by the Governor. I recommend that the schoolmaster (who also does the duty of a turnkey) may be appointed to assist the Governor with the books and accounts, and that another turnkey may be appointed to assist in the supervision and general duties of the prison.

There are five crank machines in the prison. They are used principally for disorderly characters and vagrants. The friction in two of the machines is caused by screw pressure; the other three work in a bed of sand. The Governor prefers the latter. He says they work with more regularity, and do not require to be oiled so frequently. The oil is also apt to congeal with the former, making it difficult to regulate them properly, as they work very stiff at first.

showing a decrease of 85 males and an increase of 4 females, as compared with the numbers in the preceding year.

There has been no alteration either in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection. The prison was in good order throughout.

The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of the food was 4*d.* per head.

The surgeon considers that long-sentenced prisoners generally require some extra diet after they have been ten or twelve months in prison. His recommendation to this effect is always attended to.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be good. Four prisoners had been liberated on medical grounds, but there had been no death during the year. One prisoner, committed for want of sureties on 29th June, was removed to the county lunatic asylum on the 22d August. He was insane on admission.

The chaplain's duties have already been described in my former Reports. The schoolmaster, having been found qualified for the duties, has been confirmed in his office. The chaplain expresses himself satisfied with the progress made by the prisoners in secular knowledge; and adds:—"Some few, I "am willing to believe, have been so seriously and religiously "impressed as to lead me to entertain a sanguine hope that a "permanent reformation has been effected."

The number of punishments awarded were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 133 |
| Females | 7 |
| Total | 140 |

They were the ordinary prison punishments; chiefly for minor offences against the prison rules.

The labour and employment is the same as already noticed in former Reports. The clear profit on work done by prisoners was 16*l.* 18*s.* 9*d.* No account had been kept of the value of work done for the prison. The prisoners are at all times fully employed, and under close supervision.

The books and accounts are properly kept. The clothing and bedding are purchased at Wakefield Prison. The provisions and all other stores are supplied by contract.

A prisoner under sentence of two years' imprisonment effected his escape over the boundary wall on the 5th December, owing to the neglect of the night watchman and the cook. The watchman was dismissed, and the cook was fined 40*s.*

BURY ST. EDMUND'S GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION

[Inspected 7th October 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 65 | 12 | 77 |
| Debtors | | | 4 |
| Total | | | 81 |

The daily average number of prisoners was 115. The number of committals during the year was 522 ; a considerable decrease compared with former years. The decrease has been chiefly in the number committed for poaching and larceny.

There has been no alteration either in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection. There is still little or no employment except the labour on the treadwheel, consequently prisoners before trial, prisoners not sentenced to hard labour, and those who are physically unfit for labour on the treadwheel, are not only without employment, but are associated in the yards and day rooms, under little or no supervision. Such unrestricted intercourse cannot fail of being most injurious. The prisoners also pass far too much time in bed (14 hours of the 24 in winter, and 12 hours in summer). There are already 16 cells in this prison certified for separate confinement. It is very desirable that this system should be extended, and that the means of employment should be provided for all prisoners as required by the Gaol Act.

The old Bridewell adjoining the House of Correction, which is used as a prison for females, affords no means of classification or of effective discipline. For want of accommodation in the chapel, the female prisoners do not attend the daily prayers, and on Sunday a third service is performed in a small room for their benefit.

I found the wards and cells clean and in order. The provisions were of good quality ; the daily cost of the food was 3½*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be very good. No death had occurred, and no prisoner had been liberated on medical grounds. One prisoner, who was stated to be insane when received in the prison, was removed to a lunatic asylum.

The chaplain's duties have been detailed in my former Reports. He continues to express himself well satisfied with the schoolmaster, who attends at the prison seven hours daily, to give instruction to the prisoners. The chaplain deplores the insufficient accommodation in the chapel, and the want of means of separating the prisoners, which greatly impairs his usefulness.

The number of punishments awarded for prison offences was 26; but I much fear that misconduct is very often undetected for want of proper supervision.

The staff of this prison comprises 1st and 2d warder, gate porter, schoolmaster, two task-masters, a porter and cook; altogether nine persons, besides the Governor, chaplain, surgeon, and matron. This number of officers ought to be sufficient to insure that all prisoners not in separate confinement should be under constant supervision.

The duties of the 1st warder appear to be those of deputy governor and Governor's clerk. The task-masters superintend and regulate the labour at the treadwheel. The supervision over all the prisoners (not at hard labour on the wheel, or in school,) is therefore left to one warder, who has also probably other duties to perform. I would recommend that another warder should be appointed instead of the porter, and that the cook, when not engaged in preparing the food, should be required to assist in overlooking the prisoners, and in the general duties of the prison. The night watch is at present divided between the 2d warder and the two task-masters.

| Criminals | 50 | 10 | 60 |
| Debtors | 15 | 0 | 15 |

The daily average number of criminals was 73 males and 12 females, showing a decrease of 38 males compared with the average during the preceding year.

There was a decrease of 156 males and an increase of 4 females in the number of committals, the number being—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| In 1852 | 563 | 55 | 618 |
| In 1853 | 407 | 59 | 466 |
| Decrease | 156 | 0 | 156 |
| Increase | 0 | 4 | 0 |

The decrease was chiefly in the number of convicted felons.

On the occasion of my former inspection of this prison, I recommended that industrial employment should be provided, and the cells and workrooms lighted with gas. A few prisoners have since been employed as matmakers, and some are occasionally employed as carpenters and painters, when required, about the prison; but crank labour and picking oakum still constitute the principal employment.

There has been no alteration in the building, or in the discipline of the prison.

The prisoners continue to pass 14 hours of the 24 in bed, during the winter and 12 hours in summer. Altogether, I fear the discipline of this prison is little calculated to train prisoners to industrious habits.

The prison was clean and in good order. The provisions were of good quality; the daily cost of the food was 3½*d.* per head.

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "very good." There were no prisoners sick on the day of inspection, and there had been no death or liberation on medical grounds during the year.

There has been no change in the duties of the chaplain, which continue to be performed with much zeal. He expresses himself well satisfied with the schoolmasters, and the progress made by the prisoners.

The punishments for prison offences were:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 109 |
| Female | 10 |
| Total | 119 |

They were chiefly confined to prisoners recently committed, for talking, and for not completing their work. There was one case of corporal punishment; a prisoner who feigned insanity. He was discharged on the 29th July, and is, I hear, now in Norwich Castle charged with felony.

The books and accounts are properly kept. The provisions, fuel, and stores are supplied by contract.

The net cost per prisoner last year was 21*l.* 3*s.*

The clear profit on work done for sale was 29*l.* 14*s.* 1*d.* No account was kept of the work done for the prison.

I met one of the visiting justices at the gaol, and called his attention to the want of employment for prisoners, and also recommended that smoking should be prohibited in the debtors' ward.

| 1853 | 515 | 95 | 610 |
| Decrease last year | 180 | 20 | 200 |

This decrease has been principally in the vagrant class.

There have been no alterations in the prison since the last inspection. The buildings were in good repair ; but some alterations were about to be made in the drainage, and in the ventilation of the separate cells. A case of malignant scarlet fever had occurred in the entrance lodge, which was supposed to have been caused by some defect in the drains and cess-pools. I found an order by the visiting justices, dated 15th October, directing immediate attention to these defects ; but it had not been acted upon at the time of my visit, upwards of six weeks after the order was issued. The health of the prisoners generally had been good. The fever was confined to the lodge, where the child of one of the warder's died. There was no death amongst the prisoners, and no prisoner had been liberated on medical grounds during the year. Two prisoners, stated to have been insane when admitted to the prison, were removed to a lunatic asylum.

The provisions were of good quality ; they are supplied by contract. The daily cost of the food was $4\frac{1}{4}d.$ per head.

The Rev. J. C. Thompson, who was appointed to the office at the close of the year 1852, on the retirement of the late chaplain, furnished me with the following detail of the duties performed by him :—

Sunday.—Two full services. Visit the sick and any prisoners under punishment.

Monday.—Chapel ; afterwards Bible class for religious instruction. See prisoners received and discharged ; visit sick and other cells ; superintend the school.

Tuesday.—Chapel; Bible class; see prisoners separately; visit sick, &c.; visit female prisoners in cells.
Wednesday.—Chapel; Bible class; see prisoners separately; visit sick, &c.; visit separate cells.
Thursday.—Chapel; see prisoners separately; afternoon, religious instruction for female prisoners; superintend female school, visit sick, &c.

He considers the schoolmaster and schoolmistress well qualified for their respective duties, and the progress made by the prisoners generally to be satisfactory. The schoolmaster complained that one of the prisoners had been very troublesome. He was not only idle himself, but prevented the other prisoners attending to the instruction given to them. When I spoke to the prisoner he was so insolent that I was compelled to order him to be removed from the school, and his conduct to be reported to the Governor. The library contains about 280 volumes, including history and other instructive as well as religious works.

The punishments for prison offences were principally stoppage of meals, for talking or neglect of work. The number of punishments was:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners | 142 |
| Female | 19 |
| Total | 161 |

No prisoner made any complaint. In addition to the labour on the treadwheel, the prisoners are employed mat-making, teazing oakum, preparing rushes for chandlers, and folding and sewing sheets for bookbinders. The clear profit on work done by contract or for sale was 104*l.* 8*s.* 7*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 201*l.* 9*s.*; the net cost per prisoner was 24*l.*

The provisions, fuel, and other stores are all supplied by contract.

HULL HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 31st May 1853.]

Number of prisoners in confinement on the day of inspection :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 115 | 42 | 157 |
| Debtors | 5 | — | 5 |
| Total | | | 162 |

The number of commitments was :—

|---|---|
| Males | 532 |
| Females | 199 |
| Total | 731 |

showing a decrease of 96 male criminals compared with the preceding year. The number of debtors was 47 ; two less than in the previous year.

The buildings were in good repair. Two storerooms, and a drying-shed for whiting, have been built since the last inspection ; but no additional accommodation has been provided for prisoners.

The average daily number of criminals has increased from 143 to 150 ; while the prison only affords proper accommodation for 105, as follows :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| In separate cells | 24 | 1 | 25 |
| In association | 66 | 14 | 80 |
| Total | 90 | 15 | 105 |

Prisoners are therefore necessarily confined three and sometimes even four and five in a cell. The prisoners for trial are not classified ; they are merely separated from the convicted prisoners (in the female prison the tried and untried are not even separated). Thus prisoners young in crime may be associated with the most hardened offenders, without any supervision or employment to interrupt the contaminating influence.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient ; the provisions were of good quality. The daily cost for food was little more than 3*d.* per head. The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "good," but on the day of inspection there were 14 male and 3 female prisoners sick. Several prisoners were suffering from whitlows and boils ; but this appeared to be general in the neighbourhood. Three deaths occurred during the year, and one prisoner was liberated on medical grounds. The causes of death are described by the surgeon as follows :—

One of congestive fever.
One of consumption, with extensive suppurating glands, and "mania."
One of apoplexy in his bed, having been only a short time in prison.

He considers the ventilation perfectly good in all parts of the prison, and states :—"I have never yet seen any disease which "could be attributed to the prison, if I except chilblains."

There were two cases of insanity. One was removed to a lunatic asylum; the other died in the prison on the 30th August. An order for his removal to a lunatic asylum had been received, but he was so much reduced by illness that it could not be carried into effect. This prisoner committed a violent assault on one of the prison officers, and was ordered by the magistrate to be removed to a separate cell. Being still violent, it was considered necessary to place him in irons. He was afterwards (on the 9th April) removed to the infirmary, and died on the 30th August. The chaplain was in the habit of seeing him daily, and says :—

"Every attention was paid to him during his confinement. He made no complaint, except the delusion that he was kept in prison after his sentence had expired. Though able to read, and regularly supplied with books, he from the first refused to read them."

The duties of the chaplain continue to be performed with the same regularity and attention to the welfare of the prisoners. He spends on an average more than three hours daily in the prison, and since the appointment of a schoolmaster has been able to devote more time to prisoners in private.

The schoolmaster is engaged instructing the prisoners in class five days in the week, for two hours daily. He states :—"The prisoners are invariably attentive and orderly while at "school." The female prisoners are taught by the matron two hours daily, four days in the week. Nearly all the females are very ignorant; do not even know the alphabet when they first come to school. The progress of those prisoners, both male and female, who attend the school regularly for any length of time, is very satisfactory. The library has been enlarged; and the old and torn books re-bound. They are much read by the prisoners.

The chaplain states :—

"I still find numbers of those who are sent into prison totally ignorant, and utterly without religious principles. Some have not been at a place of religious worship for many years, and during the whole time have been living in crime of one sort or another. Some are systematic thieves, and go about the country under pretence of looking for employment, but in fact with the intention of plundering what they can, and are not deterred from it by the imprisonment they suffer in various places and for different periods; whilst others, living in the town, return over and over again to this gaol, generally for the same class of offences as those for which they have undergone former imprisonments. This is more particularly the case with juvenile offenders, with whom imprisonment is not a thing so hard to be borne as it is with persons arrived at full manhood."

In the early part of the year (at the Easter quarter sessions) the chaplain stated:—"I know not any sessions in which the "number of youths has been greater than at present, and "many of them charged with very serious offences." He proceeds to give a brief account of the career of some of these youths.

"Charles F. began his career of crime in 1845, when he was 14 years of age. Is the son of respectable parents, and has had a good education. Has been eight times in gaol before, commencing with three months as a rogue and vagabond, and ending with one month as a rogue and vagabond, and instructing young boys to steal. He is now for trial at sessions.

"Clement F., now 14 years of age. First committal Nov. 14, 1847, three days for stealing apples. Has been five times in gaol before last committal for felony. He is now for trial at sessions.

"W.L., 15 years of age. Has been seven times in gaol and twice whipped. For trial at sessions.

"W.N., 17 years of age. Four times in this gaol; also been in Manchester gaol.

"R.H., 17 years of age. In this gaol six times since November 1849.

"J.T.J., 16 years of age. In this gaol six times since August 1848.

"R.S. and T.L., 14 and 13 years of age, regular companions, and commit petty thefts in the town on chidren less than themselves. The charge against them now is, that one held while the other robbed a little child. They live with their parents. The mother of R.S. was tried last Easter sessions, but acquitted. An elder brother has been imprisoned in this gaol for 18 months, and was discharged in October last."

These cases give some idea of the little benefit to be derived by boys committed to a crowded prison on the associated system. Nevertheless, there are some instances of the good effects of confinement in this prison to be found. Amongst others, the chaplain mentions the case of one man who left the prison about eighteen months since, and went to Leeds:—

"He has been working at his trade ever since, and is in the receipt of very good wages. He came to Hull a few months ago, and returned me some money which he had borrowed at the time of his discharge. He is now a sober, industrious, and religious man. He informed me that another man who had been several times in this gaol was also working near him (at Leeds), and was a steady character."

The chaplain adds:—

"I know of several in this town who, after the lapse of a year or two from their liberation, are leading honest and respectable lives."

The punishments awarded for prison offences were numerous. They were:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 544 |
| Female - - - - - | 109 |
| Total - - - | 653 |

But the Governor states that misconduct was for the most part confined to a few prisoners, chiefly for "neglect of work and talking." The general conduct of the prisoners he represents as "very good." In answer to my inquiry whether he knew anything in the prison tending to cause misconduct, he answered, "Inducement to talk, and even to steal from each other, when in association." On one occasion 13 prisoners came off the wheel together, and refused to work it.

In addition to the hard labour on the treadwheel, prisoners are employed making rugs, mats, matting, shoes, and clogs, tailoring, and teazing hair and oakum. Females are employed washing, knitting, mending linen, and peeling rushes. The clear profit on work done for sale was 472*l.* 1*s.* 5*d.* The estimated value of work done for the prison was 135*l.* 10*s.*

The books and accounts are properly kept. The schoolmaster acts also as clerk to the Governor, and keeps all the accounts of the gaol.

One prisoner, W.H.M., complained that he had been six days in solitary confinement on bread and water, without being washed, and in a filthy state. His statements were disproved by the books, and the evidence of the Governor and other officers.

LEEDS.—BOROUGH GAOL.

[Inspected 18th June and 12th July 1853.]

Number of prisoners in confinement:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Borough prisoners - - | 178 | 35 | 213 |
| Government convicts - | 50 | – | 50 |
| Sick - - - | – | 1 | 1 |

The average daily number of borough prisoners was 218.

The number of commitments 1,273, or 60 less than the preceding year. The decrease was chiefly in the number of summary convictions, and may be attributed to the low price of the necessaries of life.

Of this number, 169 were of the age of 16 and under.

There have been no alterations in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection.

The provisions were of good quality. The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The daily cost of the food was 4*d.* per head.

The health of the prisoners generally has been good.

The surgeon in his annual Report states:—

"We have had fewer deaths than usual. I have only to report three amongst the prisoners, viz.:—

O. F. aged 22 years.
T. T. aged 11 years.
T. C. aged 26 years.

"O. F. had been a dissipated character, although apparently in good health on his reception (September 1st 1852), when he stood committed for four months. In October hæmorrhage from the lungs came on, and was so violent and severe as to cause his death rather suddenly, November 7th, 1852.

"T. T., a juvenile offender, was committed December 18th 1852, for three months. On the 20th his clothes caught fire in his cell, and though assistance was immediately at hand he was so severely burnt as to occasion his death on the following day.

"T. C. was received January 31st, 1853, in a deplorable state of destitution and scrofulous disease. In April he took cold, and died of inflammation in the lungs.

"We have had six births. The cases did well. Of the children, two were still-born; two others died in the prison within a few weeks of hereditary disease.

"T. C., aged 24 years. A bad case of scrofula combined with venereal. Was discharged on medical grounds after an imprisonment of nearly 11 months.

"Three cases of insanity have beenremoved to a lunatic asylum :—

S. A. aged 70.
J. G. aged 38.
R. J. aged 40.

In each of these cases insanity was proved to have existed for many years previous to committal.

"It has been our custom to place in the hospital those patients only whose cases required more than ordinary attention. The number has been 15 during the year, and this includes the six midwifery cases. Otherwise we find, in short indisposition, the treatment is sufficiently well conducted in the cells. Indeed, in the general management of the sick in prisons, much depends on the combination of medical and moral means ; and I find attention to the dietary of importance in the great majority that come under my notice."

The above Report was presented on the 1st October. On the 10th of the same month several of the prisoners were suddenly attacked with diarrhœa. The disease spread in the night, and in 48 hours the number under treatment amounted to 110, creating considerable alarm. No death occurred, and the disease disappeared in a few days as rapidly as it commenced.

The following special Report was made by the surgeon :—

"I would here make some brief remarks on a sudden, though short attack of disease, which broke out amongst us recently.

"At my visit on Monday, 10th instant, 3 P.M., nothing materia occurred in the applications, though I thought them rather more numerous than usual. There had been a slight tendency to diarrhœa for a few days back, for which, however, we were amply prepared, as, under the circumstances of the disease appearing in other quarters, we had duly considered and made all the preparations necessary in case of an outbreak.

"On the 10th, at 9 P.M., I received a note from Mr. Paige, the Governor, stating that eight persons had complained of diarrhœa, after my visit in the afternpon, that I had not seen. The deputy surgeon was soon on the spot, and found several more applications, for all which he prescribed and gave ample instructions for their general management. The disease spread in the night, and on my visit next morning the cases were numerous; upwards of forty. Before night they increased, and on Wednesday morning, which was the maximum, it was found that the applications made and prescribed for amounted to upwards of 100.

"In the onset the cases were simply diarrhœa; in some, commencing with vomiting of undigested vegetable aliment, but in no case presenting the choleraic type. After a check was given to the diarrhœa by prompt treatment, smart fever supervened, with headache, depression, and anxiety. This, however, speedily gave way under the means adopted, and was followed by rapid convalescence.

"On Friday, 14th, at 3 P.M., at the bi-weekly inspection, not more than eight were absent from the muster.

"It appears difficult to assign a cause for the suddenness of the attack. The dietary was as usual. The bread had always been sound, and agreed well before, and every other article of diet excellent. Ventilation and drainage all reported good. The weather was cold and wet, and, in the exercising ground might have had some effect, from careless exposure. Certainly fear operated most powerfully, and I have no doubt in most of the cases was the sole cause. At the commencement most serious apprehensions were evinced; all were panic-stricken. For forty-eight hours much alarm prevailed, which, however, gradually subsided, under the judicious measures adopted by Mr. Paige, the Governor, who kept every subordinate at his post, and was himself foremost, early and late, in the work of sympathy, kindness, and attention to the sick, most readily adopting and carrying into immediate execution every measure and suggestion likely to relieve their mental and bodily sufferings.

(Signed) WILLIAM PRICE.
October 20, 1853. Surgeon.

This sudden attack of diarrhœa appears to me to have been caused by the effluvia arising from the drains, which terminate in a large closed cesspool or tank cut out of the rock. In the absence of any other means of ventilation, the noxious gas which is germinated in the cesspool returns by the drains and waterclosets into the cells. This is more especially the case when the warming apparatus within the prison is first brought into operation. The attention of the visiting justices has been directed to this defect, and it is proposed to carry the drains clear away from the prison into the main sewer.

The chaplain's duties continue to be performed with the same zeal and regularity. Since the last Report, cellular instruction has been substituted for class instruction with the adult borough prisoners. The chaplain considers that the change has been beneficial. The stringency of the discipline is increased, without interfering with the progress of the prisoners. On the contrary, the progress is promoted, for those who most need instruction receive the greater share of attention. The only class instruction (with the exception of the boys, who are still assembled in school,) is that given by the chaplain to a division of the prisoners on each week day, except Saturday. They are so divided that every prisoner comes before him in class once a week. In speaking of the juvenile offenders, the chaplain refers to—

"The injudicious way in which children who have lost both their parents are sometimes treated by the parish authorities. It is," he observes, "not an uncommon practice to leave the children in the hands of some relative or friend, to whom a small weekly allowance is made." He adds, "I fear it would be found that persons in undertaking the charge of orphan children are too frequently influenced by selfish motives. They have their eye upon the weekly allowance as well as the earnings of the child himself, and thus influenced by mercenary considerations they wholly neglect his education; and as soon as the contributions from the sources mentioned fall short of what is considered a paying amount, the poor child is turned adrift, and very soon finds his way to the prison."

Economical considerations alone would suggest the expediency of the parish undertaking the whole care and expense, rather than delegating the responsibility to others, who have no interest in the children beyond the profit they can make of them. But even if it were otherwise, are not the moral considerations of the question of such a character as to leave no room for doubt as to the course to be pursued? The child's ultimate good—not the question of present expense—should decide the course to be followed.

Of the 169 pirsoners, under the age of 16 committed during the year, 20 had lost both their parents, 47 had lost their father, and 16 their mother.

Misconduct was confined to comparatively a few prisoners.

The number of punishments awarded was :—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 401 |
| Female ditto - - - - | 56 |
| | 457 |

On looking through the visiting justices' order book, I observed a punishment ordered which I considered to be illegal. I communicated with the visiting justice, and the order was cancelled, the punishment not having been inflicted.

The labour and employment of the prisoners has been fully detailed in my former Reports.

The clear profit on work done for sale last year was 828*l.* 12*s.* 1*d.*; the estimated value of work done for prison was 293*l.* 2*s.* 5*d.*

There are three hard-labour cranks in this prison, but they are used principally for prisoners who neglect their work. The usual time for a prisoner to work at the crank is one week; it has never exceeded three weeks.

The books and accounts are properly kept. The provisions, fuel, and other stores are supplied by contract. The net cost per prisoner last year was 16*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*

I am indebted to the chaplain for the following tables, which afford so much useful information that I am induced to insert them here.

NORTHALLERTON HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 13th April 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| | |
|---|---|
| Males - - - - - | 55 |
| Females - - - - - - | 15 |
| Total - - - - | 70 |

There was a decrease of 48 in the daily average number of prisoners, and 548 in the whole number committed during the year, the numbers being 109 the average, and committals 862, compared with 157 and 1,410 in the preceding year. The principal decrease was in the number of vagrants, although this class still formed a large proportion of the committals. The chaplain, in speaking of the number committed, says :—

"I consider vagrancy and its concomitant evils as the chief cause of crime in the neighbourhood, especially as connected with the wretched state of the common lodging houses, which are a sad infliction upon the country, and will be so until they are controlled by some strict surveillance. There is no doubt that most of the burglaries committed are planned in those receptacles, and if not under the direction, in many instances at least with the connivance of the keepers of those houses, who are of course intimately acquainted with the vicinity, who can provide for the disposal of property, and who are at hand to share the proceeds and screen the delinquents."

The buildings were in good order. The female wards are completed, and the prison now affords accommodation, in separate cells, for 175 male and 53 female prisoners.

There has been considerable improvement in the health of the prisoners, both morally and physically, since the separate system has been in operation.

The clothing, bedding, and diet are sufficient. The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost for food was 4*d.* per head.

There has been no change in the ordinary duties of the chaplain and schoolmaster. The latter is engaged in the school four hours daily ; he also attends the chaplain when on duty, and distributes books to the prisoners ; the remainder of his time is at the disposal of the Governor for the general duties of the prison.

The chaplain says :—

"The present schoolmaster and schoolmistress were previously officers of the prison, and were at my suggestion appointed to their present situations. Subsequent experience convinces me that I was right in recommending them to the magistrates."

Referring to the prisoners, the chaplain says:—

"The behaviour of the prisoners, both in chapel and school, has been good. They are taught to consider it a privilege rather than a duty or a task, consequently they never treat it with indifference. There is perhaps only one class of prisoners of whom the chaplain would feel disposed to speak in terms at all approaching severity; those who have been convicted of passing counterfeit money. With scarcely an exception, he has for many years remarked the conduct of this class of offenders to be bad. They seem to import their deception into the prison; by feigning sickness, by refusing to work, and in various ways they prove themselves to be as 'base' as the coin which they circulate. Of these there have been in the gaol several striking specimens."

The general conduct of the prisoners is represented to be good. The punishments awarded for prison offences were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 165 |
| Females | 3 |
| Total | 168 |

All prisoners sentenced to and fit for hard labour work on the treadwheel. In an agricultural district it is almost impossible to employ a large number of prisoners profitably, not only because their previous habits generally unfit them for manual occupation, but also from the difficulty in disposing of any manufactured articles.

The principal employments for prisoners not at work on the wheel are stone breaking, making paper bags, and the prison clothing. No account was kept by which the value of the work done might be estimated. The profit on work done for sale was 3*l.* 4*s.*

The books and accounts are properly kept. The provisions, fuel, and stores are supplied by contract.

The cost last year, exclusive of any charge for repairs, was 18*l.* 17*s.* 8¾*d.* per prisoner.

The ventilation of the cells has been improved by the introduction of ventilating panes in each window.

I found a prisoner with one leg in the airing yard. He was formerly so violent that it became necessary to take away his crutch and wooden leg, to prevent his using them to strike an officer. He appeared to be of weak intellect.

I recommended the practice should be discontinued of allowing money to the Governor to provide prisoners with extra diet when ordered. I also recommended that sheets should be issued to the prisoners.

RICHMOND BOROUGH GAOL.

[Inspected 14th April 1853.]

There were only two committals to this prison during the year. It was empty at the time of my visit.

All prisoners sentenced for periods exceeding 14 days are sent to Northallerton House of Correction.

The prison is also used as a lock-up for the borough.

The gaoler was absent. The chaplain visits twice a week when there are any prisoners in confinement, but does not attend on Sunday. His salary is 5*l.* per annum. The salary of the surgeon is the same. The gaoler receives 10*l.* per annum, with the use of the house and premises.

The building was clean and in good repair. Prisoners are employed breaking stones and picking oakum. There had been no punishment for a prison offence since the year 1849.

The gaoler receives 8*d.* per day for each prisoner to provide food.

SCARBOROUGH BOROUGH GAOL.

[Inspected 3d December 1853.]

|---|---|
| Male | 8 |
| Female | 2 |
| Total | 10 |

The daily average number was five, which is an increase compared with the preceding year. The number of committals was the same both years, namely, 56. The prisoners were chiefly vagrants, or persons committed for assaults.

Some alterations have been made in the extracting flues, by which the ventilation of the cells is improved. One or two minor alterations have also been made. Cells are used for separate confinement, which have not been certified. They are not furnished with artificial light; the prisoners are therefore compelled to pass far too much time in bed. In answer to my inquiries, the Governor informed me, "the prisoners rise at "six o'clock in summer and at half-past seven in winter. "There is no stated time for them to go to bed." They are locked up in their cells at dusk, and as they have no lights it is probable they go to bed at once, and pass from fourteen to fifteen hours in bed. The gaoler is 58 years of age, and his wife (the matron) is 62. Some years since a prisoner overpowered the Governor, and effected his escape. He was re-captured in a few days, and sentenced to transportation at the next sessions. The gaoler should, I think, have some assistance, and the person appointed to assist him should be qualified to give instruction to the prisoners.

The present staff of the prison is :—

| | Salary. | Emoluments. |
|---|---|---|
| Governor | £50 | Residence, fuel, and light. |
| Matron | 30 | „ „ „ |
| Chaplain | 25 | |
| Surgeon | 10 | Including allowance for medicine. |
| | £115 | |

The average cost of the prison for the last three years, including salaries, insurance, repairs, clothing, and provisions, &c., and after deducting the earnings of the prisoners, amounted only to 157*l.* 11*s.* 10*d.* per annum.

The daily average number of prisoners was :—

|---|---|
| 1850 | 7⅔ |
| 1851 | 8 |
| 1852 | 4 |
| 1853 | 5 |

The provisions are cooked by the matron in her own kitchen, which is removed from the part of the prison occupied by female prisoners. The matron complains of the inconvenience attending this arrangement. I would recommend a small kitchen to be built joining the female ward.

The chaplain performs one service on Sunday (in the afternoon). The service is curtailed, and, with the sermon or lecture, occupies about three quarters of an hour. He also reads prayers, followed by a lecture, on every Thursday afternoon. The chaplain says :—

"I would suggest the great importance of the appointment of a well-informed religious schoolmaster, who would devote himself, in conjunction with and under the chaplain's advice, to advance the spiritual and secular knowledge of the prisoners."

I called the attention of the chaplain, and the visiting justices, whom I met by appointment at the prison, to several of the rules which are not enforced.

No prisoner made any complaint. The general health of the prisoners has been good. The surgeon says:—"The prisoners "generally improve in health; in many cases this is very "marked." There had been no death or liberation on medical grounds. The surgeon complained of the inconvenience in many of the arrangements connected with his department. He says :—

"I am compelled to examine prisoners on admission in a passage by gaslight, or in the washing room, where the light is bad. The hospital ward is ill arranged, and inconvenient as to situation, more particularly in the case of contagious disease. The general arrangements for the treatment of disease are inefficient. These facts have been reported to the magistrates."

Prisoners are employed breaking stones; there is no other employment. The prisoners are under no supervision, and are not regularly tasked. The profit on the labour last year was 18*l*. There were only two punishments during the year; both of them awarded to female prisoners.

The Governor states:—

"I consider the number of officers are not sufficient for the proper discharge of the duties, as required by the rules. A warder who should act as schoolmaster and assist in the discipline of the prison would be a great advantage. A kitchen has been recommended by the several inspectors; it would materially assist the matron in the discharge of her duties. On some occassions she has had six female prisoners at one time under her charge. All were entirely ignorant of any useful work, and unable to read. If she had a proper kitchen she would be able to devote more time to the instruction of the prisoners, and they might all be kept usefully employed."

WAKEFIELD HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

[Inspected 11th August 1853.]

Number of prisoners on the day of inspection :—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| West Riding prisoners | 517 | 122 | 639 |
| Government convicts | 399 | — | 399 |
| Total | | | 1,038 |
| Sick West Riding prisoners | 10 | 14 | 24 |
| „ Convicts | 21 | — | 21 |
| Total | | | 45 |

The committals during the year, exclusive of government convicts, were:—

|---|---|
| Males | 2,982 |
| Females | 618 |
| Total | 3,600 |

showing a decrease of 116 males and 61 females as compared with the preceding year.

About 6-10ths of the prisoners belong to the districts.

There has been no alteration in the buildings or in the discipline of the prison since the last inspection; but it is in contemplation to convert some part of the old prison into workrooms, in which the boys may be employed in association. The surgeon still considers the drainage defective in the old prison, but the new buildings are well drained.

The provisions were of good quality. The daily cost of the food was :—

West Riding prisoners, a fraction less than 4*d.* per head.
Government convicts, ditto ditto 6*d.* „

The general state of the health of the prisoners in all parts of the prison has been good. There were five deaths amongst the West Riding prisoners, and eight convicts had died.

The surgeon of the West Riding prison states :—

"273 prisoners have been admitted into the infirmary, the daily average being 21. The proportion of sick to the daily average number of prisoners has been 3·4 per cent.

"I am gratified in stating that, notwithstanding the crowded state of the prison, the number of deaths has been rather less than 1 per cent.

"No cases of insanity, but three cases of slight hallucination have occurred, which have ceased by a relaxation of the discipline, and all have recovered.

"I have to regret a case of suicide, in which no symptoms of despondency or mental peculiarity had been previously observed.

"I am not aware that any removeable cause of disease exists in the locality, state of the building, employment, or diet of the prisoners; and I believe that the warmth, cleanliness, and ventilation (with the exception of the cells in the old prison) has been satisfactory."

The surgeon of the convict prison states :—

"The general health of the prisoner has been good; the number of new cases placed on the sick list has been 283, of which 20 were hospital cases. The average daily per-centage of prisoners on the sick list was 4·46, and on extra diet 17·56.

"The most prevalent diseases were abscess (32 cases), boils (40 cases), catarrh (68 cases), and diarrhœa (35 cases); these four classes alone containing nearly 62 per cent. of the whole cases.

"There have been eight deaths during the year :—

D. P., tubercular consumption.
J. B., abscess of the kidneys.
S. E., tubercular peritinitis.
G. D., bronchitis.

M. C., pneumonia.
A. B., tubercular consuumption.
J. B., tubercular consumption.
J. T. S., obstruction of the bowels.

There had been three cases of insanity during the year amongst the convicts; two had recovered, and one had been removed to a lunatic asylum.

There were three attempts at suicide. The chaplain says:—

"Two, I believe, to have been real, the effects of momentary impulse; the third, I am of opinion, was a feigned attempt."

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplains, either in the West Riding or the convict prison. The schoolmasters are well qualified for their duties.

The chaplain of the convict prison entertains a very strong impression that the moral improvement of the prisoners does not meet with due encouragement, and that industrial employment exercises too much influence over the classification.

I questioned many of the prisoners, but could not find that the hours set apart for instruction had been interfered with. Constant employment is necessary, both to the mental and bodily health of all prisoners placed in separate confinement, and the lower the standard of the prisoner in intellect, the more necessary active employment becomes. It would, I consider, be very unsafe to leave prisoners in separate confinement for long periods without such employment.

I also examined with much attention the returns made by the chaplain, trades' instructors, and discipline officers, with a view to the classification of the prisoners. It appeared to me that the final classification by the Governor was fairly made from the collective returns from the several departments, and without any undue bias to the reports of the trades' instructors.

There has been an increase in the number of punishments for prison offences, both in the Convict and in the West Riding Prisons. The numbers were last year:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| West Riding prisoners | 900 | 37 | 937 |
| Convicts | 377 | – | 377 |
| Total | | | 1314 |

In 1852 the numbers were:—

|---|---|
| West Riding prisoners | 784 |
| Government convicts | 194 |
| Total | 978 |

Prisoners continue to be employed as matmakers, weavers, tailors, joiners, shoemakers, and in the general work of the prison. Those sentenced for short periods are employed preparing the fibre for the matmakers. The clear profit on work done for sale during the year was :—

| | £ | s. | d. |
|---|---|---|---|
| By the West Riding prisoners | 2,982 | 4 | 10½ |
| „ Government convicts | 2,095 | 15 | 0 |

showing an increase in the profits, 278*l.* 5*s.* 5*d.* on the work done by the West Riding prisoners, and 128*l.* 5*s.* 6*d.* by the convicts.

The estimated value of work done for the prison was:—

| | £ | s. | d. |
|---|---|---|---|
| West Riding prisoners | 246 | 10 | 8 |
| Government convicts | 22 | 2 | 8 |

The net cost per prisoner was :—

| | £ | s. | d. |
|---|---|---|---|
| County prisoners | 13 | 10 | 4 |
| Government convicts | 17 | 3 | 0 |

YORK CASTLE.

[Inspected 21st May and 24th August 1853.]

Number of prisoners in confinement:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 55 | 14 | 69 |
| Debtors | 60 | — | 60 |
| Total | | | 129 |
| Sick | 6 | 1 | 7 |

The commitments during the year were :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Criminals | 256 | 33 | 289 |
| Debtors | 366 | 5 | 371 |
| Total | | | 660 |

showing a decrease of 123 as compared with the preceding year. But there was an increase in the daily average number of criminals. This may be accounted for by the fact that sentences of imprisonment are now carried out in this prison. Formerly prisoners were committed to the Castle for trial, and on conviction were removnd to the County House of Correction to undergo a sentence of hard labour.

There has been no alteration in the building since the last Report. The prison was originally built rather as a place of detention for prisoners before trial, the chief object considered being the safe custody of the prisoners, consequently the means of classifying and employing the prisoners are insufficient. A plan for converting some portion of the buildings into workrooms, where prisoners may work under proper supervision, is now under consideration; and in the meantime such employment as the accommodation will admit of has been provided. Prisoners sentenced to hard labour are employed sawing and polishing marble, a contract having been entered into with a statuary and mason in the city. Other prisoners are employed chopping wood, matmaking, tailoring, and making clogs. The clear profit on work done by contract or for sale last year was 68*l.* 9*s.* 7*d.*, and the estimated value of work done for the prison was 160*l.* 0*s.* 4*d.* Prisoners before trial, with a few exceptions, show a great desire to be employed.

The prison was clean and in good order throughout. The clothing and bedding are sufficient. The diet table was framed and approved for prisoners before trial only, and is not sufficient for prisoners employed at hard labour. An addition of one pint of milk daily and 2 oz. of rice three times a week has been issued to prisoners employed at hard labour; but this addition has not been submitted for the approval of the Secretary of State. I recommended the adoption of the official dietaries, or a diet table framed on the same principle. The daily cost of the food per head was, criminals 4¼*d.*, debtors 6¾*d.*, exclusive of the extra diet ordered by the surgeon, which amounted to 56*l.* 3*s.* 8*d.*

The general health of the prisoners is represented to be "good." There had been no death or removal on medical grounds.

There has been no change in the duties performed by the chaplain and schoolmaster. The prisoners appear to make satisfactory progress.

The number of punishments awarded for prison offences was:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 116 |
| Female - - - - - | 8 |
| | 124 |

The conduct of the prisoners generally is represented to be good and orderly; misconduct is confined to a few.

Three prisoners under sentence of tranportation, and one sentenced to two years' imprisonment, complained that the diet was insufficient. I directed the surgeon's attention to these cases, in order that they might be supplied with "extra diet," if necessary.

I recommended that the practice of smoking tobacco, which is carried on to a great extent in the debtors' gaol, should be prohibited, except in special cases ordered by the medical officer.

YORK CITY GAOL.

[Inspected 18th May and 24th August 1853.]

Number of prisoners in confinement on the day of inspection:—

|---|---|
| Male | 29 |
| Female | 5 |
| Total | 34 |

Sick, none.

There has been very little variation in the daily average number of prisoners for the last three years, the numbers being:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1851 | 42 | 6 | 48 |
| 1852 | 40 | 6 | 46 |
| 1853 | 40 | 8 | 48 |

The number of committals for the same years were 570, 415, and 412 respectively. In the latter year there was an increase of 44 in the number of females, principally for disorderly conduct in the streets; but the number of male prisoners had continued to decrease.

There has been no alteration in the buildings or the discipline of the prison since the last report. I met several of the visiting justices and town council by appointment at the prison, and urged them to establish some better system of classification and supervision, especially with the prisoners employed in the stone yard. I also directed their attention to the diet, and the arrangements for cooking and distributing the food. There is at present only one scale of diet in use for all prisoners, whether sentenced for one month or one year

Alterations had been made in the diet table by the local authorities without the sanction of the Secretary of State, and all the provisions, except milk and bread (which alone are supplied by contract), are purchased by the matron, who also cooks the food in her own kitchen, and weighs the several rations for distribution.

I made the following recommendations:—

1st. Separate compartments to be constructed for prisoners employed breaking stones, and a regular task to be measured to each prisoner daily.

2d. All stores and provisions to be supplied by contract, and to be issued by the Governor daily.

3d. A cook-house to be built for the prison, distinct from the kitchen now used in common by the families of the Governor and matron and the prisoners.

4th. A proper officer to be appointed to superintend the cooking and distribution of food. When not engaged in the cook-house, his services to be at the disposal of the Governor for the general duties of the prison.

Several prisoners made complaints respecting the soup and meat, and two prisoners also stated that they were not supplied with clean linen regularly as required by the rules. The soup and meat were perfectly good on the day of inspection; but I forwarded to the mayor a copy of the several statements made by the prisoners, and also requested the surgeon to examine the provisions frequently, and to make an entry in his journal accordingly.

The surgeon represents the health of the prisoners to be generally "good." There had been no death or removal on medical grounds during the year. He considers the ventilation and drainage good in all parts of the prison.

There is no schoolmaster. The chaplain states:—

"After service on Tuesday mornings, I hear the female prisoners read, and on Thursday mornings I hear the male prisoners read, and exercise them in writing. On these occasimns I give them familiar and simple religious instruction. Those who cannot read, but wish to learn, are supplied with elementary reading books, in order that they may be taught by other prisoners." "The prisoners, generally," he adds, "make as much progress as can be expected, considering the limited time that I am able to employ in teaching them, and that no schoolmaster is provided. The appointment of a properly qualified schoolmaster would unquestionably be a great advantage to the prisoners."

In the early part of the year a spirit of insubordination was manifested for a time. It appears to have been confined to a few, principally the younger prisoners. Latterly, their conduct is represented to have been "good." The punishments awarded did not exceed three days' solitary confinement on bread and water. The number was:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners - - - - | 104 |
| Female do. - - - - - | 11 |
| Total - - - | 115 |

Amongst the chief offences I find insubordination, quarrelling, petty thefts of food, &c., all proceeding from the unrestricted association.

Breaking stones is the only employment carried on in the prison. All the prisoners so employed (averaging from 25 to 30 daily) are congregated in the stone yard, under the charge of one officer, who cannot possibly do more than check any act of open violence or insubordination.

The Governor (who was appointed the latter end of the year 1852, on the death of the late Governor,) is anxious to make himself thoroughly acquainted with his duties. He appears to be zealous, active, and attentive, and will, I hope, introduce a little better discipline into this gaol; but to do this he will require the services of another officer. The present staff of the prison is:—Governor, matron, 1 male turnkey, and a gate keeper.

The prisoners are associated both in the day-rooms and at labour, and should be under constant supervision; but with so few officers, this, as well as other duties, must, I fear, be very imperfectly performed.

One prisoner sentenced for three months, effected his escape over the boundary wall. He was taken near Wakefield for another offence committed before his imprisonment, and sentenced to one year's imprisonment with hard labour.

TWENTY-FIRST REPORT OF THE INSPECTORS OF PRISONS.

III.—SOUTHERN AND WESTERN DISTRICT.

To the Right Hon. Sir GEORGE GREY, Bart.,
&c. &c. &c.

Secretary of State for the Home Department.

Sir, Westbourne Street, 12th April 1856.

I beg leave to submit to you my Annual Report upon the state of the Prisons under my inspection, in conformity with the provisions of 5 & 6 Will. 4. c. 38.

Under the head of each of those establishments will be found the details of its condition at the time of the last inspection, and of any changes which may have taken place in it since the date of the preceding report; together with a brief statistical statement bearing on the question of the increase or diminution of crime in the locality from which it receives its inmates.

I have the greatest satisfaction in stating that a very general disposition is manifested by benevolent individuals throughout the district under my inspection to avail themselves of the provisions of the "Youthful Offenders Act" (17 & 18 Vict. c. 86.), as is evinced by the fact that there have been no less than thirteen reformatory schools certified within the district in the brief period which has elapsed since the enactment of that statute.

As the shortest period for which children can be ordered for detention in these establishments is two years, the time is not yet arrived for testing the stability of the principles which it is the aim of the managers to inculcate. It is, therefore, needless to remark that no opinion founded on experience can yet be pronounced upon the results of the reformatory management adopted; but there is every reason to hope that the enlarged views, which cannot fail to be derived from the interchange of ideas among the many enlightened persons who are conducting this great experiment, will be attended with the most beneficial effects in determining the principles upon which it should proceed.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient humble servant,
JOHN G. PERRY,
Inspector of Prisons.

POSTSCRIPT.

The number of children in the reformatory schools of the Southern and Western District at time of the latest return was as follows :—

|---|---|
| Schools for Boys. | |
| Saltley, near Birmingham | 34 |
| Hardwicke, near Gloucester | 41 |
| Kingswood, near Bristol | 38 |
| Stoke, near Bromsgrove | 35 |
| Devon and Exeter Reformatory | 20 |
| Leicestershire Reformatory at Peckleton | 24 |
| Northamptonshire Reformatory at Tiffield | 9 |
| Agricultural Colony attached to Mount St. Bernard's Abbey, near Loughborough | 29 |
| Worcestershire Reformatory, near Shelsley | 8 |
| Schools for Girls. | |
| The Red Lodge at Bristol | 36 |
| The Birmingham Girls' Reformatory | 16 |
| Arno's Court, near Bristol | 11 |
| Allesley Farm, near Coventry | 4 |

If any further proof were required beyond what has been already urged in recommendation of the course of providing special asylums for the reception and reformation of criminal children, it would be furnished by the fact that 1,430 such children were committed to the several prisons of the Southern and Western District in the year which ended at Michaelmas 1855.

The prisoners on being separately questioned made no complaints.

The cells, wards, and yards of the prison were very clean and orderly, and the bedding and body clothing of prisoners were in good order.

The food was of good quality, with the exception of the oatmeal, which did not seem equally excellent. The beef is boiled quite fresh, and on the occasion of my visit was also fresh killed. It would, in my opinion, be a great advantage to have the beef salted for two days before it is dressed. The potatoes have been so bad that rice has been substituted for them, and the prisoners are in better health in consequence. The custom prevalent almost universally of soaking the oatmeal in cold water for some hours preparatory to boiling it, is not observed here; and, as diarrhœa prevails very much in the prison, I would suggest that the plan referred to should be adopted, in order to render the gruel less likely to cause the disease. The gruel for the men is seasoned with salt, that for the women is sweetened with treacle.

The following table shows a great increase in the number of commitments in the last year; but this must not be attributed altogether to an increase in the number of criminals, as the Houses of Correction of Lawford's Gate and Little Dean being now no longer used for the confinement of prisoners, necessarily causes a larger number to be committed to the County Gaol :—

No alteration has been made in the building since the date of the last report, although some parts of it have been differently appropriated. The prison appeared to be in very good repair throughout.

The prison has been unusually healthy of late, and no epidemic of an alarming character has manifested itself since 1854, when cholera prevailed to some extent. Three deaths have occurred among the prisoners, of which one was occasioned by the same disease, being the last case which appeared during the epidemic.

Much credit is due to the chaplain for the beneficial influence exerted by him over the minds of prisoners, which is due in a great measure to his zealous attention and conciliating address, mixed with inflexible firmness. In addition to his arduous duties within the prison, he has been active of late in founding, under the auspices of some of the visiting justices, a refuge for discharged prisoners. This establishment has been so short a time in operation, that it would be premature to offer any sanguine opinion as to its eventual value; but I have every hope that its agency in giving support to the good intentions of reformed prisoners will be attended with good results.

The expenditure and receipts on account of the prison are shown in the following abstract:—

GLOUCESTER.—CITY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

The defects of this prison are, I lament to say, the same in kind and scarcely amended in degree from those which have been repeatedly pointed out—especially in the 15th and 18th reports.

Since the date of the report last referred to, an arrangement has been made by which the prisoners convicted at assizes and sessions are removed to the County Gaol, under contract; this has in some degree reduced the numbers in the part of the prison devoted to that class of prisoners, but even there the number generally exceeds that of the cells for their accommodation, so that three prisoners are placed in cells only large enough properly to contain a single prisoner.

But it is in the part of the prison occupied by the untried male prisoners that the evil to which I allude exists in the greatest degree. In this division of the prison, as has been repeatedly pointed out in former reports, there exist only two cells for the night accommodation of all the untried prisoners, however numerous they may be. Each of these cells contains two beds, each bed being formed by placing together two bedsteads and covering them with a single set of bedding. The object of this arrangement is to admit of three men sleeping together in each bed, as the single bedsteads are found to be too narrow for two prisoners to sleep in. It is difficult to ascertain with certainty how many prisoners may, on occasion, have slept in these double beds, but I ascertained beyond a question that on the night preceding my recent visit six men slept in two of them.

Independently of the moral evils of this close juxtaposition of the prisoners (continued at some seasons of the year for 15 or 16 hours), which it is needless to dwell upon, the effect upon their health must be very injurious. Infectious diseases, imported by one prisoner, are communicated by him to others in the ward from this cause, and from the want of any reception-cells wherein he may be detained until his freedom from disease can be ascertained. In a former report I have alluded to an instance of this kind, in which the itch, introduced in the manner described, remained unsubdued for two or three months, notwithstanding all the efforts of the surgeon to eradicate it.

In the division occupied by females the accommodation is quite inadequate for the number of persons occasionally confined; and as there are only one day-room and one sleeping-room for all the criminal prisoners, the untried and convicted are placed together, contrary to the express prohibition in the 4th Geo. 4. c. 64. s. 10.

Besides this, it should be mentioned that there is only one airing-yard for the use of the untried and convicted criminal prisoners and the debtors, when there are any of the last-named class in confinement.

For this very objectionable state of things one of two remedies appears to me absolutely indispensable: either the remaining prisoners should be permanently maintained, under contract, in the County Gaol, or the prison should be rebuilt upon an improved plan, in which case the contract will only be necessary until its completion.

I beg leave to submit that the interests of the public require that one of these remedies be adopted without further delay; for it is not too much to assert that those interests would suffer less from the total impunity of many of the offenders than from their confinement in such a prison as that under consideration, where nearly all their time is spent in idleness and mutual contamination.

The following prisoners were present on the last day of inspection:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| For trial at Assizes | 1 | 1 | 2 |
| For trial at Sessions | 5 | 3 | 8 |
| Sentenced to penal servitude | – | 1 | 1 |
| Sentenced under the Criminal Justice Act | 4 | – | 4 |
| Others summarily sentenced | 4 | 3 | 7 |
| Remanded for further examination | 1 | – | 1 |
| Debtor | 1 | – | 1 |
| | 16 | 8 | 24 |

The cases of the convicted prisoners are more particularly described in the Appendix. The debtor, J. N. P., aged 46, was under commitment by the County Court for 40 days, from the 24th of May. His debt and the costs upon the proceedings amounted to 44*l.* 14*s.*

The prisoners on being separately questioned made no complaints.

None of the male prisoners were engaged in any employment, except that of whitewashing, in which some of the convicted prisoners were occupied. No employment is offered to untried male prisoners as required by law. The female prisoners, tried and untried, were employed in washing.

The following table shows the number of prisoners of each class in custody in the last year, and the total number as compared with that of the previous year:—

In the females' prison (as stated above) the untried and convicted prisoners are all confined together, a breach of the law which is only one of the consequences of the defective state of the prison It might, however, generally be avoided by putting the untried women in the female debtors' rooms, which are very rarely required for that class of prisoners. A convict woman, who ought to have been sent to the County Gaol with other convicted prisoners, has been very improperly retained here eleven months since her conviction, the ground alleged for having detained her being that at the time she was convicted there was not room for her to be

The prison was very clean, and had been recently white-washed throughout.

The chaplain visits the prison twice a week, and remains from half an hour to an hour at each visit. There is no schoolmaster engaged. The chaplain spoke feelingly of the sad state of demoralization arising from the unrestrained intercourse of prisoners, as did also one of the Visiting Justices with whom I had an interview. It would be very desirable that the visits of these gentlemen should be more frequent, that they might become cognizant of all the arguments for amendment furnished by the condition of the prison. Ten or twelve visits in a year, generally by a single magistrate, and with occasional intervals of three months, are not sufficient for this purpose.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison in the last year are shown in the following abstract:—

BRISTOL.—COMMON GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

It was stated in the last report upon this prison that a chapel was in progress of being built mainly by the labour of prisoners, the cost being entirely defrayed by the produce of the labour of other prisoners employed in picking oakum. This edifice is now complete, and service was to be performed in it in a few days from the date of my visit. The execution of the work is as creditable to the taste and judgment of the governor, by whom it was designed even to the minutest details, as to the industry and skill of the prisoners, which he has brought to bear upon the work. It may be safely predicated, that the moral improvement which has been effected in the prisoners by this useful application of their labour has been commensurate with the gain to the establishment; for, if the men had not been thus employed, they would have been working at unproductive labour on the treadmill, and no axiom is more established than that labour is morally beneficial in the exact ratio of the advantage felt to result from it by the labourer, either to himself or to society.

No alteration has been made in the other parts of the prison since the date of the last report. It is intended, after the new chapel shall be quite completed, to convert the old chapel into stores, which are much wanted. The buildings generally are in good repair, but I would recommend that a gaslight be placed in the day room of the County Court debtors, as has already been done in that of the other debtors.

The prisoners in confinement on the last day of inspection were as follows:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |

The particulars of the cases of the convicted prisoners will be found in the Appendix.

The following table shows the cases of the debtors under confinement :—

The prisoners, on being separately questioned apart from the officers, made no complaints.

I tasted all the articles of food, which were of very good quality.

The only useful labour performed in the prison is that of oakum picking. Prisoners who are not so employed work on the treadmill for nine hours daily, but the only work that is done by the wheel is that of raising water, which would be equally well done without its assistance by the water company, at no cost to the prison. I am informed, that if the power were devoted to grinding corn, a profit of more than 15*s.* a day might be added to the receipts, in addition to the moral advantage which might be expected to result to the prisoners from the change.

A small reduction took place in the number of commitments in the last year as compared with the preceding; this is shown by the following table : —

The accounts of the prison for the last year present a very large amount of profit as arising from the labour of prisoners; but this is not all to be accounted as money actually received, some of it being set down as the estimated value of prisoners' labour devoted to the building of the chapel, their wages, when thus employed, being estimated at its supposed value. There has been, however, a clear receipt in money of 276*l.* 11*s.* 4*d.* for the picking of oakum.

The following abstract shows the expenditure and receipts on account of the prison for the year ending Michaelmas 1855 :—

The punishments are rather numerous, but not of a severe character. Whipping is very rarely inflicted, but a single case of it occurred in the year. One prisoner also was put in irons for violent and refractory conduct, but the restraint was only continued for three hours.

There has been very little sickness in the prison in the last year, and at the time of my visit it was very free from disease. The surgeon attends daily, or oftener if his services are required.

The chaplain performs a service daily, being a selection from the Liturgy, varying for each day in the week. He afterwards visits the prisoners in their cells, in divisions, so that each prisoner is seen about once a week, and if any prisoner requests to see him, he takes him out of his turn. It generally happens that there are some Roman Catholics in confinement, but they have seldom asked to see a priest, and the priest does not visit them unless sent for. The prisoners are generally very attentive to the advice of the chaplain when they are kept in separation, but it is noticed that, when from the crowded state of the prison the same men have been associated together, they have become inattentive and disrespectful.

The library for the use of prisoners consists almost entirely of religious books. It would be very desirable that there should be added a sufficient supply of books of general information, which would be useful to the more advanced prisoners, and also tempt the beginners to apply themselves. Upon my suggesting to the magistrates that such an addition to the library would be desirable, they informed me that they intended to make it immediately.

The schoolmaster instructs all the male convicted prisoners who are unable to read and write well, but he has no concern with the untried prisoners, or with those who have already a fair amount of instruction. All prisoners whatever are, however, allowed the use of the prison library. It is admitted that it would be better that the whole of the prisoners should be instructed, untried as well as convicted, but the process of instruction is so slow that one schoolmaster would be unable to do it, and, accordingly, a selection becomes necessary. The schoolmaster has other duties which prevent him from giving proper attention to his especial duties, so that a prisoner seldom comes under the instruction of the schoolmaster so frequently as once in a week for half an hour. On inspecting his journal, I found several instances of prisoners being instructed once in a month, and in one case a prisoner only saw the schoolmaster once in three months. It is obvious that such an amount of teaching for the entirely ignorant must be absolutely valueless. I have, therefore, to recommend that the schoolmaster be kept entirely to the duties of instruction, by which he would be enabled to take every convicted prisoner who is unable to read and write, on an average, three times a week for half an hour. I took occasion to suggest this alteration to the visiting justices, who promised to take it into consideration immediately. The chaplain distributes the books to prisoners who can read.

The schoolmistress having a smaller number of pupils, and having no other duties to distract her attention, is more efficient in her department. The chaplain speaks very highly of the zeal and diligence of both the teachers, and of the improvement in the demeanour of the prisoners traceable to their agency.

BRISTOL.—CITY BRIDEWELL.

THE buildings were in good repair at the time of the last inspection, and no change had been made since the prison was last visited.

The prisoners in confinement on the day of inspection were—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Prisoners summarily convicted - | 49 | 5 | 54 |
| Remanded for examination - | 4 | 1 | 5 |
| | 53 | 6 | 59 |

Of the male prisoners, no less than 27 were under 16, and many under 14, who would have been fitter subjects for reformatory schools. Several of them, of diminutive stature, had been in prison several times before, and there is every probability that if the same course be pursued with them, they will still continue in the habit of crime which has brought them there.

In the year ending at Michaelmas last, no less than 183 boys and girls under 15 were received as prisoners, being nearly one-fifth of the whole number received!

The prisoners when interrogated made no complaints.

The particulars of the cases of the convicted prisoners will be found in the Appendix.

The following table exhibits a very large increase in the number of commitments in the course of the last year:—

Oakum picking is the only labour now performed by the prisoners; in the summer, when they can work in the open air, stone-breaking is added.

There was very little sickness at the time of my visit. Itch cases being rather numerous, I suggested to the surgeon the employment of sulphureous fumigation for the cure of that disease.

The duties of the chaplain and surgeon are the same as have been described in former reports. One of the warders employs some of his time as a schoolmaster.

The male prisoners were employed at the time of my visit at the crank-mill, which sometimes raises water for the use of the prison, and at other times work unprofitably. No productive employment has yet been given to the hard-abour prisoners, and those sentenced to imprisonment without hard labour are merely employed in cleaning the prison, which can scarcely be considered a compliance with the provisions of the Act. The same may be said of the untried prisoners, who have nothing to do except to clean their own division: so that the "option of employment" required by law, cannot be said to be furnished to them. No male prisoners are employed in any work in their cells.

Agreeably to the suggestions contained in the last report, it has been determined to have the washing done by the female prisoners, instead of outside, as at present; and a plan has been drawn by the governor for a wash-house, upon a convenient construction, with four separate washing cells, drying-closet, ironing room, &c., which is to be immediately adopted. The women enjoy in this prison the great moral advantage of being employed in useful labour, which is still, in a great measure, denied to the men. The making and mending for the use of the prison being considerable, keeps all the convicted prisoners of the former sex employed, and affords the means of giving employment to the untried.

Little alteration has taken place in the prison since the date of the report in which it was fully described. The drainage, however, has lately been very much improved. There have been two windows opened in the females' corridor, by which the closeness formerly complained of in that part has been corrected. The chapel is represented to be very cold in winter, a complaint which was also notied in the last report on this prison.

The clothing and bedding of the prisoners were in very good condition, and I am glad to add, that an additioual sheet has been allowed to all prisoners, who formerly received one only.

No change has been made in the chaplain's duties, as described in former reports. The schoolmaster also continued to give to each prisoner ten minutes' instruction daily, in the intervals of labour, in the school. I have formerly drawn attention to the inefficacy of this method of instruction. I would now beg to suggest, that if the secular instruction of prisoners could be conducted in the chapel, as well as that of a strictly religious character, a much larger amount of instruction might be given to them than is now possible.

The supply of books for the use of prisoners is very sufficient, and the loan of them is much valued by the prisoners The books are changed once a week by the schoolmaster.

The prison was very healthy at the time of my visit, and very little illness had prevailed in the course of the year. Three deaths occurred in the previous year from natural causes.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison are shown in the subjoined abstract:—

TOTAL Expenditure and Receipts in the Year ending Michaelmas 1855 under the following heads:

HEREFORD.—CITY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

No change has been made in the building since the date of the last report, except that the police station is now completely separated from the gaol. The prison was in very good repair throughout.

The prisoners were few in number, in comparison with the usual amount, and were under the following denominations:

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Prisoners for trial | 2 | — | 2 |
| Convicted at Assizes and Sessions | 2 | — | 2 |

| | 10 | 1 | 11 |

The cases of the convicted prisoners are referred to in the Appendix. No debtors were in confinement. The prisoners made no complaints.

The following table shows the total number of those confined in the last year, which will be found to be much in advance of the preceding years:—

The male prisoners were employed in breaking stones, mat-making, and mending the paths in the prison. The female in clearing the kitchen.

The prison was clean and orderly. The receipts and expenditure have been as follow :—

The manufactures done in the prison, of which favourable mention has been made in former reports, have quite sunk in importance, by the introduction of stone-breaking instead, this employment having been commenced to supply stone for mending the city roads.

The office of matron was vacant at the time of my visit, the late matron having been discharged for having, contrary to law, visited her husband in his cell while he was confined on a charge of felony.

No change has taken place in the chaplain's duty; but the surgeon is now required to attend daily, and to inspect all the prisoners twice a week. No schoolmaster is employed.

LEICESTERSHIRE.

LEICESTER.—COUNTY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

No alteration having been made in the construction of the building since the date of the report in which it was minutely described, I have only to observe that it was scrupulously clean in every part and in very good repair. Some inconvenience is beginning to be felt from the accumulation of dust in the locks, an accident very liable to occur to the locks of cells which are ventilated artificially, the strong current perpetually maintained into the extracting shaft causing a corresponding current through the lock as well as through the other apertures of the cell. This inconvenience, which causes very great expense from time to time in cleaning the locks, might be in a great measure prevented by hanging on the outside of the keyhole the small escutchion or shield often applied to the locks of sitting-rooms.

Bells have now been put in the bed-rooms of the debtors to enable them to call an officer at night, and gas has been introduced into the cells.

The prisoners present at the last day of inspection were, as follows :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Prisoners for trial - - - | 6 | 4 | 10 |
| Convicted at Assizes or Sessions - | 32 | 11 | 43 |

The cases of the convicted prisoners are alluded to in the Appendix. The following lists refers particularly to those of the debtors:—

Having spoken separately to each prisoner, I heard no complaint of any grievance within the prison.

The prisoners were engaged at the time of my visit in the following kinds of labour:—

|---|---|
| Male prisoners:— | |
| Hard labour crank | 33 |
| Platting and picking coir | 13 |
| Mat making | 10 |
| Matting weaving | 1 |
| Mop making | 1 |
| Coir brush making | 4 |
| Picking wool and waste | 5 |
| Grinding corn and beans | 2 |
| Tailoring | 1 |
| Mattress making | 1 |
| Hammock mending | 1 |
| Cooking | 1 |
| Brace making | 1 |
| | 74 |
| Female prisoners:— | |
| Washing prisoners' clothes | 2 |
| Making and mending do. | 10 |
| Picking waste | 1 |
| | 13 |

The Government convicts were employed at shoemaking and tailoring.

The following table shows the total of persons who have been confined in the prison (exclusively of Government convicts under contract) in the last year under the different denominations, and the grand total of the previous year for comparison:—

It will be seen by the above table that a small reduction has taken place in the number of criminal prisoners as well as in that of debtors. It should be mentioned that for some years past the debtors from the borough have been sent to the County Gaol under contract, in consequence of the overcrowded state of the Borough Prison.

The punishments for prison offences have been much less severe than in former years. Corporal punishment has only been inflicted three times, in two of which the same prisoner was punished for the most determined resistance to authority, which was probably thought incorrigible by milder means; it may, however, admit of a question whether the lash is really more efficacious than milder measures in the treatment of determined obstinacy. The following catalogue, extracted from the Misconduct Book, of offences which followed the corporal punishments inflicted upon this individual shows at least that in his case very little was gained by them:—

October 4th.—The prisoner is flogged to thirty-six lashes for refusal to work.

On the same day he is again reported for the same offence, as also on the 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, and 9th.

On the 10th he is again flogged to forty-eight lashes.

On the 11th he is again reported for the same cause, and, after several more reports for precisely the same offence, he is sentenced, on the 18th, to confinement in a dark cell for ten days, at the end of which he is discharged from prison, his original sentence having expired.

It would be difficult to find a stronger example of the irritating character of unproductive labour or of the inefficacy of punishment in overcoming the repugnance to its performance.

The bedding was very clean and orderly, but no sheets are allowed to the prisoners of either sex, in which this prison forms an exception to most of the county prisons in my district. In many other places the introduction of the use of sheets was in the first instance opposed on the ground of its being a presumed indulgence to the prisoners. This opinion has given way to more exact observation, and the use of sheets having been pretty generally adopted, it has been found no less conducive to economy than to cleanliness, for the frequent washing of the blankets, necessary where sheets are not used, causes so rapid a destruction of them that the cost of sheets is very soon paid for by the money saved in the purchase of blankets.

The chaplain performs a service every morning at twenty minutes past nine, consisting of a selection from the Liturgy, which is frequently followed by a short lecture. He visits all the prisoners in their cells, each prisoner being seen at least once a week. He frequently visits the school and catechises the prisoners, examining them also as to their knowledge of Scripture. On Sundays two full services are performed with sermons. The sick are always visited daily, as also are those under punishment.

The chaplain speaks very highly of the efficiency of the schoolmaster. The books for the use of prisoners include those of general instruction; they are, however, somewhat deficient in quantity, and very much damaged by wear and wilful injury, but are about to be increased by a small grant from the visiting justices. Very little instruction is given to the prisoners, except that which is of a purely religious character.

The schoolmaster comes to the prison at 9 A.M., and attends the chapel as clerk. From 10 to 11 he takes one class of prisoners (of which there are four) into the chapel, and instructs them in Scriptural knowledge. At 11 he takes another class whom he instructs till 1 on the same subject, but in neither case is any instruction given of a secular character. At 2 o'clock on returning from dinner he writes what letters there may be to be written for prisoners, and devotes the rest of the time till ½ past 4 to the secular instruction of prisoners in their cells. On an average of the week, there will thus be about 1½ hour to give to the secular instruction daily. If this time were devoted to instruction in the chapel to the whole class collectively, much good might be effected in it, but as secular instruction is only allowed to be imparted in the cells, where the prisoners can only be taught singly, it is obvious that anything that can be done in so short a time as 1½ hour divided between 50, 60, or 70 prisoners must be merely nominal. In advising that secular instruction should be given in the prison chapel, I am only suggesting a practice very generally adopted in large prisons including most of those under direct Government management, as Pentonville prison.

The surgeon attends at the prison daily, and oftener when required. He visits on these occasions the prisoners under punishment for prison offences. There was scarcely any sickness in the prison at the time of my visit except among such as were brought in ailing. There have been in the course of the last year, as usual, many cases of diarrhœa so numerous as to deserve the name of an epidemic. The surgeon finds the most efficacious mode of stopping the diarrhœa is, to omit the molasses from the gruel and substitute salt. There has been one instance of suicide in the year, and six prisoners have died from diseases, for the most part existing on their admission. Four prisoners have been removed to the Leicestershire Lunatic Asylum on account of insanity. They were all insane on admission.

The expenditure and receipts on account of the prison for the year are shown in the following abstract :—

I feel it to be matter for much congratulation, that productive labour is pursued in the prison even to the limited extent indicated in the above account, but I should not do my duty if I were to neglect any opportunity of recording my firm conviction, that the practice of employing the prisoners for so great a part of their stay in what has been aptly termed "grinding the air," by means of the hard labour crank, is not more unphilosophical in principle than it is worthless as a means of promoting reformation.

LEICESTER.—BOROUGH GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

The following prisoners were present on the last day of inspection :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Prisoners for trial - - - | 8 | 0 | 8 |
| Convicted at Assizes or Sessions - | 34 | 12 | 46 |
| Under the Criminal Justice Act - | 6 | 1 | 7 |
| Under Juvenile Offenders Act - | 2 | 1 | 3 |
| Other summary convictions - | 11 | 1 | 12 |
| | 61 | 15 | 76 |

None of the prisoners on being questioned separately made any complaints of their treatment.

The cases of the convicted prisoners are more particularly referred to in the Appendix. One prisoner was under punishment of 3 days' bread and water in a dark cell for having used obscene language in chapel.

The debtors are all sent to the County Gaol. At the time of my last inspection the gaol was not nearly so full as on the previous day of inspection in July 1855, and still less full than in January 1855, when the prisoners amounted to 86 males and 34 females, the largest number that it ever contained. In consequence of the crowded state of the prison at that time, I felt it my duty to call the attention of the magistrates to the circumstance, and to inquire what measures were in contemplation to provide extra accommodation. The answer to my application was the following letter from the Town Clerk and the report of the Visiting Justices, which are subjoined :—

Sir, Leicester, May 16, 1855.

I am desired by the Mayor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 14th inst., as to the Borough Gaol, and to inform you that the magistrates will take into consideration the report of the Visiting Justices as to an arrangement with the County Magistrates for receiving part of the borough prisoners at the Quarter Sessions at the end of June or beginning of July.

The Sessions held this week is one by adjournment, and the Gaol Sessions not having been adjourned to that day, and no reply having been yet received from the county, no steps can be taken effectually until the next Quarter Sessions.

I am, &c.,

SAML. STONE,
Town Clerk.

John G. Perry, Esq.

The Visiting Justices have to report that they have visited the Gaol and House of Correction, and that the health of the prisoners has been good, and their conduct satisfactory. One prisoner named Ward, who was in a bad state of health at the time of his commitment, died during the past quarter, but his death was in no way attributable to his treatment or confinement in gaol.

Nearly the whole of the prison has been painted by the prisoners, and both the Gaol and House of Correction are in good repair and condition. The Justices regret that the number of prisoners during the past quarter has been large, owing in part, as the Justices believe, to the depressed condition of the staple trade of the town and the unusually high price of the necessaries of life—the increase in the price of food being followed by an increase in the number of commitments for workhouse and other offences—but principally to the number of persons who are now committed for long terms of imprisonment, in consequence of the abolition of the punishment of transportation. The daily average has been 94—males 69, females 25—and the total number 152, being 12 less than in the corresponding quarter of last year.

The Justices have further to report that they have considered the question referred to them by the Quarterly Gaol Sessions as to the desirableness of making some arrangement with the county for the reception in the County Gaol of a certain number of the borough prisoners. The Justices, being disposed to think that some of the causes which have led to the increase in the number of prisoners may be considered as temporary, were desirous of ascertaining whether the County Justices would contract for 20 prisoners, with power for the borough to determine the contract by notice after a given period. The Justices communicated their desire to the Visiting Justices for the county, and although they have not received any definite proposition they have reason to believe that the Visiting Justices for the county would not recommend any contract with the borough unless it were made for a somewhat lengthened term, as, for instance, 5 to 7 years, as such contract would be found to interfere with that which has existed for some time between the county and the Government. On referring to the former contract between the county and borough in the year 1847, the Visiting Justices find that the terms then entered into were the annual payment of 10*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.* per cell, and 14*l.* 18*s.* per head for establishment charges, and for food and clothing according to the actual cost. The expense of each prisoner, inclusive of food and clothing, would therefore be about 40*l.* per annum, unless more favourable terms could be made with the county, which they have no reason to suppose would be the case; and considering the present state of this borough, and the heavy obligations lately contracted for sanitary and other purposes, the Visiting Justices do not feel justified in recommending the borough to incur the increased expense which would be entailed upon it by entering into a lengthened contract with the county to meet an emergency which may be of temporary duration.

With reference to the effect of the abolition of the punishment of transportation, the Justices have to report that it appears by a return laid before them by the Governor, that of the 94 prisoners in the Borough Gaol no less than 54 were sentenced to imprisonment for terms of 6 months and upwards (namely)—

|---|---|
| 5 for 2 years. | 3 for 9 months. |
| 5 for 18 months. | 2 for 8 months. |
| 1 for 15 months. | 1 for 7 months. |
| 17 for 12 months. | 20 for 6 months. |

Of this number it is certain that until the recent alteration of the law, many would have received the sentence of transportation and been removed from the gaol shortly after their conviction, and the Justices cannot withhold the expression of their opinion that unless the punishment of transportation be restored it will be impossible to provide for the reception in the prison of this borough, and in the existing gaols in many other large towns for the increased number of prisoners who will be committed consistently with a due regard either to the classification prescribed by the Act of Parliament, or the discipline of the gaol, or the improvement of the prisoners.

The Justices are impressed with the great importance of this subject, and are fully alive to the evil effects and the contaminating influence of the associated or classification system of prison discipline in crowded and ill-constructed gaols, and to the desirableness of separating juvenile offenders from older and more hardened criminals. But in the present uncertainty as to the system which will ultimately receive the sanction of the legislature, and in the prospect of Government providing to some extent for juvenile delinquents by the erection of district prisons, or the support of reformatories, the Justices do not take upon themselves the responsibility of making any recommendation which would involve any serious addition to the expenditure of the borough. The question is one which will not fail to come under the notice of the Secretary of State on the report of the Prison Inspectors, and the Justices will be prepared respectfully to consider any suggestions which may be made for remedying or mitigating the evils to which they have adverted, and for promoting, as far as may be practicable, the moral improvement of the prisoners, and the efforts of the chaplain and schoolmaster to accomplish that object.

The Visiting Justices have lastly to report that they have audited the accounts for the quarter, amounting to the sum of 503*l.* 1*s.* 4*d.*

WILLIAM PARSONS. RICH. HARRIS, Mayor.
J. WHETSTONE. JAMES HUDSON.

The County Magistrates declined to receive the prisoners into their prison, as the contract they were under with the Government precluded their devoting any part of their room to any other purpose. Notwithstanding the great reduction that has taken place since the period alluded to, the prisoners are still very much crowded, and as they are necessarily placed 10 or 12 in a yard, the greater number without any work, and with little or no supervision by the very scanty staff of the prison, it is not too much to assert that they are not likely to leave the prison much amended by their imprisonment.

The population which supplies the prisoners to this gaol being generally stocking-weavers, the prisoners are unable for the most part to do any other kind of work; it is, therefore, much to be lamented that the magistrates do not procure a larger number of frames (of which there are two at present), in order to give profitable labour to the prisoners The Governor informs me that 15*l.* a year profit would be made from each frame, and there cannot be any doubt of the moral advantage that would result from the labour to the prisoners. There are 30 hard-labour cranks, as they are called, which work so easily that a child might turn them without difficulty, and a treadmill which works unproductively, upon which 16 men are employed, 10 on and 6 off, at a time. The women work at washing, mending, &c., for the prison.

The following table shows the numbers in the course of the last year, compared in the total with the preceding, from which a great reduction appears :—

The beds were very clean and orderly, but no sheets are allowed to prisoners of either sex. Gas is introduced into each cell, and prisoners are allowed to read from locking up to 8 o'clock.

All the convicted prisoners are clothed by the prison, and untried prisoners also if they desire it. The clothing was in very good order.

The staff is entirely unable to maintain any useful supervision from their small numbers, there being only 4 turnkeys, including the schoolmaster and cook, who do duty also as turnkeys; the prisoners, therefore, may be said not to be overlooked at all, as far as any useful result can be attained.

The chaplain visits daily, on week-days performing a service selected from the Liturgy, and on Sunday full service and sermon in the morning, and prayers only in the afternoon. It is proposed to procure an harmonium to accompany the singing. A very useful alteration has been made in the chapel, by which much additional room has been provided.

The surgeon attends twice a week, or oftener if required. There was only one sick prisoner at the time of my visit.

The schoolmaster, who is very efficient in his office, conducts the education of the prisoners as well as the very difficult circumstances permit. Books are liberally allowed, and all the mutilated volumes referred to in my last report have been withdrawn and others substituted.

The following abstract shows the expenditure and receipts on account of the prison in the last year :—

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

MONMOUTH.—COUNTY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

Some improvements have been effected in the ventilation of several parts of the prison, which, especially in the females' division, have been very effectual. A new cook-house has been made, and the part formerly employed for that purpose is now made into the Governor's office.

The prisoners present on the last day of inspection were the following :—

The prisoners when separately questioned made no complaints, except of the diet of Indian meal, which they considered insufficient to support their strength under long confinement. The two who made the strongest complaints on the subject had been about 8 months in confinement, and were under sentences of penal servitude. Two prisoners, a boy and girl, awaiting their trials at sessions, I recommended should be sent in case of conviction to Reformatory Schools.

There have been 16 cases received since September last, under the Criminal Justice Act.

The articles of food appeared very good of their kind, but I cannot but repeat that in my opinion the Indian meal dinner given three days a week is very unsuited to prisoners under long sentences.

The whole of the prison was very clean and orderly; the beds, bedding, and clothing, also, were in good order.

The surgeon sees all the prisoners once a week, and frequently inspects the gaol throughout. He also comes daily to the prison, and oftener if necessary, to see the sick.

The health of the prisoners was better than I have usually found it, probably from the fact that a smaller number than usual of them had been long in confinement. In every other visit I have made since the Indian meal has formed a part of the diet there have been many cases of scurvy. The prisoners are now regularly weighed on admission and discharge.

The arrangements for religious and secular instruction are similar to those before described.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison are shown in the subjoined abstract:—

The cases of the convicted prisoners are more particularly referred to in the Appendix. On privately questioning the prisoners I heard no complaint. A very large number of prisoners has been received under the Criminal Justice Act, no less than 80 males and 57 females having been committed since the Act came into operation in September 1855.

The following table shows the total number of prisoners confined in the prison in the year ending Michaelmas last, indicating a trifling reduction upon the year 1854:—

The whole of the prison was very clean and orderly, and the clothing and bedding of prisoners were in good condition. The new part of the females prison, described minutely in the last report as having been recently finished, has been found very valuable, the cells having frequently been entirely full.

The magistrates have adopted the suggestion made in the last report for the separation of the duties of the gate porter from those of the reception-cell warder, one of the turnkeys, called the "inner porter," having been charged with the latter duty. Besides the direct advantage of this arrangement, there is no doubt that much additional security has been obtained.

The different articles of food tasted by me were of very good quality.

No change has taken place in the routine duty of the chaplain and surgeon, as described in former reports. The library contains a very good assortment of books of general instruction, and they are kept with a degree of care that is well worthy of imitation.

The labour of male prisoners consists in great part of that of the treadmill, which is entirely unproductive. A few, however, are employed in picking oakum and breaking stones. A few mats are also made, which are of very excellent quality; but neither this nor any other kind of manufacture is pursued to the extent that it might be if a trades instructor were employed.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison are shown in the following abstract :—

The cases of the convicted prisoners are more particularly referred to in the Appendix. The following table refers to the cases of the debtors :—

| T. T. | — | 10 April | " | 3 19 10 | 3 0 7 | |

The prisoners were separately questioned, but made no complaints.

The food of the prisoners was found, on examination, to be of very good quality.

Nothing could exceed the cleanliness of the cells and passages of the prison, or that of the bedding of the prisoners. The observation made with respect to the weight of long and short-sentenced prisoners in the last report continues to receive confirmation from further experience; namely, that the short sentenced prisoners generally lose in weight, and those under long sentences as generally gain; but as the short-sentenced preponderate in numbers the loss is of course more considerable than the gain. The following table gives an abstract of the whole of the observations:—

| Number weighed. | Have gained. | Have lost. | Have remained stationary. | Whole amount gained. | Whole amount lost. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 380 | 154 | 220 | 6 | 639 | 737 |

As an instance of gain in weight in long-sentenced men, I may allude to the instance of 10 men having been discharged in February 1856, after sentences of two years, the last 12 months of which were passed in matmaking, and having been found to have gained on an average 14 pounds each.

The increased weight of prisoners after long confinement is not to be regarded as the effect of excessive nutrition, but probably arises partly from the absence of healthful exertion of the body, and in a still greater measure from the equable temperature of the cell produced by artificial warmth in winter, which prevents the usual consumption of the carbonaceous principles.

The surgeon reports that the gaol has been very healthy in the last year. At the time of the last inspection there were 4 persons in the infirmary, one a debtor of unsound mind, another a case of paralysis, arising from an attempt made 12 months previously to commit suicide by hanging, in which very serious injury appears to have been done to the spinal cord, and 2 other less serious cases. One insane male prisoner had been removed to the County Lunatic Asylum.

The following table shows the whole number of persons who have been in confinement in the year ending Michaelmas 1855, to which is appended, for comparison, the total for the previous year:—

The sentences of the prisoners have of late been inflicted for shorter terms than formerly, which I cannot but regard as a signal improvement, inasmuch as the term of two years passed in separate confinement is likely to be injurious to healthful activity both of body and mind, and consequently to impede rather than promote moral amendment. It must not be concealed, however, that the reduction of the average length of the sentences of prisoners has arisen in a considerable measure from the operation of the Criminal Justice Act (18 & 19 Vict. c. 126). This fact was thus adverted to by the chairman at the last April sessions :—

"The Visiting Justices reported that there were now in prison 79 males, 10 females, 5 debtors, 3 county court debtors ; total, 97. Corresponding quarter of 1855—108 males, 14 females, 6 debtors, 2 county court debtors ; total, 130 ; being a decrease of 33 in favour of the present quarter. The chairman remarked that the returns certainly showed a great decrease of crime during the last five or six years. But they should not be misled by this into supposing that the amount of crime had diminished, the operation of the Criminal Justice Bill accounting for the difference. He referred also to a return which he had prepared, to show that the sentences passed in Petty Sessions under the new bill were light in comparison with those previously awarded at Quarter Sessions for similar crimes. Magistrates might not, probably, be aware of the effect of their sentences. An offender, for instance, committed from a distance for 7 days was really imprisoned only 5 days, 1 day being consumed in coming to, and 1 day in leaving, the prison ; and so on in other periods of imprisonment, 14 days giving but 12 ; 21 days 19 ; a month 29 days. He thought it his bounden duty to state this."

The cost of the principal articles of consumption is generally lower than for the last two years, as will be shown by comparing the following table with a similar one given in the last report :—

The crank-labour continues to be performed in this prison, but I am glad to be able to add, that the reluctance to employ prisoners in productive industry is considerably abated. It would be a great advantage, in my opinion, both morally and economically, that this principle should be extended to the entire abolition of a form of labour which, being simply productive of annoyance, exerts no beneficial influence over the character of the individuals subjected to it.

The numbers committed to the prison are very stationary, notwithstanding the increase of population. The intended withdrawal of the Government convicts will leave much room in the prison, as the accommodation required was estimated at the time of building the prison upon the expectation that the number of commitments would be likely to increase.

Most of the borough prisoners are of the shoemaking class, that being the most prevalent manufacture in the town, and the offence for which they are most frequently committed is the "embezzling of leather." When these men go out of prison they can generally get work immediately, and are thus saved from relapse into crime.

The health of the prison has been very good in the last year, and on the occasion of my visit there were no cases of importance.

The following abstract shows the expenditure and receipts of the prison, the last year. It will be seen that considerable profit has resulted from the manufactures carried on therein:—

The duties of the chaplain and medical officer continue as formerly described.

The articles of food given to the prisoners are of good quality, and the dietary sufficient, without excess.

This prison affords a very good example of the successful adoption of productive industry to the entire exclusion of labour of an unproductive character, and of the beneficial moral effects resulting therefrom to the prisoners. It would not be possible to point out a prison in the district in which the discipline is maintained with a smaller amount of prison punishment.

PETERBOROUGH.—LIBERTY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

The Liberty of Peterborough comprehends 34 parishes parishes in the county of Northampton, one of the most distant being at a distance of 14 miles from the town. It possesses, by virtue of a charter of King John, the power of trying at sessions all offences, even those usually triable at assizes only, and punishable with death, as murder, arson, &c. The following parishes are comprehended in the liberty:—

No alteration has been made in the construction of the building since the date of the last report, nor have any steps been taken for the proper ventilation and warming of the cells so as to admit of their being certified for separate confinement. The number of prisoners has sometimes, in the last year, exceeded the number of cells, in which cases two prisoners have sometimes been put into a cell together, a proceeding not warranted by law. Two male prisoners were together at the time of my last inspection, the reason assigned being that one of them, William Atty, is exceedingly unruly, and has pretended to be mad. As the surgeon and governor are both satisfied that there is no reason to think him insane, I recommended that he should be sent away as soon as possible, under his sentence of six years' penal servitude.

The following prisoners present on the last day of inspection :—

As the sessions were only just terminated, there were no prisoners for trial. The cases of the prisoners are stated in detail in the Appendix.

The prisoners on being separately examined made no complaints of the discipline of the gaol.

The chaplain, who has been appointed since my last visit, sees all the prisoners in their cells once a week, and performs divine service on Fridays, and preaches a sermon. On Sundays he also performs divine service, sometimes in the morning and sometimes in the afternoon, and preaches a sermon.

The surgeon attends at the prison once or twice a week, and is sent for if required more frequently. There has been very little illness of any kind, and there was none at the time of my last inspection.

The following table shows the total number of prisoners who have been in confinement in the year ending Michaelmas 1855, and the total of those in 1854 for comparison :—

The number of women has lately become increased, by accidental causes, far beyond the usual average. In March last there were 9 in confinement at one time.

The governor and matron have been very successful in teaching the prisoners to read and write, which, as no school master or mistress are employed, is very much to their credit. The magistrates have lately given the governor 10*l.* in addition to his salary on this account, but no addition has been made to that of the matron.

The labour performed in the prison consists in picking oakum, for which nothing is obtained, and breaking stones, which is equally unprofitable. There are also 5 hard-labour cranks, on which prisoners are required to perform 3,300 revolutions daily, in addition to picking 1½ lbs. of oakum.

Two prisoners made their escape on the 4th of February last at 11 o'clock in the morning, and have not been retaken. One was working in the corridor, the other in the garden. They escaped by tying three ladders together with the gardener's line, and placing it against the boundary wall. This implies great neglect of proper caution in not having put the ladders into a place of safety. These escapes have never been reported to the Secretary of State. One was under a 12 months' and the other under a 4 months' sentence of imprisonment.

It is my duty again to call attention to the fact, that the cells of this prison, although from the want of adequate ventilation, they cannot be certified as fit for the separate confinement of prisoners, are continually used for that purpose, and that too not for short-sentenced prisoners only, but also for those confined for very long periods. This anomaly results from the prison having been originally designed for separate confinement, and from its being consequently unprovided with day-rooms or work-rooms, while the cells, not being ventilated (although otherwise suited for receiving the Inspector's certificate) cannot be legally employed for the constant confinement of prisoners.

SHROPSHIRE.

SHREWSBURY.—COUNTY GOAL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

THE prison was very clean throughout, and in good repair. No alteration had taken place in any part since the date of the last report. No extension has taken place in the chapel, as suggested in former reports, to meet the increased requirements of the prisoners, consequent on the adoption of the separate system. I am bound to repeat, that I consider such a change as very necessary, not only to relieve the chaplain from the severe trial to which his voice is subjected in performing a second daily service to the prisoners in their cells, but also to admit of that officer devoting more time to the separate visitation of prisoners. I feel this necessity so strongly that I gladly avail myself of a remark of the High Sheriff to the same effect, inserted 6 weeks before my last inspection in the Visiting Justices' Minute Book. He observes, "It is submitted for the consideration of the magistrates, that providing additional accommodation for the performance of Divine service would be beneficial, and very desirable."*

* Upon the publication of my last report upon this prison, the county surveyor was directed by the visiting justices to consider how increased accommodation could be provided for the prisoners in the chapel, as recommended therein, and pointed out two modes in which this could be done, the most effectual of which would cost about 650*l*. Upon this the visiting justices report to Quarter Sessions in July 1855 as follows :—

"With regard to the alteration of the chapel mentioned in the county surveyor's report, it appears that Mr. Perry, the inspector, is of opinion that the present chapel is of very inadequate size, and very defective in arrangement. The visiting justices, therefore, directed the county surveyor to ascertain how increased accommodation could be obtained, and as the probable expense thereof will be considerable, they recommend that the subject, together with his report and plan be referred to the visiting justices of the ensuing quarter, to consider and report upon them at the next sessions."

The report having been so referred back to the Visiting Justices, those gentlemen reported as follows to the October Sessions 1855 :—

"The report of the county surveyor relative to enlarging the chapel having been referred back to the visiting justices for their opinion, they have considered the plan, which the surveyor estimates will cost 650*l*. They do not, however, recommend that the alterations should be carried out."

As the decision of the visiting justices was not accompanied by statement of its grounds, I can only repeat, that my opinion of the necessity of the alteration, the grounds of which were stated in the former report, remains unchanged; and as I have reason to believe that the same opinion is almost universally held upon the subject, I trust that the consideration of the question may be renewed.

The prisoners present on the last day of inspection were the following:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |

No complaints were made by the prisoners when separately questioned, except one, which on examination proved to be groundless, and was consequently withdrawn by the prisoner.

There have been received under the Criminal Justice Act since it came into operation in September last, no less than 101 cases. Lest the great addition to the number of commitments should be ascribed to an increase of crime in the county, it is material to be noticed, that many of the offences adjudicated under this Act are of so trivial a kind, that but for the summary powers given by this Act, it may be fairly presumed they would have been passed over altogether.

As an example of the effect alluded to, may be mentioned the case of G. J., aged 72, who was sentenced to three days imprisonment for stealing two turnips, never having been in prison before. As the part of the county in which the sentence was passed was thirty miles from Shrewsbury, the prisoner was not brought over by the constable until the day after his conviction, and as he was discharged on the third day, at an early hour to admit of his return, on foot, to his home before night, he passed only one night in the prison. It is presumed that cases of this description, which would hardly have been deemed of sufficient importance to be committed to the sessions while they will add materially to the number of commitments, will furnish no evidence of the increase of crime in the county.

In his last quarterly report to the Midsummer Sessions, the chaplain states, that of the persons summarily convicted as felons, 11 were sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from 7 days to 1 month for stealing an aggregate of property valued at 4*s.* 6*d.*, and that 19 persons, including the above, were committed for periods varying from 7 days to 3 months for stealing property estimated (on the whole) at 19*s.* 1*d.*—the lowest sum being 2*d.* and the highest 2*s.*

The following table exhibits the number of prisoners who have been in confinement in the course of the year ending Michaelmas 1855, together with the total number in the previous year, from which it will be seen that a small increase has taken place :—

At the time of my visit there were some cases of children, who would have been well suited for reformatory schools, but whose tender age unfitted them for separate confinement. The county, however, does not at present possess an establishment of that description.

The bedding was of very good quality, and extremely clean. It is still the custom, however, to restrict the use of sheets to females and patients in the infirmary, a restriction to which I am bound to say, there are in my opinion objections to be urged, not less of a moral than of an economical kind. In many prisons in which, as in this, sheets had long been denied to male prisoners, and in which that rule has been rescinded, it has been found that a very great economy has resulted from the use of sheets, by which the wear and tear of blankets from the necessity of frequently washing them, has been greatly diminished.

The expenditure and receipts on account of the prison are shown in the subjoined abstract:—

Estimated profit from employment of prisoners in the service of the prison, in painting, &c., 34*l.* 12*s.* 1*d.*

The supply of both religious and educational books is very liberal, the magistrates in all cases complying with the recommendation of the chaplain on that head.

The prison was very healthy at the time of my visit, the infirmary having been closed for many months. Of the 4 deaths recorded above, 1 was caused by bronchitis, 1 by typhus fever, 1 by suicide, and 1 by "exhaustion," from voluntary abstinence, as it appears by the report of the Annual Return. The last is the only one upon which it is necessary that I should make any observation. This prisoner, E. C., 46 years of age, was committed on the 8th of March 1854, at which time his health is stated to have been "Good." He had been a schoolmaster, and the only thing remarkable in his conduct in the first 17 months of his confinement was, that he exhibited occasionally a very sullen temper. On the 6th of August 1855 he made application to one of the magistrates to be allowed some extra cocoa, and the application was referred to the surgeon. On the 7th the surgeon saw him, and said he would give him some medicine, but that he did not require extra cocoa. The prisoner refused to take the medicine, and about two days afterwards began to refuse his food, in which he persisted, evidently for the purpose of destroying himself. The surgeon's book contains no record of the progress of the case, but on the 19th of August the surgeon was sent for, in consequence of the prisoner being weak and sinking. No attempt during the whole of this time was made to feed him forcibly by the stomach-pump, nor was he removed to the infirmary. On the 20th, as the man continued to grow worse, the governor, fearing he would die in the cell, ordered him to the infirmary, and sent for the surgeon, who in the afternoon of that day threw some broth into the stomach by the pump. It was too late, however, to save him, and he died exhausted at 4 o'clock on the following morning.

In explanation of having so long delayed the use of the proper means to save the life of the prisoner, the surgeon states, that he did not think he had any right to interfere until the man should be actually sinking. I cannot regard this explanation as satisfactory, inasmuch as it is the obvious duty of the medical officer to use all means for defeating attempts by prisoners to injure their health, and as there appears no reason to doubt that the means ineffectually resorted to at the last moment would have been successful if employed in proper time.

I am sorry to be obliged to add to the foregoing observations, that the ordinary duty of the surgeon is not performed with a due regard to the regulations. Books in which the diseases of prisoners are recorded, and which, by the rules of the prison, ought to be kept by himself, are kept by the infirmary nurse, who is of course ignorant of medicine. The assistant who attends for the surgeon regularly visits all the prisoners, and does in all respects the duty set down in the rules for the surgeon himself, except that above alluded to: the surgeon never seeing any prisoner until his attention has been called to him by the assistant.

The duties of the chaplain, which are the same that have been described in former reports, are very onerous, chiefly from the cause which has been alluded to above, and it may be confidently stated, that unless his physical powers were equal to his zeal, he would be unequal to the exertion necessary for their performance. The straining of the voice necessary for making himself heard throughout the cells of a building not constructed with any view to such an arrangement, would be beyond the power of the average of readers.

It will be seen by the foregoing account of the receipts of the prison, to how small an extent remunerative employment is carried on within it. As the moral advantage arising from the exercise of industrial occupation is universally recognized, I would beg to suggest that efforts should be made for introducing them more extensively into the prison. I am aware that this cannot be done without considerable exertion and some outlay, but the example of other prisons may be cited to show that even commercial advantage may be added to the moral gain that would be sure to result from employments of the kind alluded to. The zeal and ability of the governor are a sufficient guarantee that no endeavour would be spared on his part for accomplishing the object.

SOMERSETSHIRE.

BATH.—CITY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

The following prisoners were present on the last day of inspection, exclusive of convicts under contract with the Government:—

| | Male. | Female. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Convicted at Assizes and Sessions | 16 | 16 | 32 |
| Summarily convicted - - | 14 | 5 | 19 |
| | 30 | 21 | 51 |

The cases of these prisoners are more particularly described in the Appendix. The inspection having been made on the last day of the Sessions, no untried prisoners were in confinement. There were no debtors in custody, none being received except from the County Court, and these very rarely. There is a great increase in the number of female prisoners, while that of the men has been diminishing.

The prisoners having been separately questioned made no complaints.

The only changes that have been made in the construction of the prison since the date of the last report have been the conversion of a part of the debtors' rooms into an infirmary for male prisoners, and of the school-room for females into an infirmary for that sex. These changes have been made with great economy as well as efficiency, and as rooms for the sick have long been wanted, the alterations are deserving of much commendation.

The large number of children in confinement on this as on most other occasions of the inspection of the prison was matter of serious regret. No less than 5 were under 12 years of age, and 8 between 12 and 15. In the year ended at Michaelmas last, 38 male prisoners and 4 females were committed under 15 years of age, and as some of the males were committed more than once, the whole number of such committals was 47. There appears to be a reluctance on the part of the magistrates to commit these cases to reformatory schools, as several of them having been repeatedly in prison, and having dissolute and negligent parents, would seem to afford the most desirable subjects for such establishments.

The wards, cells, and the persons of the prisoners were clean and orderly. The clothing and bedding clean and sufficient.

The health of the prisoners has been very good throughout the last year, and there were no sick at the time of my last inspection. No epidemic has prevailed.

The moral and religious teaching in the prison are conducted by the zealous and excellent Chaplain with his usual energy; and I have much pleasure in quoting from the last report of that gentleman to the Magistrates in Quarter Sessions some of his remarks upon the little use that has hitherto been made of the Youthful Offenders Act, in procuring a moral training for the unfortunate children who from time to time crowd the prison.

Extract from the Chaplain's Michaelmas Report, 1855.

"In reference to these statistics I would only observe that there has been a slight increase in the committals of juveniles, and I have to regret that the Act of Parliament passed in 1854, for the reformation of juvenile delinquents, has not been acted upon in Bath, or indeed elsewhere, to any great extent, from which I infer that objections to some of the details of that Bill have been the cause of its being so generally inoperative.

"To my own objections to part of the Bill I ventured to refer in my last Michaelmas Report; still, as practical experience on such a matter is better than theory, I am anxious to see it in operation.

"To further this, I have obtained, during the last quarter, from the Committee of the Devon Reformatory, an offer to receive four or five boys from the Justices of our city, which I believe has not been made available from certain omissions in the Act relative to the expenses attendant on their removal from the gaol.

"It has been mentioned to me that there is a probability of a large District Juvenile Reformatory being established for Somerset, Devonshire, and Cornwall, which I have no doubt would meet with considerable support, at least for a time, from voluntary efforts; but I fear now as much as ever I did that such institutions, for their permanency and efficiency, require more assistance from public funds than is at present guaranteed."

The schoolmaster and mistress are very efficient in their duties, and the prisoners are so well conducted that only 20 men have been subjected to any kind of punishment in the last year, while the women have not required the infliction of a single penalty.

The only kinds of labour performed in the prison are oakum-picking and stone-breaking. The women do all the washing, and make all the clothing for the prison.

A very useful addition has been made, at a very small cost, to the security of the cell doors, so often broken through in various prisons with a view to escape, by putting a light iron bar across in the outside, held in its place by small thumb-screws. This would very effectually prevent all successful endeavours at escape, at least by the door.

The following table shows the number of prisoners who have been in custody in the course of the last year—the total number being compared with that of the preceding year :—

* Warrant issued by the Absconding Debtors Arrest Act.

The prisoners were all questioned separately and apart from the officers, but made no complaints of any consequence.

The whole of the prison was very clean and orderly ; the clothing and bedding sufficient, and in good condition. The ventilation of the new parts of the prison was very good, but the cells in the crescent building, 106 in number, were highly offensive, close, and unhealthy. This part of the building was originally intended to be used only for the sleeping cells of prisoners employed all day upon the treadmill, so that the closeness was not of so much consequence ; but as they are now used in a great many instances for confining prisoners all day, it appears to me absolutely necessary that something should be done to render them more habitable.

I would beg to suggest a method by which this would appear to be practicable, at a moderate expense, thus rendering a large block of cells fit to be certified for separate confinement of short sentenced prisoners. The cells in this part of the building are on three floors, and measure 8 feet by 6 feet, and 8 feet 6 inches high; they are approached by passages, 4 feet 6 inches wide.

The alteration I would propose would consist in throwing the width of the passages into the cells, and making an approach to them by galleries on the convex side of the crescent. The size of the cells would then be 13 feet 8 inches in length, by 6 feet in width, and 8 feet 6 inches in height.

The materials of the walls now separating the cells from the galleries would nearly suffice for completing the partitions between the cells, and as the labour of prisoners could be used in the alteration, it could be done at very reasonable cost. An obvious objection to this suggestion presents itself in the proximity of the boundary wall of the prison to the back of the building; but if the suggestion were entertained this difficulty might be overcome. Of course it is unnecessary to add that the remedy now proposed would be less complete than the entire rebuilding of the wing, and that it is proposed only as being less costly.

It is necessary of course that the building should be properly ventilated and warmed.

No alteration has been made in the prison since the date of the last report, and the buildings appear to be in very good repair.

The persons committed summarily under the Criminal Justice Act, since it came into operation on the 28th August last, being nine months, had been:—

|---|---|
| Of males - - - - - - | 340 |
| Of females - - - - - | 176 |
| | 516 |

The great increase thus occasioned to the population of the prison will render the alteration recommended above the more necessary. The daily average in the quarter preceding the last inspection was 624, exceeding by 23 the daily average of the year 1855.

The following table shows a small decrease in the number of persons who have been committed in the year ending Michaelmas 1855 as compared with the preceding twelve months; but the numbers may be expected to be again raised by the operation of the Act just alluded to:—

The manner in which the prisoners were employed at the time of my visit was the following:—

|---|---|
| On the treadmill (grinding corn) | 105 |
| „ „ (raising water) | 72 |
| At the hard-labour cranks | 58 |
| Breaking stones | 16 |
| Tailoring | 17 |
| Shoemaking | 11 |
| Brushmaking | 1 |

| Knitting | 3 |
| Matmaking | 3 |
| Smiths | 5 |
| Carpentry | 4 |
| Bricklayers | 3 |
| In the bakehouse | 6 |
| In the cookhouse | 5 |

The light labour prisoners are provided with work of a suitable kind, and the option of employment is given to the untried prisoners, who generally desire it. The female prisoners were employed as follows:—

|---|---|
| In the laundry | 17 |
| Knitting stockings | 10 |
| Needlework | 61 |
| Cleaning the prison | 4 |
| At the hard-labour cranks | 5 |

With reference to the kind of labour last-mentioned, it should be mentioned that this is the only prison in the district in which it is imposed on women.

The boroughs of Walsall, Newcastle-under-Lyme, and Lichfield send their prisoners to this prison under contract. The numbers sent in the last year were as follows:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Walsall | 130 | 18 | 148 |
| Newcastle | 34 | 20 | 54 |
| Lichfield | 15 | 3 | 18 |

A prisoner, T. W., complained to me that the police officer who apprehended him and his wife on a charge of felony at Leek in this county had taken from the latter the sum of 6*s.* 4*d.*, and had not paid it over to the governor of the gaol. Upon inquiry I found that only 2*s.* 2*d.* had been paid over by the prisoner, but as I had no means of ascertaining whether the previous part of the story was true, I thought it best to refer the consideration of it to the governor, and through him to the chief constable.

The absence of appropriate employment for the boys, of whom there is always a large number in confinement, leads to their being kept at school the greater part of the day as the only means of keeping them out of mischief. It cannot be too often repeated that young persons require some employment of an active kind to consume the superfluous energy of their bodies and minds, or that that energy, if not so devoted in a useful manner, is likely to be turned to mischievous purposes. In order to prove the necessity for the foundation of reformatory establishments in the county, where this desirable object can be carried out, it is only necessary to call attention to the fact that in the last year no less than 69 prisoners under fifteen years of age were committed to this gaol. The number of youths under seventeen years of age has been 319, and the proportion of recommittals among them has been upwards of 35 per cent.; "a manifest proof" (says the excellent chaplain, the Rev. R. H. Goodacre, from whose report I cite the fact,) "that imprisonment is not the best means of dealing with youthful crime." The report in question contains so many valuable suggestions upon the causes of the great amount of crime in the county that I feel that I cannot do better than insert in this place some of his remarks :—

"Of the condition and circumstances of the lower classes of the people during this eventful year, and of the effect upon them of the high price of provisions, the justices scattered throughout the county have had better opportunities of judging than myself. I may, however, remark that prosperity among the lower classes does not in general diminish the number of offences against the law, nor does adversity increase them. All circumstances tend to show that poverty is not in general the cause of crime. The number of prisoners received into the county prison during the six summer months was considerably more than that received during the six winter months. The lowest number committed to prison in any one month was in the month of January, namely, 239; the highest was in the month of July, namely, 313. If want or destitution were the chief cause of crime, these numbers would probably have been reversed. We should naturally expect, if we think upon the subject, that in good times one class of offences would increase and another decrease, and in bad times vice versâ; that in hard times destitution would lead to an increase in the number of petty thefts; and that in prosperous times there would be an increased number of cases of drunkenness, of assaults, and offences against the person. With regard to this latter class such is generally the result; but, as respects the former, it is not so. It is a lamentable fact, that even in good times petty thefts are not diminished. Destitution is not the chief cause even of these. They are more frequently committed for the means of obtaining unnecessary drink than necessary food. However high wages may be, they can soon be spent in a public house; and when a man has thus got through his stock of money, he rushes out in a state of intoxication, but with his appetite for strong drink unsatiated, lays hold of the first thing which falls in his way, and converts it into money at the first ready place, of which there are, alas! but too many. 'I was in drink or I shouldn't have done it,' is the constant confession or excuse of our unhappy prisoners.

"The prevailing cause of crime in this county is, I conceive, a low standard of intelligence and morality, producing in the lower classes a general want of self-respect. The majority of our prisoners are ignorant and thoughtless, rather than positively ill-disposed, irresolute to good rather than intentionally vicious. They appear to be victims of evil association, and the slaves of their lower appetites."

In another part of the same report the chaplain further remarks :—

"In conclusion, I may again observe, that the chief cause of crime in this county is a generally low standard of intelligence, education, and morality; and that the proper and necessary remedy will not be found in systems of prison discipline, or in changes or amendments of our laws, but in earnest and persevering endeavours to improve the social, moral, and intellectual condition of our population, in cultivating their better feelings, and in teaching them to respect themselves. Endeavours should be made to improve their dwellings, to teach them more of the decencies of life, to cultivate and encourage all possible friendly intercourse between different classes, that they may see the good side as well as the harsher side of their wealthier neighbours and employers, that they may see their kindness as well as their greatness, that they may be conversant with their benevolence as well as their power, and may learn to know and appreciate that good feeling towards them which often indeed exists, but of which they have, in fact, little knowledge or experience."

Strongly corroborative of these remarks of the chaplain are the following facts and opinions from a magistrate of the county :—

"The following list of beer-houses and licensed houses, showing the proportion they bear to the population in the several parishes of Wednesbury, Darlaston, Westbromwich, Tipton, Bilston, and Walsall, will, perhaps, be considered worthy of attention by some who may read this report :—

"Wednesbury—Contains 3,212 houses, 50 licensed and 76 beer houses, total 126, or one for every 25 houses; and one for every 127 persons, including children.

"Darlaston—Contains 2,171 houses, 24 licensed and 75 beer houses, total 99, or one for every 22 houses; and one for every 109 persons, including children.

"Westbromwich—Contains 6,964 houses, 70 licensed and 257 beer houses, total 327, or one for every 21 houses; and one for every 106 persons, including children.

"Tipton—Contains 5,891 houses, 52 licensed and 96 beer houses, total 148, or one for every 39 houses; and one for every 199 persons, including children.

"Bilston—Has a proportion of one to every 26 houses.

"Walsall—Has a proportion of one to every 120 persons.

"In reading over this account, it must be borne in mind that the inhabitants of the houses which are rated high are not those who generally resort to public-houses; so that the actual proportion is larger than would at first sight appear. On the other hand it must also be remembered, that the influx of travellers is to be considered. But surely, a glance at this statement will show that the number of public-houses is much greater than is really necessary for the supply of the wants of the population.

"While then, it is evident that, if we wish to decrease the amount of crime in our country, we must lessen the inducements there are at present to indulge in the habit of drinking, by the large number of public houses; there is plainly another duty to be performed, without which other measures will be comparatively useless, viz., to provide proper instruction and innocent recreation for the people. In order to this the influence of the upper classes and the wealthy must be brought to bear on our labouring population. The former must not stand aloof from the latter. Sympathy and good-will are required; and it is the part of those who occupy positions of influence to take the initiative, and endeavour by judicious and friendly intercourse to raise the moral condition of those placed beneath them. A remark of Mr. Justice Talfourd, in his last charge at Stafford at the Lent Assizes, 1854, bears upon this point. 'If' said he, 'I were asked what is the great want of English society, I would say that it is the mingling of class with class. I would say in one word that that want is sympathy.' And is not this true? If employers would only take an interest in the moral and intellectual condition of those employed by them; if they would endeavour to provide them with rational amusement and religious instruction, and thus bring them under good influences, a great, a beneficial change would, doubtless, soon ensue. Many men contract the habit of drinking because they have not where and know not how to spend their spare time. They go to the public house that, by means of the newspapers or by hearing the conversation of others, they may become acquainted with the events of the day; and in thus making it their place of habitual resort, they gradually fall into the vice of drunkenness. Facts abundantly prove that wherever employers are ready to use their influence and exertions to check the progress of intemperance among their workmen, and to free them from its demoralizing effects, by providing them with the means and opportunities of self-culture and harmless recreation during their hours of relaxation from manual labour, not only are the workmen willing to avail themselves of the advantages afforded them, but a good feeling between them and their masters arises, mutual confidence is established, and a general improvement is soon visible. Some of course will remain unaltered, but the general effect will unquestionably be good. Surely the experiment, if it can be called nothing more, is well worth trying. Any measures that will tend to stop the progress of vice among us are to be gladly embraced. 'To prevent is better than to cure.' And who that has ever witnessed the interior of one of our gaols; who that has seen the misery and degradation to which humanity is subjected through ignorance and intemperance, will not rouse his energies, and exert his influence, so far as that influence may go, to arrest the advance of these monster evils which now afflict society, and bring disgrace and ruin upon thousands and tens of thousands of our fellow-countrymen?"

I may be permitted in this place to refer the worthy magistrate, whose remarks I have quoted, for a practical confirmation of the possibility of carrying out his benevolent and judicious suggestion to the village of Charlton Marshall in the county of Dorset, where a club, with a library and reading-room for the agricultural labourers of both sexes has been for a considerable time in operation under the auspices of its founder, T. Horlock Bastard, Esq., with the happiest effects.

The ordinary duties of the chaplain are the same as have been described in former reports.

The surgeon is very assiduous in his duty, but the records of cases of disease or of their treatment are not recorded in his books in such a manner as to be intelligible to others. The directions for the treatment of cases of illness are given in a cypher which is understood by his assistant only; a practice which is clearly at variance with both the letter and the spirit of the law. I feel it necessary also to observe upon the circumstance that proper care is not taken to ascertain the cause of death in persons dying in the prison. For example, K. W., aged twenty, in good health on admission, was found dead in her cell nine days afterwards, and no examination was made of her body to discover the cause of her death, although she had not previously made any complaint of illness. In this remark I do not impute any blame to the surgeon, who, I am informed, acts under the direction of the coroner; but as I know that a very different practice vails in other prisons, I think it necessary to call attention to the circumstances referred to.

Another point relating to the medical management to which I feel it necessary to advert is, that prisoners are not always put under treatment or taken into the infirmary as early as their cases would seem to require. For example, a man named W. S., suffering under a severe stricture of the urethra, was not subjected to the necessary treatment from a fear that the operation which was required for his relief would unfit him for performing the labour to which he was sentenced. From the acquaintance I have long had with the highly conscientious character of the surgeon, I am persuaded that he acted, in this instance, consistently with that character, but this only makes it the more necessary to observe that it is not, in my opinion, justifiable to withhold from a prisoner the aid which medical science is able to give to arrest the progress of a disease, or even to mitigate its severity, upon any such ground as that assigned. To act upon such a principle would be to inflict upon many prisoners a punishment not contemplated by the court which sentenced them, in allowing their diseases to make progress or to become more intractable during their confinement, when those evils could be prevented by the interference of medical science.

Reverting to what has been said above upon the defective ventilation of the Crescent building, I may cite the opinion of the surgeon that it is very bad, and that it must have a tendency to injure the health of prisoners. As, however, he has not met with any cases of disease directly traceable to this cause, he has not thought it his duty to express his objection to the visiting justices. Upon this I am bound to remark that the amount of injury done in the aggregate to the prisoners confined in a noxious atmosphere may be very considerable, without its being possible to trace any of their diseases unquestionably to that source.

The articles of food examined by me were of good quality, but it appears to me that the dietary of Class 3 is not sufficient to support the strength of prisoners employed at hard labour for so long a time as three months, or for those not at hard labour for six months, an opinion in which I am supported by the daily observations of the surgeon. I may also call attention to the fact that the soup is not made of so good quality for the 3d Class as for the 4th and 5th, but even if the difference were removed (as I think it should be) the dietary would still, in my opinion, be insufficient.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison are shown in the subjoined abstract :—

The number of prisoners committed under the Criminal Justice Act (18 & 19 Vict. c. 126.) is very large, not less than 100 having been received here and at the House of Correction since the 1st of October last, when it came into operation—about six months. The effect of these convictions is generally to shorten very much the terms of imprisonment, many of the prisoners so sentenced being confined for periods very little, if at all, exceeding in length the average time passed in prison before trial.

The prisoners being all separately questioned, made no complaint of serious importance. A complaint of the hardness of the labour on one of the treadwheels, as compared with the others, was made, and found by me to be well founded. It was to the effect that the wheels, which are three in number, vary in the number of steps in the ratio of 22, 26, 30. As the prisoners on each of the wheels work for four turns for each prisoner, making (as there are eight on at one time) 32 turns, and as these are performed in the same time for each of the wheels, namely, eight minutes, it follows that the labour at each spell will be as follows :—

|---|---|
| On the 1st wheel - | - 704 steps. |
| On the 2nd wheel - | - 832 „ |
| On the 3rd wheel - | - 960 „ |

As the prisoners work 10 hours daily, doing in that time 50 spells, the number of steps taken in the day will be as follows, on the three wheels respectively :—

|---|---|
| On the 1st wheel | - 35,200 steps. |
| On the 2nd wheel | - 41,600 „ |
| On the 3rd wheel | - 48,000 „ |

The complaint of the prisoners, therefore, was to the effect that the amount of labour on the 3rd wheel was excessive and unequal, to which it was replied that the three wheels were adopted at first of unequal severity to suit them to the varying strength of prisoners, an explanation, however, which does not apply at present, since it is the custom to change the prisoners from the one to the others in rotation, to avoid complaints of partiality. It seems to me that the wheels should be equalized, or, if there should be any insuperable difficulty in this, that the time should be unequal on the three wheels : for example, that the prisoners should work on the first wheel for ten hours, as at present ; on the second for nine hours ; and on the third for eight hours.

The treadmill was grinding wheat, and the crank, besides splitting beans and crushing malt, kibbling oats and grinding beans and peas into flour, as well as wheat.

Four prisoners in the House of Correction were engaged in tailoring and one in shoemaking. In the gaol one tailor and one shoemaker were employed. The women were engaged for the most part, in both prisons, in washing and ironing, about eight or ten being employed in making clothes. The labour in the gaol has produced a clear profit of 60*l.* 16*s.* 6*d.* in the last quarter, and that in the House of Correction 71*l.* 12*s.* 5*d.*

The following table shows the total number of prisoners who have been confined in the gaol in the year ending Michaelmas 1855, as compared with the previous year:—

It will be seen by this table that the number of debtors is very large, a circumstance arising from the custom, adverted to in former reports, that the debtors from Birmingham are sent here instead of being retained in the Borough. The Borough Prison is now so full that the new debtors' ward, built to remedy this defect, is full of criminal prisoners; but as the prison is being greatly enlarged, it is hoped that a more just, as well as convenient, system will before long be adopted.

The prison was healthy at the time of my visit. The surgeon comes daily. The chaplain performs two complete services on Sundays, and one on alternate days in the week.

The prisons were in tolerable repair, nothing having been done to improve them, as a new prison is advancing, although with extreme slowness, towards completion.

Sheets are not allowed to male prisoners, on account of the difficulty of drying them when washed. This cannot, of course, be remedied without a considerable expense, which I cannot recommend to be incurred, as the new prison is expected to be ready next year, and will be provided with all necessary requirements.

Eleven children under fifteen have been received into this prison in the year.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison are shown in the subjoined abstract:—

All the time that the prisoners are not engaged in labour, both in this and the last-mentioned prison, is passed in association in day-rooms. Upon this and the other acknowledged defects so often noticed in my reports, and those of my predecessor in office, I forbear to remark, as they are about to receive the most effectual remedy in the erection of a prison suited for carrying out an improved discipline. It is to be regretted that this change, which has so long been admitted on all hands to be necessary, has been so tardily effected from a variety of causes, but as there is now and has been for some time a bonâ fide endeavour to carry out the plans for the new building, I trust it will be in my power to state in the next report that the time for the substitution of the new prison for the three now in existence is arrived, or at least near at hand. It cannot be too often repeated that the injurious influences of a system to which so large a number of persons are subjected should be estimated not by years only but by weeks and days.

COVENTRY.—COUNTY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

THIS prison has been fully described in former reports, since which no alteration has taken place in its construction. It is only retained until the new prisons at Warwick shall be completed, and no attempt, consequently, is made to improve its numerous defects.

It was stated in the last report that the prison was then entirely devoted to male prisoners, an improvement which facilitated the accommodation of prisoners of that sex. Lately, that arrangement has been disturbed, and at the time of my inspection a division of the building was devoted to women.

The following prisoners were present on the last day of inspection:—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |

| | 41 | 12 | 53 |

The prisoners when separately questioned made no complaints. Their cases are more particularly alluded to in the Appendix. Those of the debtors are as follows:—

The weaving of rugs and sheeting has been discontinued, and it is not intended to resume it.

Since the women have returned, there has been felt the want of a hospital for that sex. The hospital for the men is very sufficient.

Prayers are read daily by the chaplain, who preaches three sermons in the week ; two on Sunday, and one in the middle of the week. The schoolmaster takes each prisoner allotted to him about an hour and a half daily.

The surgeon attends about three times a week, and oftener if required.

Great complaints are made of the filthy state in which the prisoners are brought from the lock-up house. Even a prisoner complained to me that its wretched condition caused him to walk about the cell all night rather than lie down, and that it was so cold that he thought he would catch his death. There was no watercloset, and as there were two other men with him, the vessel substituted for it was very offensive. I am glad to be able to add to this account, that while this report has been in the press, plans have been submitted to the Secretary of State for building a new lock-up house, to supersede that which has so long been a reproach to the town.

BIRMINGHAM.—BOROUGH GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

A VERY extensive alteration was taking place at the time of my last inspection, in the addition of 118 cells to the males' division of the prison; this having been rendered necessary by the great increase which has lately taken place in the number of prisoners. The first part, consisting of 52 cells, is expected to be ready by July 1856, but the remainder had not yet been commenced. The extension is made by the addition of about 19 cells to the length of the central division. Notwithstanding the increase which was made a few years ago to the cells for females, they have been found of late insufficient, although not to the same extent as those of the men. If the excess of prisoners of that sex should not go beyond its present limits, the extra number of women might be easily provided for in the rooms which were built for female debtors, but are not now used for that purpose.

The insufficient size of the chapel is also become a sensible inconvenience, from the pressure of the extra number of prisoners. It is not so easy to see how this is to be met. It is proposed by some to enlarge the chapel, by others to build a separate chapel for female prisoners. Perhaps the last-named expedient might be adopted with the greatest advantage, as, from the great increase of prisoners, it is urgently necessary that another chaplain should be appointed; and that officer would of course serve the one chapel, while the present chaplain continued to serve the other.

The following prisoners were present on the last day of inspection:—

The cases of the convicted prisoners are more particularly referred to in the Appendix. The prisoners were all separately questioned, but made no complaints, except those of a very trivial and unimportant kind. Among the prisoners summarily convicted were included a very large number who have been convicted under the Criminal Justice Act (18 & 19 Vict. c. 126), which accounts for the unusual amount of prisoners of this denomination. The following table exhibits the total number who have been committed under this Act since it came into operation :—

| Between the 3rd September 1855, and 21st April 1856. | Males. | | Females. | | Both Sexes. | | Grand Total. |

It will be observed that the prison still receives no debtors, for although there is a debtors' ward, this has been lately so constantly filled with criminal prisoners, that the practice of sending the borough debtors to Warwick, which has been shown in former reports to be productive of so much hardship to that class of prisoners, has been almost of necessity allowed to continue. As soon as sufficient accommodation shall have been provided for criminals by the extension of the building now in hand, no time should be lost in making a change, which is not less required by considerations of justice to the county than by those already referred to towards the prisoners.

The male prisoners were engaged in the following employments at the time of my visit :—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Shoemakers | 22 | Gardeners | 10 |
| Tailors | 21 | Picking fibre | 93 |
| Matmakers | 42 | Plaiting | 29 |
| Carpenters | 3 | Whitewashers | 4 |
| Bakers | 2 | Brushmakers | 2 |
| Cooks | 4 | Stokers | 2 |
| Blacksmiths | 1 | Pumping water | 20 |
| Painters | 1 | | |

There were 7 in the infirmary and 9 in the reception ward.

The females were employed in washing, ironing, needlework, and knitting stockings. The whole number of women and girls were so employed.

Nothing could exceed the cleanliness and order of every part of the establishment, and the persons of the prisoners were as clean as their employments allowed. The bedding was also very clean ; sheets are allowed to all prisoners.

The diet within the last year has been materially altered, by the advice of the surgeon, and the number of prisoners requiring extra allowances of food has been thereby greatly diminished ; while the cost of the improved diet for all the long-sentenced prisoners is much less than that which was formerly incurred by granting extra allowances to a smaller number. The following table shows the new schedule of diet for prisoners under sentences exceeding 6 months :—

The punishments for prison offences, as shown by the Misconduct Book, are not of a severe character. No prisoner (adult) was whipped, one was placed in irons for three hours, the rest of the punishments consisted of close confinement, and partial privation of food.

The services performed by the chaplain are nearly the same as have been detailed in former reports. He visits the prison at 9 in the morning, and performs a short service, concluding with a lecture on some part of Scripture, which occupies about half an hour. He receives at this time a list of the prisoners kept away from chapel by sickness or punishment, whom he visits after the service in their cells or the infirmary. He afterwards visits prisoners in their cells, and on frequent occasions visits the school classes. On Sundays two full services, with sermons, are performed in the morning and afternoon; but as the chapel will not accommodate more than 240 prisoners at once, the prisoners can only attend one service on Sunday and on alternate days in the week. It is very desirable that increased chapel accommodation should keep pace with the enlargement taking place in the prison. Forty additional separate seats have been ordered to be put up for the boys, but they will not suffice for the much increased population.

The chaplain is very well satisfied with the schoolmasters, whose course of instruction is very effective and salutary. I had myself an opportunity of being present at a Scripture lesson by one of them, which appeared to me well suited to the capacities of the prisoners to whom it was addressed, and very highly to interest the hearers. All prisoners whose sentences exceed 6 weeks receive instruction, unless employed in the work of the prison out of their cells, as, for example, as gardeners, cooks, bakers, and in repairs. The boys have 2 hours' instruction for 5 days in the week, and an hour on Sundays. The adults who are learning to read have rather more than an hour daily for 5 days in the week. There is no difficulty in obtaining the consent of the magistrates to the purchase of any books of general instruction as well as those exclusively religious. The prisoners' reading books are generally changed once a week.

It may be as well to allude in this place to a contrivance adopted by the Governor to prevent the marking of the prisoners' pews in chapel with writing, &c., by rendering the detection of the offender more certain. The plan consists in obliging the prisoners to leave duplicate numbers, made of cloth, fixed up in their pews on leaving the chapel. An officer then searches the pews, and if he finds any marks, knows with certainty by what prisoner they have been made. This serves also to discover any notes or communications on paper left in the pews by prisoners.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison are shown in the following schedule :—

A trades-instructor, for teaching matmaking, was appointed about six weeks before my visit. Before this great a deal of matmaking was done by prisoners, as is shown by the fact, that about 1,400 were made in the last year. In the quarter immediately preceding my visit, the amount received for goods sold and work done was 246*l.* 12*s.* 1*d.* It would be desirable that prisoners should be employed, wherever possible, in the construction of the new buildings.

The prison was very healthy at the time of my inspection, indeed it is probable that its healthiness is, in general, equal to that of any other establishment in the kingdom. There had not been a single death in the prison since the period comprehended in the annual return given above, and only one prisoner had been liberated on medical grounds, namely, for amaurosis, producing almost total blindness. It has been mentioned in former reports, that diseases of the lungs are very rare in this prison, as well as cases of scrofula, further experience has confirmed this opinion. Tape-worm still prevails to an extent which I have not met with in any other locality; at least a dozen cases have occurred in the last year.

The padded room, mentioned in the last report as having been recommended, has now been adopted and although it has never but once been required for a case of insanity, and never for one of epilepsy, it has been found very efficacious in cases of persons feigning insanity or attempting suicide. Prisoners, also, who have been very unruly, have been brought to reason by being placed in the cell, having been apparently subdued by the implied imputation of insanity.

WORCESTERSHIRE.

WORCESTER.—COUNTY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

A VERY great improvement of the prison was in contemplation at the time of my last inspection, and plans with reference to it were prepared and about to be sent to the Secretary of State. When these plans shall be carried out there will be accommodation in certified cells for 251 men and 60 women exclusive of debtors, of whom there will be cells for 26 men and 2 women. The chapel will remain as at present, and a very small part of the old prison will be preserved. The males' infirmary, which is very commodious, will be retained as at present; but I would beg to suggest that it would be most desirable that the surgery should be made more suitable to its purpose, as from its small size and closeness, the drugs are frequently mouldy and unfit for use. There will be no difficulty in effecting this as soon as the new reception ward shall be finished, for the room now used for that purpose might then be given up to the purposes of a surgery, and each ward of the infirmary provided with a watercloset, so as to do away with the necessity of making the room in question a passage room. It would have been very desirable that some cells should have been built, contiguous to the infirmary, for the separation of those prisoners whom it might not be wished to associate with the others, but as allowance has been made in the plan of the cells for a larger number of prisoners than are likely to be received for some time to come, some of these cells might be used for the purpose I have alluded to, by which the expense of such an addition might be avoided.

No complaints of any importance were made by any of the prisoners when separately questioned.

A very large number of committals has taken place under the Criminal Justice Act (18 & 19 Vict. c. 126.) No less than 202 individuals having been received under that Act since September 1855, when it came into operation.

The prison was very clean throughout, but, especially in the case of the dark cells, very imperfectly ventilated. Of these cells it may be safely said that nothing can exceed their closeness from defective ventilation. This is the more to be regretted as the expenditure of a few shillings in each cell would very much mitigate, although it would not entirely remove the objection. The new building will remedy the evil.

The male convicted prisoners at the time of my visit were employed at the treadmill, but as there was not room for all those to work who were sentenced to hard labour the remainder were made to walk round the yard. There are also two hand-cranks for raising water, at which nine prisoners were employed at a time, with two relays, occupying in all twenty-seven prisoners. Four were employed at tailoring, and three in shoemaking. There has been lately some oakum-picking, but at the moment of my visit they were waiting for a supply of junk.

I may here allude to the very defective state of the treadmill, upon which the prisoners work in close juxtaposition, without any partitions, as usual in prisons to prevent communication. The result of this is that prisoners are constantly using endeavours to communicate, which, as constantly, lead to punishment. It does not appear to me consistent with justice or likely to contribute to the amelioration of character, to expose persons unnecessarily to the temptation to commit acts which, although not morally criminal, subject those who commit them to punishment, as being subversive of order, and, therefore, forbidden by the rules of the prison It may be objected to this opinion that the exposure to temptation is a trial of virtue, but it must be borne in mind that prison punishments are often inflicted for offences arising out of the neglect of conventional rules, and not essentially wrong in a moral point of view. For example, in the case under consideration, the punishment is often inflicted, not with any reference to the nature of the communication made, for that generally consists in some harmless words, in themselves perfectly inoffensive, but because the rule of silence has been infringed. Surely it would be more judicious, as well as more charitable, to remove the temptation by putting partitions between the men while at their work.

The expenditure or receipts of the prison are shown in the following abstract:—

The new building now about to be commenced will afford facilities for performing different works of a remunerative kind to the great gain of the establishment, and the obvious moral advantage of the prisoners.

It is lamentable to observe by the table inserted above that there has been a very great increase of commitments in the last year. This increase has taken place almost exclusively in the class of adult prisoners of both sexes, but the number of children annually committed is so considerable as to make it a matter for congratulation that a reformatory school for the county and city of Worcester has been opened in the neighbourhood.

The number of severe punishments has been very considerable, owing, no doubt, to the difficulties opposed by the construction of the prison to the maintenance of discipline. I have already referred, when speaking of the treadmill, to one of these difficulties. No less than three adult prisoners were whipped in the course of the year.

Chaplain.—The services are nearly the same as described in former reports. There has, however, been a rule made that in the case of the chaplain's absence from ill-health or other cause on a week-day the men should be put to labour—in other words that the prayers on those days should be suspended. If, however, the chaplain were to be kept away more than a day or two, he would feel it his duty to provide a clerical substitute. The chaplain orders any book he may consider necessary, and, accordingly, the books of general instruction are sufficiently abundant. As usual in prisons on the associated system, the chaplain complains of the great difficulty of producing any effect upon prisoners by his private admonitions. Whenever the chaplain is absent from any cause on a Sunday the services of another clergyman are engaged, and the sick are visited daily by a substitute in all such cases.

The duties of the surgeon are the same as have been described in former reports, but the large number of commitments has increased his duty to a very great degree. While speaking of the sanitary service of the prison I may as well suggest that the medicines may be purchased by the county, as is done in every other large prison.

The food of the prisoners tasted by me was of very good quality.

WORCESTER CITY GAOL AND HOUSE OF CORRECTION.

No alteration has been made in the construction of the prison since the date of the last report. All parts of the building were extremely clean and in good order; but the defects of construction, so often alluded to before, make it impossible to carry out any kind of discipline calculated to amend the character of the prisoners. The small size of the cells makes it impossible to confine prisoners in them permanently, and they are therefore associated in day rooms rooms and during exercise. I have, however, suggested that prisoners should take their meals in their cells, and that during exercise they should always be under the observation of an officer.

The following prisoners were present at the last inspection :—

| | Males. | Females. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Prisoners for trial - - - | 4 | 4 | 8 |
| Convicted at Assizes and Sessions - | 13 | 6 | 19 |

The cases of the convicted prisoners are more particularly referred to in the Appendix. The debtors were the following :—

The prisoners on being questioned separately made no complaints. One woman was under a sentence of 14 days confinement, and being an old offender, was being kept in separate confinement,—an infraction of law, inasmuch as the prison does not contain any cells certified as fit for that discipline by an Inspector of Prisons, and here alluded to for the purpose of showing the practical effect of the deficiencies adverted to above. Another infraction of law, which must not be passed over in silence, was, that an untried female prisoner was employed in washing in the company of two who were convicted.

The following table shows the number of persons who have been in confinement in the last year, compared with the total number in the preceding year, from which it will be seen that a great increase has taken place :—

The food was of very good quality, and sufficient for maintaining health.

The only labour in which the male prisoners were employed at the time of my visit was that of the treadmill. No kind of work is provided (as required by law) for prisoners who are not sentenced to hard labour, or for the employment of untried prisoners. The only exception to this was in the case of one prisoner, a shoemaker by trade, who was occupied, by the permission of the visiting justices, in executing work for the support of his family, as the only means of keeping them out of the union.

The dresses of the prisoners and their bedding were clean and in good order; but I have again to refer to the fact, that sheets are not used, except in the case of sickness. I have so often referred to the advantages, both moral and economical, attending the use of linen bedding, that I feel it unnecessary to repeat the observations here, more especially as the magistrates whom I met at the prison expressed their readiness to adopt the suggestion.

There has been no epidemic in the prison in the course of the year, and the prisoners, at the time of my visit, were very healthy. The surgeon visits about four times a week, and oftener if necessary; he examines all prisoners in the reception cells, and all under solitary confinement. It is very desirable that the example of other prisons should be adopted in providing medicines at the expense of the city.

The expenditure and receipts of the prison in the last year are shown in the following abstract :—

No change has been made in the services or other duties of the chaplain, who, in addition to the usual services, sees each prisoner three or four times a week apart from his companions.

No schoolmaster is employed, but the chaplain gives some small amount of instruction in reading, writing, and arithmetic. It must, however, be observed that this is very inadequate to the requirements of the prisoners. The supply of books is said to be sufficient, and all requisite additions to be readily allowed by the magistrates.

P.S.—Since my visit, I have had the satisfaction to learn that sheets have been ordered for all the prisoners, and that an additional warder has been appointed to aid in a more effectual supervision of the prisoners.

REPORT.

TO THE RIGHT HON. SIR GEORGE GREY, BART., G.C.B., HER MAJESTY'S PRINCIPAL SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE HOME DEPARTMENT.

SIR, London, 25th February 1856.

I BEG to present to you the Twenty-first Annual Report of the Inspector of Prisons for the District of Scotland, being the Report for the year just ended.

The separate Reports show the Prisons inspected in the course of the year, a great number of which I have visited several times, and I am happy to state that, with very few exceptions, not only the Prisons of Scotland, but those of the four English counties annexed to the district, continue to be in good order and under excellent management; the only marked exception is the Borough Gaol of Newcastle-on-Tyne, which continues to be in a most unsatisfactory state, and to the separate report on which I beg respectfully to direct your attention.

I have also inspected and reported, under your instructions, on the following Reformatory Institutions in the course of the year, viz., the Cumberland Reformatory at Carlisle; Edinburgh Original Ragged School; Greenock Parochial Industrial School; and the Industrial Schools at Paisley, Arbroath, and Inverness.

There are now seventeen such establishments in this district, certified under the Acts 17 & 18 Vict. cc. 74. and 86., which you will find noticed in a separate Report, p. 69.

I am glad to observe there has been a considerable decrease in the number of criminal prisoners committed to the Scotch Prisons during the past year; the number in 1854, including re-commitments, amounted to 23,212, while in 1855 there were only 20,328, thus showing a decrease of 2,984 on the year.

With regard to the English counties annexed to the district, there has been an increase in the average daily numbers confined in the Prisons of Durham and Northumberland, while there had been a decrease in those of the two adjoining counties, Cumberland and Westmoreland.

The general health in all the Prisons has been remarkably good, and I am indebted to George Shaw Esq., Surgeon of the County Prison of Durham, for a receipt (See Appendix, p. 71), which effects a speedy cure of that offensive disease the itch, so prevalent among the vagrant classes when committed to prison, and the cure of which in most prisons was the work of days and sometimes of weeks, but by Mr. Shaw's practice it is reduced to minutes.

For the usual statistical information on the Prisons of Scotland, I beg to refer you to the Seventeenth Report of the General Board of Directors.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your very obedient Humble servant,
J. KINCAID.

ABERDEEN PRISON.

[Inspected July 25, 1855.]

Present in confinement :—

| East Prison | - | 12 male ditto. |
| „ - | - | 48 female ditto. |
| „ - | - | 2 male debtors. |

They made no complaints.

The daily average number in confinement during the year was 69, being four less than the year preceding.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alterations.

Cases of illness had been rather numerous, but not of a serious character; and the surgeon's duties were regularly recorded.

The duties of chaplain and teacher continue to be zealously carried out by the Rev. Daniel Baxter, who takes much interest in watching the future welfare of those who have been under his pastoral care.

The Bibles for the use of the prisoners had been in a very dilapidated state; but I observe by his report for December, that they had been removed, and a new one placed in each cell in both prisons.

The punishments for prison offences had been numerous in the early part of the year, caused chiefly by the idleness and disorderly conduct of the younger class of prisoners.

The following were the employments on the day of inspection, viz. :—

Weaving, winding, shoemaking, shirtmaking, knitting, picking oakum and wool, carding hair, crank labour, cooking and washing.

The provisions are supplied by contract.

On the 30th October an untried female strangled herself in her cell, with the worsted supplied to her for knitting; she had been five days in prison, and the Governor reports that she had not evinced any symptoms leading the officers to expect such an event.

Every department of the prison was in good order, and reflected credit on the management of Mr. Chalmers, the Governor, to whom I am indebted for the following statistics on the state of crime in the county of Aberdeen.

The number of committals during the year was as follows, viz.—

PETERHEAD PRISON.

[Inspected July 26, 1855.]

Present in confinement :—

3 male criminals.

They made no complaints.

The building was in good repair, and had undergone no alteration.

The general health had been good. The surgeon visits twice a week regularly.

The Rev. James Yuill, Free Church minister, also visits twice a week, and converses with the prisoners in their cells.

There had been only six trifling punishments for prison offences since May 1854, and during that year 19 boys had been sentenced to be whipped, but since then, up to the date of my visit, there had been only two so sentenced.

The provisions are purchased by the keeper, and the accounts settled annually.

The daily average number confined in this prison being under five, the expenses are not quoted in the returns of the General Board.

Every thing was clean and creditable to the management of Mr. Dunn, the keeper.

The prison buildings were in good order, and the different wards clean.

The total number of prisoners received during the year was 81, and the daily average 10; there had been no change in the discipline or management, nor did anything seem to call for special notice.

There had been very few cases of sickness, and only one punishment for the year, recorded at the time of my visit.

The following were the employments on the day of inspection:—

| | Males. | Females. |

[Inspected July 3, 1855.]

Present in confinement:—

19 male criminals.
21 female ditto
3 male civil prisoners.

They made no complaints entitled to notice.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 54, being 8 less than the year preceding.

The buildings were in good repair, but the preparations for heating the prison had not been completed.

There had been no change in the discipline or the management.

The commitment of juvenile delinquents has, I regret to find, been on the increase; the number under 16 years of age received during the year ending June 1855, having amounted to 24 males and 6 females, which, with a well managed ragged school in the place, is a lamentable state of matters as regards the youthful population of so small a town.

Scotland. yr Prison.

The general health as well as the general conduct of the prisoners had been remarkably good.

The chaplain, the Rev. P. C. Gardiner, appears to take much interest in the discharge of his duties, and pays a deserved compliment to the teacher, Mr. Orr, for his assiduity and success in teaching, as he says it is not unusual to find adult prisoners who, when first brought in, could but make their "mark" when required, but have been able while in prison to write a creditable letter. The books of the library, he says, are carefully perused, and receive no wilful injury.

Mr. Gardiner, in his report for the quarter ending March last year, in noticing a slight increase in the number of commitments during that quarter, gives the following touching picture of the passive endurance of the labouring and weaving population of the county under the extreme pressure of cold and want during the severe winter of 1854.

"No stronger evidence could be wanted to illustrate how extensively a religious sense of duty pervades even the humblest life of our communities than the grievous burden of privation and suffering under which, in these times, hundreds of families in such towns as Maybole and Girvan are known to preserve an unblameable reputation for honesty and orderly submission.

"The condition of the homes of families above referred to have been described to me by clergymen who visited them. The dimensions of the dwelling would equal about two of the prison cells together. In it, during the severest cold of the past winter, there was often no fire; there was no seat save what a block of stone or the temporary contrivance of a tub turned upside down afforded; there was no bed save what a pallet of straw could supply to solace the sickness of suffering manhood, or quiet the sorrows of three or four half-clad, famishing children. That is a picture, and, I believe, a true delineation of the state in which a hundred families in Maybole and Girvan lived through the last winter, subsisting for days together on but one meal a day, and that of the poorest description."

Every department of the prison, as usual, reflecting great credit on the governor and the matron, Mr. and Mrs. McKissock.

This prison and Kilmarnock continue to be two of the pattern prisons of the district, in which the superior cleanliness and arrangements of the clothing and bedding during the day, are maintained.

The prison buildings were in good repair.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 13, which is 5 less than the year preceding.

The general health had been remarkably good, as also the general conduct of the prisoners.

The surgeon's and the chaplain's duties had been regularly conducted. The library is in good order, and the books in general use.

No provision has yet been made for the warming of this prison, though the governor reports that the thermometer sometimes ranges as low as 35; but there being a fire-place in each of the two end cells, which he allows the prisoners to go to by turns to warm themselves in cold weather, and also supplies them with extra flannels, it is probable that to these precautions may be attributed the good health which continues to be enjoyed in this prison.

The chief employments are mat-making, oakum and wool teasing, &c.

The provisions are supplied by contract, and the accounts settled quarterly.

It is satisfactory to find that the commitment of juvenile delinquents has been on the decrease during the last year in Kilmarnock.

An untried prisoner, named Hugh Weir, committed suicide by hanging himself on the 22d February last.

Every department of the prison was, as usual, in excellent order, reflecting great credit on the keeper and the matron, Mr. and Mrs. Geddes.

One prisoner, named John Grant, sentenced to six months confinement, complained that the porridge was not always of the quality required by the rules, and the governor admitted that upon one or two occasions he considered that there had been just cause for complaint. I recommended him, on all future occasions of the kind, to bring it under the immediate notice of the County Board.

The total number committed during the year had been 89, and the daily average 12.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alterations.

The surgeon's visits had been regular, but there had happily been very little sickness.

The Rev. L. W. Grant performs Divine service on Sundays, and visits the prisoners in their cells on week days.

The teacher reports favourably of the educational progress

CULLEN PRISON. Cullen Prison.

[Inspected July 27, 1855.]

There were no prisoners in confinement, and only two since the close of the last year.

The building was in good order, but the cells are still damp occasionally.

The keeper is allowed, as formerly, sixpence a day for the dieting of each prisoner, for which he provides a pint of porridge for breakfast, the same for supper, and for dinner he gives a pint of skimmed milk and a bap.

There were no prisoners in confinement, but there had been 55 received during the year ending June last.

The prison building was in good order.

There are only two cells in this prison, each 12 feet long, 6 feet 11½ inches wide, and 10 feet high, and I observed recorded, on the 9th of June last, that nine males and seven females had been committed there on a Saturday, and detained till Monday. I reported the circumstance to the Secretary of the General Prison Board, as I conceived that a repetition of such committals to so small a prison, might lead to dangerous results in various ways, the keeper and his wife being the only officers ; and there is no water-closet within the building.

The daily average number in confinement during the year was 11, being seven less than the year preceding.

The prison buildings were in good order, and had undergone no change, with the exception of the removal of the crank machine from the dark cell, mentioned in my last report.

I find by a subsequent report from the governor that a new window has since been struck out in the staircase leading to the main door of the prison, to improve the light and ventilation, and that a door has been struck out in the office to communicate with the lobby of the Court House.

The general health has been good, and the surgeon's visits regular.

The Chaplain, the Rev. James Dodds, appears also to have been very zealous in the discharge of his duties; a considerable addition has been made to the library, and the old books repaired; a suitable bookcase has also been provided.

The general conduct has been good; six boys had been sent there sentenced to be whipped.

The usual employments are oakum and hair teasing, wool-picking, knitting, shirt-making, &c.

There had been very little sickness during the year, and the surgeon's visits had been regular.

There had been no change in the chaplain's duties, which seemed to have been zealously discharged.

A considerable addition had been made to the library, which the governor notices with much satisfaction, as well as the progress in reading, writing, and arithmetic, made by many of the prisoners under the tuition of himself and the matron for their respective sexes.

The general conduct had been good.

The usual employments here are weaving, winding, door-mat making, teasing oakum, &c. &c.

The chaplain, I am glad to find, has, in addition to his other duties, been induced to undertake those of instructor, an office which has long been wanting in this prison; the proportion of juvenile offenders committed here is not great, for I find that

The library is in good order, and the books well taken care of.

There had been no alterations in the prison buildings, but a change had been made in the distribution; the new, or east wing, being now occupied by females and civil prisoners, which has very much relieved the central wing, formerly so much complained of, and in which the discipline of good order can be and is now maintained; but the females confined in that wing are still open to the evils of communication which cannot be prevented.

I am glad to find by a late report that a chapel is about to be erected to the south of the west prison for the male prisoners, and calculated to accommodate about 300.

The general health under the able supervision of Dr. Simson had been remarkably good, and there was only one death.

The chaplain's duties seem to be very satisfactorily conducted by the Rev. William Russell, A.M.; he reports that the two missionaries, as well as the male and female teachers, are most faithful and assiduous in the discharge of their duties, and that the library books are generally used by all who can read, but in his different reports he repeats his conviction that short sentences seldom lead to a real amendment of life.

The following Table shows the comparative numbers of juvenile criminals under 14 years of age committed to this prison during the nine years ending 30th November last, and the number between 14 and 16 years of age during the eight years ending the same date:—

| 1854 | 5,339 | 103 | 1·9 | 253 |
| 1855 | 4,304 | 81 | 1·8 | 142 |

The general conduct had been good and none of the punishments recorded seemed to call for observation.

As usual, I tried the several cranks at work in the separate cells, and invited complaints, but received none. The prisoners employed at them did not appear at all distressed by the labour.

The following were the employments on the day of inspection :—

On my visit this day I learnt for the first time that the two upper floors of the building had been sanctioned by an Act of Parliament for the confinement of prisoners sentenced to three day's imprisonment. The cells in that portion of the building have thus virtually been made a prison, but I was informed that persons confined in them under the Act, received the police allowance of food instead of the prison dietary.

The cells were all very clean and in good order.

There was only one female criminal in confinement.

The building was in good order, and the different cells clean and creditable. There had been very little sickness, and the surgeon visits regularly.

The assistant parish minister is kind enough to visit occasionally gratuitously.

The Bibles for the use of the prisoners, I observed, were not in good order, and recommend that a few new ones be supplied.

There had been no punishments.

The provisions are supplied by contract, and the accounts settled quarterly.

They made no complaints.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alteration.

The daily average number in confinement during the year was 13, being two more than the year preceding.

The total number admitted during the year was 114.

The general health had been good, and the surgeon's visits regular.

The chaplain remarks in his report on the additional number in confinement during the December quarter, that it was owing chiefly to a bevy of thimble-riggers, six in number, committed for being found pursuing their avocations, andthat it is believed to be the first time that such characters had made a public appearance in that district. Scotland. Elgin Prison.

The education of the prisoners continues to be satisfactorily attended to. The books in the library are used by all who can read, and they are pretty well taken care of.

The general conduct had been good.

The usual employments here are, carding and teasing hair and wool, picking oakum, cloth dressing, crank labour, &c.

FORFARSHIRE.

Dundee Prison.

DUNDEE PRISON.

[Inspected October 22, 1855.]

Present in confinement:—

57 male criminals.
49 female ditto.
3 male civil prisoners.

Total - 109

They made no complaints entitled to notice.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 139, being 24 less than the year preceding; and on the 12th December following, I find the gross number in custody reduced to 68.

Some important alterations have been made in the prison arrangements since my last report, by the appropriation of one section of the male prisons for the use of female prisoners; the subdivision and reconstruction of the airing yards, so as to obviate airing in the passages, and extend by at least an hour a day, the time allowed for airing in the open air, and prevent communication, as also to hinder the prisoners from seeing or being seen by anybody but their officers while in the airing yards; the furnishing of bolts to all the cell doors, and the erection of stalls for males in one of the prison corridors, by which, Divine service is performed for the whole of the prisoners every Sunday, instead of pastoral addresses, which were formally given only to a portion of them on Sundays and on week days.

By the rearrangement of the cells, the number now allotted to males is 72, and to females 72; formerly the number of cells for females was only 54, while their occupants were sometimes as many as 104; but by the alterations mentioned, the governor was in April last enabled to extend the discipline of separate confinement, to the female department, after which the number of commitments began gradually to decrease, until they fell to about half the former number.

The governor states, that amongst the causes generally for the diminution of prisoners, may be noted enlistment, and, as Scotland.

Dundee Prison.

respects Dundee, that no militia are quartered in or near it; the working of what is called Forbes MacKenzie's Act, the high price of provisions, leaving less money to spend on spirits at its present high price, and thereby diminishing drunkenness, the demand for labour lessening temptation to steal, the improvements adverted to on the prison, and the stricter discipline enforced, especially in the female prison.

The governor states, that the rules as to hard labour and guard beds have been fully observed during the year with marked good effect; that he has made it a practice with such females as were in the habit of continually returning to prison within a short period after liberation, to put them to the crank machine, with concurrence of the surgeon, every time they came back; many individuals so selected considered that they were thus made the objects of special attention, and ceased altogether to return, after being sometime subjected to such discipline.

Fifty-three female prisoners, out of the numbers committed to Dundee prison in 1855, had been on an average 22 times in prison before, but since last liberated, these 53 have now been at large for an average of six and a half months each; at least they have not again appeared at Dundee prison.

With regard to juvenile offenders, the governor, in a letter dated 20th December last, states, that 31 boys had been sent there sentenced to be whipped in the course of the year, seven of them having imprisonment awarded to them in addition. The governor is of opinion, that in the latter cases (being generally old offenders) it would have a much more deterring effect, were the whole, or a portion at least, of the stripes to be inflicted at the close of the imprisonment in place of the commencement; he states, however, that at the time he writes, there was only one juvenile in custody, and that there had been only three under 14 years of age for upwards of two months past.

There had been three deaths in the course of the year, but otherwise the prisoners had been very healthy.

The chaplain, the Rev. Thos. Stirling, in consequence of the alterations made in the prison, is now enabled to perform Divine service to the whole of the prisoners in two services on Sundays; he reports himself well satisfied with the educational arrangements, and with the progress made by many of the prisoners; he reports in September last, that an addition of 80 small volumes of a religious nature had just been made to the library, which is now better provided than formerly with books suitable to Sunday reading.

The governor reports that the general conduct of the prisoners had been good, and I observed nothing in the recorded punishments that called for special notice. Scotland. Dundee Prison.

The following are the usual employments of the prisoners :—

Weaving.
Winding.
Tailoring.
Shoemaking.
Teasing oakum.
Carpentering and crank labour.
Sewing.
Knitting.
Cooking.
Washing.
Miscellaneous, &c.

| Average amount of earnings - - - | 2 | 11 | 2¼ |

The governor states that several causes have operated to make the amount of earnings lower than in former years, such as the arranging the cells for females ; all the weavers' looms had to be removed and fitted up anew, which for a time obstructed the principal branch of male prisoners' labour, &c.

I noticed the recent appointment of the present governor, Mr. Cruikshank in my last report, and I need only now remark that the great improvements which have been made in the arrangements and management of this prison during the short time he has been in office, show him to be well qualified for the situation.

Mrs. Anderson is also now enabled to keep the female department in a much more satisfactory state than I had ever seen it.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 25, being four less than the year preceding.

The governor informed me that the Rev. H. Stuart had resigned the chaplaincy; but I am glad to find by his December report, that he still holds the appointment which he has so long and so ably filled.

The library books had been very much out of order, but a fresh supply had just been purchased by Mr. Stuart at the time of my visit.

The governor reported, with regard to the general conduct of the prisoners, that he had two or three very troublesome characters in the early part of the year, but since they left, the conduct had been good. The recorded punishments were very few.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and the only change was in the keeper occupying as a sitting-room, a room which had been found insecure for prisoners, and giving up his former apartments as store-rooms, which were wanted.

There had been very few cases of sickness, and the recently appointed surgeon, Dr. Lawrence, has been regular in his visits.

ARBROATH PRISON. Arbroath Prison.

[Inspected October 23, 1855.]

Present in confinement:—

4 female criminals.

They made no complaints.

The total number of prisoners received during the year was 52 males and 47 females.

The prison building was in good order, and had undergone no change.

Though I had visited the prison several times in the course of the past year, I never saw any but a worthless class, mostly elderly females, whose short sentences in such a prison was not likely to lead to good or harm.

The chaplain, however, in his last report, notices two females of a different class, one aged 19 and the other 13; the former had been long known to him as a regular attendant at his Sunday evening class, and as she was sentenced to 60 days imprisonment for a first offence, he was very desirous that she should be kept out of the reach of contamination, which they were enabled to do for a short time, but an influx of some of the most notorious and abandoned women of the town occasioned the necessity for seven or eight, to be accommodated in the only two cells set apart for females, and there was too much reason to fear, that being brought in contact with such characters would lead her into every species of vice and depravity. He states that a somewhat similar case occurred to the girl aged 13.

As there are three other prisons of the same county within easy access of Arbroath, in either of which the means of separate confinement can generally be had for such special cases as the two above noticed, I respectfully suggest that measures should be adopted and understood by the keeper, whereby a transfer of such a case to one of the other prisons might be authorized, for in so small a town as Arbroath no girl who has been compelled to associate with bad characters in a cell of the prison, can ever by any means hope to shake herself free of them.

The usual employments here are teasing hair and tow strings, sewing and knitting.

The general health and general conduct had been good.

The provisions are purchased by the keeper, and the accounts settled quarterly.

I regret to find that the keeper had died since I was last there.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 19, being one more than the year preceding.

The buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alteration.

The general health in the prison had been remarkably good, but I regret having to notice since I was there, the death of the surgeon, Dr. Fraser, as also that of the clerk of the County Board, Alexander M'Tavish, Esq.

The Rev. T. Faulkner continues to carry out the duties of chaplain with his usual zeal.

The library is in good order, but the chaplain states that it is not used to the extent that might be expected; in his last report on the educational condition of the prisoners, he remarks that a considerable proportion of those in confinement was for breach of the Articles of War, but, although

Scotland.
Inverness Prison.

they were generally what might be termed good prisoners, and upon the whole well-disposed men, they manifested no taste for reading.

The governor remarks on the state of juvenile crime, that there had been committed to this prison since the 1st of January 1855, 19 males and one female between 10 and 17 years of age, four of the former were sentenced to be whipped, one of them had once before been whipped. Since punishment by whipping was introduced, 30 had been subjected to its discipline, three of which have been recommitted once, and one, twice; in the cases of these recommittals the first whipping was accompanied by imprisonment, and there has not been a single recommittal of a boy who had been sentenced to be whipped only.

The governor, like every governor I converse with, strongly objects to the sentence of imprisonment in addition to whipping; his first objection is, that a boy, up to the time he receives whipping, has a great dread of the prison; but after a few days imprisonment he feels quite at home in his cell, and leaves at the end of his sentence with a very different opinion from that which he had formed when he entered it. Secondly, in a small town, such as Inverness, it operates much against a boy's future prospects when it becomes known to the community that he has been in prison, for no one is inclined to give him employment.

The general conduct has been good.

The following are the general employments:—

Weaving.
Winding.
Shoemaking.
Mat-making.

Every department of the prison reflected great credit on the management of Mr. Ker, the governor, who, in his report for the quarter ending September, calls the attention of the County Board, in the following remarks, to a nuisance existing in the neighbourhood of the prison, which it is very desirable should be attended to:—

"The common privy, situated contiguous to the prison buildings, during the hot season of the year was found to be very offensive; if the Prison Board could prevail upon the Castle Commissioners to improve its present state by the introduction of water, or have it removed, it would be adding greatly to the comforts of the inmates of the prison."

FORTWILLIAM PRISON.

[Inspected July 16, 1855.]

There was only one female prisoner in confinement, and she could not speak a word of English.

The daily average number during the year being under five, the averages are not embraced in the report of the General Board.

The prison building was in good order, and the different wards, clothing, bedding, &c. very clean.

The duties of the prison seemed to be regularly carried out, and I found the books correctly kept, and posted up to the day of my visit.

The general health and general conduct has been good, and there was nothing calling for special observation, except to notice the indefatigable zeal and energy of the keeper, Mr. Loban, in converting with his own hands the prison grounds beyond the walls into a useful as well as an ornamental garden, which grounds were to be seen a year before a very wild outskirt to that small Highland town.

The provisions are purchased by the keeper, who charges what they cost.

The keeper and his sister, Miss Loban, the matron, are entitled to great credit for the order in which the place is kept.

MAXWELLTOWN PRISON.

Maxwelltown Prison.

[Inspected March 16, 1855.]

There were no prisoners in confinement. The building was in good order, but two of the cells were a little damp.

The general health had been good; but the surgeon had died since my last visit; the keeper informed me that a successor had been appointed, but he had not yet visited the prison. There seemed to be nothing else calling for special observation.

Glasgow Prison.

[Inspected October 31, and November 1, 1855.]

Present in confinement:—

264 male criminals.
208 female ditto.
14 male civil prisoners.
1 female ditto.

Total - 487

They made some complaints, which shall presently be noticed.

The daily average number in confinement during the year was 547, being 27 less than the year preceding; the total number in confinement during the year was 4,193.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no material change.

Scotland.

Glasgow Prison.

There had been five deaths in the course of the year, two males and three females, but the general health had been very good, the chief ailment at this season being bronchitis, caused by the foggy atmosphere; the medical duties continue to be discharged by Dr. Gibson with his usual zeal and ability.

There had been several attempts at suicide by strangulation, but the governor states his belief that most of them were what the surgeon calls "suicidal dodges," for the purpose of getting a companion in the same cell.

The chaplain's duties are efficiently discharged by the Rev. William Doran, who, on reviewing the educational condition of the prisoners during the past year, remarks that there have been and still are many whose progress in learning has not been behind that of persons enjoying the advantages of a public school, while others have made little or no improvement, but the fault is their own, not that of the teachers, who continue to show the same zeal and activity in imparting instructions to all who come under their care, which numbers include many who are not entitled to it by the rules.

In his last report, he acknowledges having received from the Local Board a valuable collection of books, chiefly of a moral and religious kind, which has conferred a great boon on the inmates of the prison; he further states that he continues to spend about six hours daily in visiting throughout the establishment, and that divine service is regularly conducted in all the stations, and that with few exceptions the conduct of the prisoners on those occasions is good.

The governor states that juvenile crime this year is on the decrease, owing to the working of the Reformatory Schools Act; he quotes the decrease in the committals of both sexes at 112.

The numbers sent to reformatories since the 1st of December 1854, he quotes at 183 males and 52 females; and he considers that had that institution not been in existence, there would have been at least 200 additional committals to the prison,

On the 29th of April last, two untried male prisoners made an attempt to break out of the east-wing by overpowering the warder and possessing themselves of his cell door key, with which they opened the doors of several of the adjoining cells, calling on the inmates to join them, but to their surprise the other prisoners took the part of the warder, and thrust the assailants back into their cell, locking them in.

In other respects the general conduct was reported to have been good, and I observed nothing in the record of punishments requiring notice.

Scotland.

Glasgow Prison.

In visiting the different cells, I received, as I have already stated, several complaints; they were made by male convicts, who complained that the food supplied to them on Sundays was not in accordance with the rates of dietary shown in the rules, and which on examination I found to be the fact.

The governor stated that the Sunday dietary complained of, had long been in use, but as no one had ever complained of it to him, it had totally escaped his notice, that it was not in accordance with the late altered rules, but he undertook to bring it under the notice of the Local Board, which I reported to the Secretary of the General Board, and I understand that the alteration was soon after made.

The following were the employments of the prisoners on the day of inspection:—

| | Males. | | Females. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Weaving | 1 | Sewing and knitting | 104 |
| Winding | 2 | Teasing hair, &c. | 41 |
| Shoemaking | 5 | Washing | 9 |

| Hackling | 8 | | |
| Mat-making | 5 | | |
| Cooking and baking | 11 | | |
| Crank machine | 18 | | |

In visiting the separate cells in which prisoners were employed at crank labour, I tried the several cranks, and invited complaints, but received none, nor did any of the workers appear at all distressed by the employment.

Every department of the prison was in excellent order, and reflected credit on the management of Mr. Stirling the governor, and Miss Watson the matron.

Every department of the prison reflected credit on Mr. Clark the keeper, and Miss Gray, the matron.

They made no complaints.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 17, being four less than the year preceding.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no change.

The general health had been remarkably good, the surgeon's register showing only two cases of sickness during the year; the duties of the chaplain and the surgeon had been regularly attended to.

The Rev. D. Webster officiates both as chaplain and teacher; the library books are equal to the wants of the prison, and they are tolerably well taken care of.

The general conduct had been good; one boy had been sentenced to be whipped.

The governor remarks that the average earnings in this prison will be considerably lower than that of many other county prisons, owing to the number of colliers committed to it for short sentences, who are unable to do any other work than picking oakum, from which the profits are small; the imprisonment of a tradesman here is of rare occurrence.

[Inspected July 23, 1855.]

There was only one male prisoner in confinement.

The prison buildings were in good repair.

There had been no sickness worth mentioning.

The chaplain and the surgeon visit regularly; the library is well supplied and the books in good order.

The usual employments are picking oakum and hair, knitting and shoemaking.

The food and clothing are purchased by the governor, who charges what they cost.

I find the governor, Mr. Gray, always at his post, and everything clean and creditable to him.

The daily average numbers in the prison being under five, the averages are not quoted in the returns of the General Board.

The total number in confinement during the year was 60, the average daily number is not quoted.

The prison buildings were in good repair and had undergone no change, but a store room is much wanted and as one may be erected at a very trifling cost in the vacant space leading to the back yard. I recommend it to the consideration of the Local Board.

The surgeon's visits are regular, but there has been very little sickness.

There had been no change in the chaplain's duties; the library is well supplied, and the books in good order.

The usual employments are, mat-making, knitting, and picking oakum.

The provisions are purchased, and the accounts settled quarterly.

The books were posted up to the day of my visit, and everything very creditable to the governor, Mr. Lyons.

PERTHSHIRE.

PERTH GENERAL PRISON.

[Inspected August 1, and October 25, 1855.]

On the first day, I visited the whole of the prison, when there were present in confinement, 414 males, and 50 females.

My second inspection was more especially to the male department, on which day there were in confinement 392 males, and 187 females.

No prisoner made any complaint on the first day, and on the second there was only one, made by a prisoner named James Johnson, who when I entered his cell put a letter into my hand, which I found full of complaints against the surgeon and the head warder, but which on investigation I found to be groundless.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 433 males and 65 females.

The prison buildings were all in good repair.

In consequence of the introduction of female prisoners to the prison in July last, a considerable change had been made in the staff.

Twelve male warders and four teachers had been discontinued, and a matron, sub-matron, eleven female warders, and four teachers were appointed, as also a male superintendent of manufactures and stores, whose duties are to obtain orders for supplies of profitable work, and to act as salesman of the prison manufactures, &c.

In the same month, arrangements were made for the transfer to English prisons, of male prisoners under sentence of transportation or penal servitude, and the General Board resolved that the distribution of the cells in the main prison should thereafter be as follows; viz., 182 cells for females under sentence for transportation or penal servitude, and 101 cells for females under sentence of imprisonment; the remaining 248 cells for separate confinement of males, and one room, capable of containing 12 prisoners in association, to be appropriated to males sentenced to imprisonment.

Scotland. Perth General Prison.

The arrangements for the juvenile class remain unaltered, and the discipline and educational progress of that class continue to be very satisfactory.

The general health, and general conduct of the prisoners, had throughout the year been good.

The system for the discipline and management of this prison is so fully detailed in the 17th Report of the General Board of Directors, that it is unnecessary here to repeat it; and though I have been several times in the prison in the course of the year, the frequent visits of the chairman and other members of the General Board, and their prompt correction of abuses, and provision for needed requirements, had left me little to notice and nothing to suggest.

Mr. Stuart the governor, Dr. Malcolm the surgeon, and the Rev. William Brown the chaplain, continue to discharge their duties in a very satisfactory manner, and the Board seem to have been happy in their selection of Mrs. Farnie to fill the office of superintendent of the female department, as she seems eminently fitted for the charge.

[Inspected July 31, 1855.]

Present in confinement:—

46 male criminals.
26 female ditto.
1 male civil prisoner.

Total - 73

They made no complaints entitled to notice.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 61, being 22 less than the year preceding. The averages, however, had increased to 70 and 71 during the two quarters ending December. The governor ascribes the increase to the circumstance of Perth having become a considerable military station.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alteration.

The general health as well as the general conduct had been good.

The duties of the chaplain and teacher had been regularly attended to, and the educational progress of the prisoners seemed satisfactory. The library books are extensively used, but a number of them, at the time of my visit, were not in good order; the chaplain, however, in his report for December, states that they have since been repaired.

The average number of juvenile criminals remains stationary. None had been sentenced to be whipped during the year.

The recorded punishments were not numerous, nor did any of them call for notice.

The following are the usual employments of the prisoners:—weaving, winding, tailor-work, and shoemaking, net-making, knitting, teasing hair, wool, oakum, and crank labour.

I tried the several cranks at work in the separate cells; none of the prisoners employed at them made any complaint, or appeared at all distressed by the labour.

lowing remark in the surgeon's journal, is deserving attention :—

"Dunblane Prison, January 20, 1855.

"My attention was more particularly called the other day to the state of the keeper's kitchen. One of his family, a girl about ten years old, died of disease of the membranes of the brain. The kitchen is unavoidably used as a sleeping, eating, and cooking apartment; there is a large boiler in the corner which is used daily. When the windows are shut, the steam from the boiler condenses on the walls, and runs down in streams; when they are open, the draught of cold air to supply the furnace and the kitchen fire, is insufferable. During the child's illness, I am of opinion that the symptoms were much aggravated by the unequal ventilation. The boiler should be removed.

"(Signed) Ro. Douglas."

The surgeon visits regularly twice a week, but there had been very little sickness.

A teacher, Mr. M'Ewan, assistant teacher in the Parochial School, attends and gives instruction to the prisoners three days a week, for an hour each day; but there is still no clerical visitor, nor has there been any religious duties on Sundays performed since September 1852.

There had been no punishment for prison offences since September 1854.

The usual employments are tailoring, shirt-making, teasing oakum, &c.

They made no complaints.

The daily average number in confinement during the year was 102, being 24 less than the year preceding, and 40 less than in 1853. So great a diminution in the numbers is chiefly to be attributed to the increased accommodation of the prison's affording the means of separate confinement, and the more rigid enforcement of discipline.

The buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alteration.

There had been two deaths during the year, but the general health of the prisoners had been good, and the surgeon's visits regular.

The Rev. William Smith continues to discharge the duties of chaplain and teacher with zeal and ability. He states that the library has been much sought after by those who could read; but the books having been long in use, and during a period when almost every cell was occupied by a plurality of prisoners, many of them are much soiled and out of order; all such books ought to be removed and replaced now that the condition of the prison permits their preservation being attended to.

The governor remarks on the large increase in the number of juvenile commitments during the last two years, which he says he can in no way account for. In 1852 the numbers were only 26, whereas in 1854 they had increased to 70, and this last year to 78.

The general conduct had been good, and I observed nothing in the recorded punishments requiring remark.

I tried the several cranks at work in the separate cells, and found them all reasonably weighted; none of the prisoners employed at them appeared distressed by the labour, or made any complaint.

The usual employments are the same as last reported.

The general health had been good, and the duties of the surgeon and the chaplain were reported by the governor to have been regularly attended to, but I have not received the usual quarterly reports of either of them.

The governor reported the general conduct to have been good, and the punishments recorded were of a trifling character.

The commitment of juvenile offenders to this prison was on the decrease, and none had been sentenced to be whipped during the year.

A female prisoner, named Ann Mathieson, who was unable to make herself understood in any language but Gaelic, had been upwards of four years in the prison for having committed murder in a fit of insanity, but since she had been there her conduct had, in the opinion of the officers, been in every respect that of a sane person, and as she was frequently for a length of time the only female prisoner, her health at the time of my visit had become seriously affected by the nature of her imprisonment; but as the surgeon was of opinion that the original cause of her crime was liable to return, and that she was not safe to be at liberty, I represented her case to the General Board, when she was removed to the lunatic wing of the general prison at Perth.

The average daily number in confinement during the year having been less than five, the usual averages are not quoted, but the total number received during the year was 77.

The general health had been remarkably good, and the surgeon's visits regular.

The chaplain, the Rev. Alexander M'Laren, visits the prisoners in their separate cells during the week, and performs service on Sundays, when the numbers amount to five.

The library is well supplied, and the books well taken care of.

There is not a sufficient supply of guard beds for the number of prisoners required by rule to use them; I recommend that the deficiency be supplied, for it is a responsibility which ought not to rest with the keeper, to make a selection from a number of prisoners who are alike sentenced to the same punishment.

The usual employments here are:—

Sand-breaking.
Mat-making.
Teasing hair, &c.
Knitting.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 89, being 16 less than the year preceding.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alteration.

There had been one death, but though the cases of recorded sickness were rather numerous, there were few of the others of a serious character.

The surgeon, Mr. Forest, had been regular in his visits, and the chaplain and teacher appeared also to have been zealous in the discharge of his duties; he considers the educational progress of the prisoners as very satisfactory, but he does not seem to think that in other respects they are improved by their imprisonments; he compliments the matron, Miss Fraser, on the improvement which the female prisoners make under her care in reading, writing, and religious knowledge.

The library is well supplied, but his several reports show that the books are not generally well taken care of.

The recorded punishments were rather numerous, but I observed none requiring special remark.

There had been 23 prisoners under 17 years of age, viz. 16 males and seven females, received during the year.

In the month of June nine female prisoners were transferred to the prison at Alloa, which was some relief to this prison, but in the report for the quarter ending December the numbers in confinement still ranged as high as 97, while the lowest number exceeded the number of cells for their accommodation; a state of things which must continue to keep this prison in an unsatisfactory state of discipline.

The usual employments are the same as last reported.

They made no complaints.

The daily average number in confinement was under five; the total number committed during the year was 29.

The prison buildings were in good order, and had undergone no alteration; but the keeper and the surgeon complain in their report for December, that the heating apparatus continues in the same imperfect state as has been so often reported.

The health of the prisoners had been good; in fact, there is seldom a case of sickness in the prison unless brought in by prisoners.

The chaplain, the Rev. William Forsyth, converses with the prisoners in their cells, and when there are five in confinement he preaches to them on Sundays.

There had been no punishments, and the following are the usual employments :—

Mat-making.
Stone-breaking.
Teasing oakum.
Net-making.
Shoemaking, &c.

The provisions and clothing are purchased by the keeper, who charges what they cost, and such accounts are settled half-yearly; the keeper's accounts are settled annually.

The several reports show that the visits of the members of the Prison Board had been numerous.

The grounds were very neatly kept, and everything clean and creditable to the keeper and the matron, Mr. and Mrs. Forbes.

Stranraer Prison.

[Inspected March 14, 1855.]

Present in confinement :—

6 male criminals.
2 female ditto, and one child.
2 male civil prisoners.

Total - 10

They made no complaints.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was eight, being the same as the year preceding.

The prison buildings were in good repair, but some of the cells are occasionally damp, and the unsatisfactory condition of the kitchens require to be looked to and corrected.

The surgeon's visits had been regular; there had scarcely been any sickness; one old man, aged 79, an untried prisoner, committed suicide, by hanging himself, on the 23d November last. No blame attached to the officers of the prison.

The chaplain, the Rev. W. M. Simpson, in almost every report remarks on the lamentable state of ignorance which prevails in that district, and the very small proportion of prisoners received, who have any ordinary education, and that they are too short a time in prison to profit by any instruction they receive while there.

The general conduct had been good, and the usual employments are teasing oakum, tailoring, and sewing.

The provisions are purchased by the keeper, and the accounts settled quarterly.

[Inspected March 5 and June 15, 1855.]

Present in confinement on the first day :—

|---|---|
| | 58 male criminals. |
| | 32 female ditto. |
| | 2 male civil prisoners. |
| Total | 92. |

I received no complaint entitled to notice at either inspection.

The daily average number in confinement during the year was 90, being 15 less than the year preceding.

The prison buildings were in good repair; the only alteration has been the providing a new work-room for mat-making and oakum picking.

There had been one death, but the general health of the prisoners had been good, and the surgeon's duties regularly attended to.

The chaplain's duties appear also to be very zealously carried out, and the educational department of the prison continues to be very satisfactorily conducted.

The following were the punishments for prison offences during the year :—

| | Males. | Females. |
|---|---|---|
| Stoppages of food | 138 | 73 |
| Dark cells | 41 | 23 |
| Other punishments | 8 | 0 |

Carlisle Prison.

Those classed under the head of "other punishments" had been found sleeping in their body clothes during the night, and were in consequence made to sleep on guard beds.

I must again contrast the number of punishments in this prison with those in the neighbouring county prison of Durham.

The number of prisoners committed to the prison of Durham during the year was 2,229. The number of punishments were 161; in Carlisle, during the same period, the number of commitments was 596, and the number of punishments 283.

As stated in my last report, the difference lies not in the management of this prison, but in the want of a certain number of cells fitted for separate confinement, which might be arranged at a very moderate outlay.

There has been a decrease in the juvenile commitments, being this last year only 13, and the year before 34.

The following were the employments on the first day of inspection:—

| | Males. | Females. |
|---|---|---|
| Tread wheel | 24 | — |
| Cranks | 3 | — |
| Mat-making | 1 | — |
| Oakum picking | 11 | — |

| Average amount of earnings | 2 | 6 | 4 |
| Net cost per head, including all expenses, except buildings, but not deducting earnings. | 23 | 13 | 10¼ |

Every department of the prison was, as usual, in excellent order, and reflected great credit on Mr. Redin, the governor, who expressed himself well pleased with the assistance he received from Mrs. Christopherson, the matron, as also from the subordinate officers generally.

WHITEHAVEN LOCK-UP.

There were three male prisoners in confinement: they made no complaints.

The building was in good order, and the different wards and cells clean.

A new keeper had been appointed, who seems well qualified for the charge.

DURHAM COUNTY.

DURHAM PRISON.

[Inspected August 21, 1855.]

Present in confinement:—

219 male criminals.
68 female ditto.
10 male debtors.

Total - 297

They made no complaints deserving notice, with the exception, that in one of the debtors' wards they complained of not getting the amount of airing to which they conceived they were entitled.

The daily average number in confinement during the year, including debtors, was 291, being 43 more than the year preceding. The total number of criminal prisoners in confinement during the year, 2,229, is an increase of 360 on the past year.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and the only important alteration was the opening a gate in the western boundary wall to bring the adjoining field, in which the juvenile prisoners are usually employed in summer, within the prison grounds. This alteration had been sanctioned by the Secretary of State, on condition that the boundary wall of the field should be raised two feet higher; this condition, however, had not been carried out when I visited the prison in November last.

There had been no change in the discipline or management.

There had been two deaths in the course of the year; one from consumption and the other a diseased heart, but there had been no epidemic disease, and the general health appears to have been remarkably good.

The public are indebted to Dr. Shaw, the surgeon, for the discovery of a speedy cure for that obnoxious disease, the itch, so prevalent among the vagrant class. See Appendix, p. 71.

The chaplain, the Rev. Allen Greenwell, seems to carry out the duties of his department with much zeal and judgment, and the educational arrangement under his direction is most satisfactorily conducted; there is a good supply of books for the use of the prisoners.

The general conduct of the prisoners is best shown by the table of punishments, which, in this prison, continues to present a most favourable contrast to prisons in which the means of separate confinement are wanting, and though the total number of prisoners has considerably increased during the past year, the punishments are fewer; in 1854 the punishments for prison offences amounted to 165, during the last year they amounted to only 161, as follows, viz.:—

| | Males. | Females. |
|---|---|---|
| Hand-cuffs and other irons | 1 | — |
| Whipping | 1 | — |
| Dark cells | 45 | 3 |
| Solitary cells | 73 | 32 |
| Stoppage of diet | 6 | — |
| Total | 126 | 35 |

Eleven prisoners under 17 years of age had been sentenced by courts of justice to be whipped, under the Juvenile Offenders Act.

The number of juvenile offenders committed during the year, 114 males and 32 females, is a slight increase over those of the previous year.

The following were the employments on the day of inspection:—

| | Males. | | Females. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Weaving | 6 | Sewing | 12 |
| Mat-making | 11 | Knitting | 12 |
| Winding bobbins | 3 | Cleaning | 2 |

Durham Prison.

The number of committals seem to have very considerably increased subsequent to my visit, for I find the average number in confinement on the 28th October amounted to 357. The governor ascribes the increase in prison to an increase in the population, a large number of men having been brought into the county to work at new railways, iron-works, &c.

The accounts for provisions and petty disbursements, with coals, are settled monthly, all other accounts quarterly; the clothing of every description is manufactured and made up in the prison.

| Ditto, not including debtors | 5 | 13 | 1¾ |
| Ditto, debtors only | 7 | 11 | 8 |
| Prison clothing per head per annum | 1 | 3 | 0 |

I have already mentioned the complaint of the county court debtors, who only receive two hours airing daily, and would respectfully suggest whether a division in the debtors' prison yard might not be made, whereby they might receive some little additional indulgence in that way, for the debtors at Durham have not the advantages in that respect which debtors have in other county prisons of the district.

Every department, as usual, reflected the greatest credit on the management of Mr. Green, the governor, and Mrs. Mathewson, the matron, and they reported favourably of their subordinate officers generally.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 104, being 14 more than the year preceding; the total number of committals during the year, 512, is, however, a decrease of 73 on the previous year.

The prison buildings were in good repair, and had undergone no alteration, neither had there been any change in the discip ine or the management.

The practice of employing prisoners in the garden grounds outside the boundary walls of the prison, as referred to in my last report, had not been discontinued at the time of my last visit.

The cleanliness of every department, and the excellent state of discipline which continues to be maintained in this prison, is highly creditable to Mr. Clough, the governor.

The average daily number in confinement during the year was 190, being 36 more than the year preceding. The total number in confinement, 1,609, is an increase of 300 in the year.

I made several visits to this prison in the course of the year, and always found it in a most unsatisfactory state, from being so much overcrowded, there having been generally more than double the numbers in confinement that the prison is calculated to accommodate properly, which is productive of all manner of evils, provoking disorders, and leading to punishments which would otherwise be unnecessary; for example, on the 20th of August I found a female prisoner, named Margaret Benson, in a dark cell, who complained that she was under punishment for an offence which she had not committed.

It appeared that she had been one of a number of female prisoners in a room overlooking the female yard, in which they were cautioned not to look out of the window; but two women commenced fighting in the yard, making the usual screaming uproar, which very naturally brought a face to the forbidden window; the matron said it was Benson, but she denied that it was her, and after bandying accusations and denials, the prisoner, in the excitement of the moment, said something insulting, which the matron reported to the governor, who ordered the prisoner a shower bath, which she refused to submit to, and she was in consequence locked up for three days in a dark cell.

I adduce this case as an instance of what such a state of things must lead to, in attempting to enforce order and discipline under circumstances in which it cannot be enforced. It is exacting impossibilities from officers, and it is unjust towards the prisoners, for a system of unbending severity may tend further to brutalize a mind already vitiated, but it will neither cure nor bend it to better purposes, and every person subjected to such a system must leave the prison a worse character than when he entered it.

The buildings were in good order, and had undergone no change, but an additional dark cell was in preparation adjoining the former one in the female prison.

There had been one death, but the general health had been good, and the surgeon's duties regularly discharged by Mr. Greenhow.

The Rev. L. G. Pilkington continues to conduct the chaplain's duties with his usual zeal and ability.

There had been a slight decrease in the number of juvenile criminals: in 1854 the number committed was 220; in 1855 they were reduced to 212.

The following were the punishments for prison offences in the course of the year:—

| | Males. | Females. |
|---|---|---|
| Whipping | 1 | – |

| Dark cells | 132 | 41 |
| Other punishments | 71 | 105 |
| Total | 212 | 152 |

Those classed under the head of "other punishments," viz. 182, the governor states, "were shower baths, except in two instances of gross misconduct by two females violently shouting, "and calling out from their dormitories, and disturbing the "whole prison, when a head piece or muzzle was placed upon "the prisoners, which effectually prevents them from shouting, "but allows them to respire freely. The shower bath is never "administered without the sanction of the surgeon." And the governor concludes his observation by stating that it is a very efficacious punishment, which he could scarcely do without, which I fully believe; but I respectfully submit that suitable provision ought to be made for the accommodation of the prisoners, instead of obliging the governor to resort to punishments which are not authorized by the prison rules.

The chief employments in this prison are teasing oakum, breaking stones, sewing, knitting, &c.

The provisions are supplied by contract, and the clothing purchased and made up in prison.

*Perth Ladies House of Refuge.
Perth Male School of Industry.
Perth Female School of Industry.
*Kilmarnock Ragged School.
Greenock Parochial Industrial School.

With the exception of Kilmarnock, I have in the course of the year visited all the schools named in the foregoing list; they have been so short a time under the provisions of the Act, that it would be premature in me to offer an opinion on their working. I shall therefore merely quote from the returns which I received at the close of the year, showing the numbers which, up to that time, had been admitted into each school, committed under the Acts cc. 74. or 86.

Glasgow House of Refuge for Males, certified under c. 86., received 162 boys, and the Female House of Refuge 49 females, of which numbers the whole remain, with the exception of two boys sent to the infirmary, one dead, one sent to sea, and one girl absconded.

Govan Parochial Reformatory, certified under cc. 74., received 25 males and 9 females, of which four males and three females had been discharged on finding caution, and six males and one female had absconded.

Glasgow Industrial School, certified under c. 74., admitted 62 boys and 34 girls, of which number two boys had died, two boys and one girl removed by warrant of magistrate, on the parents finding security, and three girls had absconded.

Reformatory School, Newcastle-on-Tyne, certified under c. 86., admitted 46 boys, of which number 35 remain, nine of the others had absconded, and two were in Newcastle Prison.

Aberdeen Reformatory Schools, certified under cc. 74. and 86., admitted 19 boys and 10 girls, total 29, of which number 24 remain, one boy had died, and four had deserted.

Edinburgh Original Ragged School, certified under c. 74., admitted 25 boys and 22 girls, of which number 11 boys and 8 girls had found security for good behaviour.

Cumberland Reformatory School, certified under c. 86., admitted two boys, still there.

Stranraer Reformatory School, certified under c. 74., admitted seven boys and five girls, of which number five boys had absconded.

Greenock Parochial Reformatory School, certified under c. 86., admitted six males and four females, of which number one boy and one girl had absconded.

In the other eight schools named as having been certified, there had been no admissions under either Act.

APPENDIX.

My dear Sir, Durham, 14th December 1855.

The method adopted with the prisoners in the gaol at Durham, who are troubled with the itch, is simple and effective. The patient is first put into a warm or hot bath, where he is washed perfectly clean with plenty of soap. On leaving the bath he is slightly dried, and then with a flannel, on which a little fine sand has been sprinkled, every part of his body is well rubbed, until not a spot is to be seen. This scouring is carried to the extent of making the skin tender and sensitive but not painful. The patient is then well rubbed before a hot fire with the compound sulphur ointment for 30 or 40 minutes, he is then well washed, when he is perfectly cured of his itch. This treatment is certain, as there has not been one failure when the process has been properly and carefully done.

I remain, &c.
